Reorganizing Program Put In Operation

Few Positions Wiped Out By President's Much Modified Plans.

By Robert C. Albright.

The President's much-heralded but drastically modified reorganization plan last midnight dealt Washington's Government establishment its first shuffle under the New Deal.

When the deck was broken and the deal complete, the Shipping Board was left a mere bureau in the Commerce Department, the once potent Prohibition Bureau was almost lost sight of in the Justice Department's new Division of Investigation, and the Bureaus of Immigration and Naturalization were merged.

The first shock of the realignment as it hit personnel was eased by the immediate reemployment of all save a few hundred employes automatically ousted from consolidated agencies. Only a few of these are located in Washington.

Major Transfers' Effect.

A survey of the situation as it affects the major transfers developed the following information last night:

All but 275 of the 3,907 employes connected with the Labor Department's merged bureaus were reappointed temporarily for a four-month period, and the 275 received 10-day notices of retirement or separation. Only 47 of those separated are in Washington.

All 924 employes of the Shipping Board and the Merchant Fleet Corporation received temporary assurance of their jobs by Secretary of Commerce Roper, pending departmental reorganization studies. Of these, 461 work in Washington. All will report for work as usual today.

Prohibition Slash.

Justice Department officials indicated only 1,200 of the Prohibition Bureau's 1,800 will be reemployed, but separations almost entirely are in the field. The bureau employed a force of only about 200 in Washington.

Assurance that "the merit system will rule" in selecting employes for permanent positions was offered by Col. Daniel W. MacCormack, commissioner general of immigration, who becomes head of the combined Service of Immigration and Naturalization.

The entire technical field staff, he announced, will be required to submit to examinations by impartial boards, comprising representatives of the Bureaus of Immigration and Naturalization, the Civil Service Commission and the general public, the latter to be nominated by the American Arbitration Association.

Economy Dwindles.

"This unusual procedure has been determined upon in order that both employes of the service and the public they serve may be assured that the combination will strengthen the present civil service status of the Bureaus of Immigration and Naturalization," Col. MacCormack said.

He succeeds Commissioner of Naturalization Raymond F. Crist and Commissioner of Immigration Luther Weedin, retiring.

Secretary of Labor Perkins estimated the consolidation will save $1,500,000 in these two bureaus

Hoover 59 Today; Ends Fishing Trip

Wife Back From Visit; His Birthday Plans Are Withheld.

Stanford University, Calif., Aug. 9 (AP).—Herbert Hoover will be 59 tomorrow.

Although no statement about birthday plans was forthcoming today from the Hoover home here, it appeared the former President had a "date" with the girl who used to go hiking with him over the foothills of the coast range when both were students at Stanford—the one he married.

Hoover, rested and cheerful, returned last night from a fishing trip on the Rogue River in Oregon. Mrs. Hoover returned, too, from an unannounced visit to friends elsewhere in California.

A secretary said Mr. and Mrs. Hoover would not be at home tomorrow. Since they returned from Washington, the two have slipped away in their car many times with a picnic lunch.

"The Hoovers don't make much fuss over birthdays," the secretary added. Their two sons, Herbert, jr., and Allan, are in southern California and will not be at home for the day.

U. S. Tariffs Fought By German Chamber

Berlin, Aug. 9 (AP).—The German Industrial Commercial Chamber today asked the government to protest to the United States against what were termed excessive American tariffs, which the chamber claimed recently were ordered paid in gold.

The group asserted that Germany was unable to pay its debts save through exports, which the tariffs handicapped.

Grangeville, Idaho, Aug. 9 (AP).—Polly Bemis is dying.

She is 81 years old, and near death now, but at 18 she was a beautiful Chinese slave, and a white man risked a fortune in a poker game to win her from the Oriental who smuggled her into Idaho.

John Bemis, a Connecticut Yankee, had come West to make his fortune. In the wild mining camp of Warren, saloons and gambling houses ran night and day.

Polly's master, a leader among the hundreds of Chinese gold seekers, thought he was a good gambler, until he met Bemis. He lost all he had, then offered to play for the girl. A tense crowd watched.

Bemis won her, married her, and they were happy until he died in 1922. For 65 years she lived on their ranch. Then she willed it to two men on condition they care for her until she died. They have done so.

New York Milk Trucks Riddled In New Attacks

Farmers Fire in Soldier Fashion; Brave Gas to Dump Cargoes.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—Striking milk producers resorted to violence in two outstanding instances today, the ninth of the widely spread New York State milk holiday, sending bullets through six tank trucks on the road in Oneida County, and braving barrages of tear gas in Broome County to dump milk from conveyances.

The day otherwise was marked in general by a notable decrease in belligerence. State police were armed for the first time with .30-30 rifles after Maj. John A. Warner, their chief, said he had no intention of placing machine guns in their hands.

Meanwhile, milk dumping continued to be reported from all parts of the eastern and central sectors, although west-central and western New York passed through their quietest day.

Lehman Move Defeated.

Gov. Lehman's proposal for legislative investigation of the State milk control board was defeated in the Republican-controlled Assembly by a strict party vote. Disaffected farmers have said that the board's classified milk price system was the chief factor in precipitation of the strike.

Schenectady today received under heavy guard milk from Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio, under extension of its milk shed permitted by the State health commissioner. The shipments helped prevent an expected "milk famine" predicted for today. City police guarded delivery wagons. Amsterdam, 17 miles away, was without milk, save for children and invalids, for the third day.

Soldier-Like Attack.

The milk trucks fired upon near Camden, in Oneida County, at dawn, were owned by Charles Braverman, of Theresa. Drivers said their attackers lay like soldiers in roadside ditches and blazed away at the tank cars as they roared past. At Watertown the trucks were described as "bullet-riddled."

The attacks in Broome County were made by strikers in military formation. At Port Crane more than 10 farmers descended upon a truck escorted by deputies who threw two gas bombs. One line of attack was beaten back, but a second went through and dumped the milk.

At West Windsor three bombs were hurled against attacking waves of holiday participants, to no avail. The milk was dumped there, too.

Pacific's Atlantis Is Believed Found

Seattle, Aug. 9 (AP).—The long lost land of Cascadia probably has been discovered, Prof. E. O. Goodspeed, geologist, said today, if two high peaks charted recently turn out to be part of a submerged chain of mountains off the Pacific Coast.

"The Atlantis of the Pacific Coast once extended from 300 to 400 miles out to sea from the present coast line," said Prof. Goodspeed. "The first of the two mountains was found on the ocean bottom 150 miles off Point Sur, Calif. The Hydrographic Bureau of the Navy Department recently discovered the other off Vancouver Island."

American Woman Arrested in Cuba

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Miss Hertha Sh[illegible], an American citizen from A[illegible], was arrested tonight as she was leaving the Plaza Hotel, where she has charge of the Commercial Cable office, for her home.

A 6-foot policeman arrested her and it was reported that he and another policeman dragged her, despite her protests and screams, to the nearby Central Police Station.

Another American, who witnessed the incident, telephoned Sumner Welles, United States Ambassador, who secured Miss Shirving's release.

Winchell Sues Jolson For $500,000 Damages

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Walter Winchell, Broadway columnist, said today he had sued Al Jolson for $500,000 as a result of their fistic encounter two months ago in Hollywood.

Federal Body Acts to Bring Labor Accord

20 Coal Codes Up; Threat of Blue Eagle Loss Given Retailers.

By J. Bernard McDonnell.

The National Labor Board yesterday plunged into its first job of pacifying specific labor interests.

Between 10,000 and 12,000 striking hosiery workers are involved in the first strike the board will undertake to settle at conferences called for today in the Commerce Building.

Other thousands are involved in the strike of shirt makers the board will seek to end at a meeting called for 10 a. m. tomorrow. The first strike centers in Reading, Pa., and the second in Pottsville, Pa.

Created by President Roosevelt on Saturday to wipe out labor troubles as a deterrent to the national recovery program, the board launched its work as the recovery administration drove forward in its effort to bring about national acceptance of the blanket volunteer hour and wage code and hastened the covering of individual industries by specific codes.

Coal Plan In Dispute.

Recovery Administrator Johnson opened hearings on the twenty-odd codes submitted by elements in the bituminous industry.

These hearings may prove of vital importance to the entire recovery program.

Representives of the so-called big coal companies have refused to withdraw their company union plan and there are some operators who are reported ready to take the matter to court and upset the Recovery Administration to maintain their point.

Withdrawal of the Blue Eagle, recovery insignia, from retail stores "which either collectively or individually flagrantly attempt to frustrate the purpose of the Presidential reemployment agreement," was threatened by Gen. Johnson in response to numerous reports that store owners had reduced hours to avoid hiring additional help.

Patrons Asked To Aid.

No store that was open less than fifty-two hours a week before July 1, 1933, can reduce store hours at all, the administrator said. Staggering hours of employes also are forbidden by terms of the Presidential agreement. Store owners and customers should observe the "single purpose" of the hours provision, which "has to do with reemploy-

Rebels Kill 42 French Troops

Furious Hand-to-Hand Fighting Reported in Morocco.

Rabat, Morocco, Aug. 9 (AP).—Furious hand-to-hand fighting during which 42 French soldiers were killed battling dissidents at Djebel Babou Sunday was reported in dispatches reaching Rabat today.

Two officers and 53 soldiers were wounded.

The dissidents made a heavy surprise attack upon the troops, who were cleaning out the region, but were driven off after an all-night struggle.

The dissidents fled and the troops were continuing the cleaning up movement, surrounding Djebel Babou from the north.

The 25-year process of pacification has been proceeding with a steady reduction of the affected area, but there has been considerable fighting in recent weeks. Most of the losses have been of native troops, though a number of French officers were killed.

Lindberghs Are Poised For Hop to Reykjavik

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh are expected to take off within the next 48 hours from their station at Julianehaab, Greenland, for Reykjavik, Iceland, via Angmagslik, a distance of 700 miles, according to dispatches today to the Pan-American Airways in New York.

The supply ship Jelling, of the Lindbergh survey expedition, has been ordered to a point midway between Angmagsalik and Reykjavik.

Owner Fights Fine For Razing Building

Oklahoma City, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals was called upon today to decide a question equal to that of how owners may divide a cow.

Terrell Lewis appealed from a $300 fine imposed on a charge of malicious mischief for razing a two-story building, the second floor of which was claimed by a fraternal order. Lewis claimed the right to destroy the structure because he owned the first story.

Killed in Crash

Five Navy Men Die in Hawaiian Plane's Crash

Honolulu, Aug. 9 (AP).—Its tail surfaces stripped away, a twin-motored Navy seaplane crashed on its back a mile offshore today, killing five members of the crew and injuring the sixth.

The dead:

Lieut. Charles P. Hill, jr., pilot.

Lieut. Ted C. Marshall, pilot under instruction.

Aviation Mate, First Class, C. C. Stewart.

Seaman, First Class, L. B. Pitt.

Machinist's Mate Hurt.

H. A. Tuft, aviation machinist's mate, second class, whose home is in Sacramento, Calif., escaped with bruises. He said the pilot lost control of the plane when the tail surfaces were stripped away and the plane spun into the sea, crashing on its back.

Tuft said Lieut. Marshall took to his parachute as the plane hurtled downward. The officer's body was recovered some distance away from the spot where the plane struck and it was not learned whether he was killed in striking the water or drowned.

The plane sank as soon as it struck, Tuft said, trapping the five remaining fliers in its cabin. Tuft said he fought his way out and rose to the surface where he was picked up by a patrol craft which rushed to the scene when marines at nearby Fort Weaver reported a plane had crashed.

Marines Saw Crash.

The Marines saw the ship shortly before it struck the water, but were unable to say from what height it fell.

The airplane tender Avocet and a barge worked to raise the plane, located on the ocean bottom in 50 feet of water. Apparently the bodies of the four men were still inside the ship.

Lieut. Hill was a member of the 1927 class at Annapolis. Prior to that he attended Western High School in Washington, D. C. He is survived by his widow in Honolulu and his mother, Mrs. Charles Phillips Hill, of 1827 Wyoming avenue northwest, Washington.

Hovey's home was at Kingman, Kans. He leaves a widow in Honolulu.

Pitt is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lennie May Kern, of Athens, Ohio.

Nebraskans Quaff Legal Beer Today

Lincoln, Nebr., Aug. 9 (AP).—The advent of legal beer at 12:01 a. m., after 17 years of banishment, was awaited tonight by celebrants in many Nebraska communities.

Many others, however, yawned and went to bed. "We sell beer" signs have been displayed for weeks in Omaha and in other localities, the 3.2 brand has been obtainable without interference from local authorities.

But the beer law passed by the Legislature three months ago did not officially lift the prohibition on beer until tonight.

Carloads of the brew were on side tracks in several cities awaiting the hour, and licensing offices in others were opening at midnight. Nebraska will not vote on repeal until November, 1934.

First U. S. Volunteer in War Dies in Poverty

Boston, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Harry Cushing Collins, 44, believed the first American to enlist in the World War, died in comparative poverty in a lodging house here today.

Collins saw service in Serbia, Greece and on the Western Front, and was decorated by King Peter of Serbia. He was gassed and twice wounded.

THE WASHINGTON POST yesterday accepted the newspaper code filed by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and affiliated organizations under the administration's national recovery act.

Roosevelt Demands Machado Stop Cuban Political Warfare; Nation Put Under Army Rule

President Silent About Resignation

Startling Development Spurs Envoy Welles to New Action.

Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, and leaders of various parties meanwhile awaited a reply to their demand that the president retire from his office.

The general strike existing in Cuba, the presidential decree asserted, has given "enemies of the public peace" an opportunity "to create a revolutionary state in the country."

The state of war was declared to come into effect at 6 o'clock this evening.

Soldiers Ordered Out.

Military units, which retired from Havana Monday night after disturbances in which 21 persons were killed, were ordered to return to the city to make the decree operative.

The decree was signed under authority granted the president by Congress Monday when it voted the suspension of constitutional guarantees throughout the island for 30 days.

Welles, learning of the presidential decree, sought an interview with Orestes Ferrara, Cuban secretary of state, who returned today from attendance at the World Economic Conference, in London. After the conference both said they had discussed the political situation in general terms. Plans were made to meet again.

Under the plan of settlement sponsored by the American ambassador and approved by the heads of various political groups, President Machado would retire from his post by taking a leave of absence and would appoint another secretary of state in place of his supporter, Senor Ferrara.

Silent on Quitting.

Upon the withdrawal of Machado and Ferrara the newly designated secretary of State, the choice of opposing political factions would assume office as acting president.

The Machado decree did not on its face answer the question of whether the president would quit his office.

The decree declaring a state of war put into force the old Spanish law of public order, placing civilians under the jurisdiction of military courts for arraignment on charges of offenses against the public order of the state.

Agrees With Roosevelt.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Ambassador Oscar Cintas, of Cuba, tonight said he was in "complete accord with everything" President Roosevelt "says and thinks about the Cuban situation."

The ambassador, in New York tonight en route to Washington after his visit to the summer White House, said he had forwarded the President's view to President Gerardo Machado.

The ambassador would make no comment on the manner in which the President's declaration against political warfare in Cuba would be received.

Lawyer Is Indicted In Exchange Bombing

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Three indictments were returned by a grand jury today against Eugene S. Daniell, jr., Boston lawyer, charging him with a felony, assault in the second degree and possession of a liquid gas bomb.

The indictments were returned in connection with the tear-gassing of the stock exchange, which caused a suspension of trading there Friday.

Pilot Plunges to Death From Looping Plane

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 9 (AP).—William L. Floyd, 24, bookkeeper and student flier, plunged from his airplane here today while making a loop and fell 1,500 feet to his death.

Witnesses said he had not buckled his safety belt, but completed one loop before his body hurtled from the cockpit. The plane struck 500 yards from his body and buried its nose 5 feet in the earth.

C. E. Wright, World War Ace Pilot, Is Dead

Boston, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Chester Ellis Wright, 38, famed wartime American ace officially credited with bringing down eight enemy planes and balloons, died at Faulkner Hospital here today following several months' illness.

Intervention of U. S. in Cuba Sought by Spain and Britain

Both Have Made Protests Over Damage to Their Interests in Island.

By Harold J. T. Horan.

American intervention in Cuba has been virtually requested by the action of Spanish and British governments through their diplomatic officers in Havana in protesting to American Ambassador Sumner Welles the killing of Spanish subjects and destruction of British property in the interior of Cuba.

The growing spirit of lawlessness in the streets of Havana has made the foreign representatives of other countries concerned for the protection of their national interests and their citizens' lives.

Spain's Protest Vain.

It was learned here yesterday that the Spanish Ambassador in Havana had appealed to Ambassador Welles, after his protests to the Cuban foreign office for the protection of Spanish citizens had been unavailing. Three Spaniards have been killed by the police and some 60 others have been arrested and are in jail. These Spanish citizens have been arrested by the Havana police on the charge that they refused to open their stores.

The British Minister added his protests. However, no British subjects have been killed or mistreated. Considerable damage has been done to British property in the interior of the country, and the local authorities, it is claimed, seem to be powerless or indifferent.

The United States Navy has three cruisers which could be sent to

Anti-Long Men Win in Courts To Get Recount

All New Orleans Ballot Boxes Affected by Sweeping Order.

New Orleans, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Senator Huey P. Long's political opponents won a sweeping victory in criminal district court today when Judge Echezabal granted their requests for a recount, in open court, of all 262 New Orleans ballot boxes used in last November's general election.

The recount was requested by District Attorney Stanley, who was accompanied to court by representatives of the Honest Election League and the State and City Bar Associations. It was an entirely anti-Long delegation.

The recount will be made by a group of citizens to be selected by Judge Echezabal. It is to start next Tuesday morning, when six ballot boxes will be opened.

Late this evening the judge granted permission to election commissioners who had custody of these boxes on election day to come to court and watch the citizens recount the votes.

Thirty-three of New Orleans' 1,048 election commissioners already have been charged with certifying false returns, as a result of two weeks' preliminary investigation. Senator Long, whose faction won all the victories in the election, has promised "proper pretection" to all election commissioners. Nevertheless, the 33 men have been placed under bonds of $1,000 each as the defiant anti-Long group pursued its war on "The Kingfish."

Wisconsin Milk May Be Withheld

Pool Calls Sunday Parley to Plan to Support New York Strike.

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 9 (AP).—Asserting that the Wisconsin milk pool was still convinced of the effectiveness of withholding milk from the market, directors of the organization voted today to invite organized milk producers of the Middle West to a conference at Horicon, Wis., Sunday to discuss support of the New York milk strike.

The resolution instructed the pool president to call the meeting "to take such action as they may determine in support of the striking New York dairy farmers."

In another resolution, directors called upon all "thinking dairy farmers of the Middle West" not to ship their milk to New York and to report to the milk pool office at Appleton any farmers who did.

Ferocious Crickets Devour Rattlesnakes

Red Lodge, Mont., Aug. 9 (AP).—Crickets, large and carnivorous, are swarming in increasing hordes in the Pryor region of southeastern Montana.

Dave Good, a ranch foreman, told today of crickets descending on the carcasses of two head of cattle and devouring all but the hides and bones. Others relate they have witnessed attacks by the large, snapping insects on live rattlesnakes, the latter having been killed and eaten piecemeal.

Armed Intervention Can Be Resorted to by United States.

Future of Island Now Considered

End of 'Iron Hand' Rule Is Wanted at Once to End Riots.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt sent firm word to Cuba tonight to abandon its political warfare "at the earliest possible moment" in the interest of preventing starvation and preserving economic welfare.

Mr. Roosevelt gave his notice personally to the official Cuban ambassador and it was interpreted unofficially as meaning that a political rule by force must cease.

He rested on this statement to Ambassador Cintas and withheld action on definite recommendations for new moves in the island republic, believed to have been contained in a special report received by airplane early this afternoon from Ambassador Welles, in Havana.

Surveys Situation.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement, which was given to newspapermen here by Marvin McIntyre, a secretary, after an afternoon of survey of the Cuban situation, follows:

"The President and Ambassador Cintas discussed the Cuban situation, especially in its economic aspect. They felt that the problems of starvation and of depression are of such immediate importance that even political problems should be met in the most patriotic spirit in order to improve conditions at the earliest possible momemt.

"The ambassador is communicating with his government."

The President continued close by a telephone tonight to await developments which apparently he expected immediately from his declaration.

Must Get Out.

It was stated early tonight that the President had not been informed of the move by President Machado declaring a state of war in Cuba. To all outward appearances, the blunt statement to Ambassador Cintas simply meant that the Cuban president must get out if he must rule by force.

As far as the President was concerned, he rested flatly upon his formal statement. There was no interpretation to it, either officially or unofficially.

Ambassador Cintas himself sought the interview with the President. He motored here from New York, arriving late in the day and departing just before the dinner hour for New York.

Must Have Peace.

While the President obviously is considering immediate action to restore order in Cuba, there is still not the slightest sign that he is considering armed intervention. He has the right and the power to do this under the treaty granting Cuban independence.

He does not want any rule by force himself. But he does want peace in Cuba. Apparently he has other ideas in mind, if they are necessary.

Valera's Move Heightens Peril Of Sunday Riot

Plans Ban on Parade of Blue Shirts; Republic Step Is Taken.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 9 (AP).—The danger of possible grave disorders on Sunday increased tonight with reports that President Eamon de Valera will issue a proclamation tomorrow banning the proposed demonstration by "Blue Shirts."

Gen. Owen O'Duffy, director of the blue-shirted national guard, reaffirmed his intention of leading his force in a parade to the Cenotaph to commemorate Arthur Griffith, first president of the Free State, and leaders of the Irish movement.

While no official proclamation banning the march has been issued, the president has declared he will not allow any parade in uniform.

At the last session of the Dail Eireann tonight before the summer recess, De Valera introduced three bills which virtually abolish the office of governor general and otherwise restrict the functions of the British crown. Action on them is expected within the next few months.

De Valera's move was interpreted in many quarters as another step toward declaration of a republic.

"Brick Killing" Indicts Boy, 16

Lad Says He Slew Society Man With His Fists at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 9 (AP).—Within a few hours after his arrest at Meridian, Miss., John J. Henkel, 16, a Cincinnati juvenile court ward, was indicted today by the Hamilton County grand jury on charges growing out of the slaying of Oliver S. Baily, 27, prominent figure in Cincinnati's young smart set.

Two counts, one charging first degree murder and the other robbery, were contained in the indictment.

Baily, son-in-law of Jesse Lippincott reputedly wealthy president of the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards, was found dead here early Sunday in a lonely wooded section known as a "Lover's Lane."

Apparently, police said, Baily had been killed by a blow from behind and they doubted Henkel's purported statement that he killed Baily by striking him with his fist during "a drunken brawl." Instead, officers expressed belief Baily was killed with a brick found near his body.

Roosevelt, 2 Aids Confer on Crime

Kidnaping and Racketeering Discussed With Moley and Cummings.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—With his two leading law enforcement officers, President Roosevelt today went over the kidnaping and racketeering problem and methods of fighting the Federal war on crime.

Attorney General Cummings and Raymond Moley, now surveying the crime situation, were guests at the summer White House during the afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt wants a detailed report of the methods for enforcing a Federal drive against the criminals and of the tie-up of Federal and State laws in this connection.

It is regarded as unlikely that he will do more than continue the use of Federal investigators in assisting State and local authorities until special legislation is enacted. It is known he strongly favors creation of a super police staff in the Federal Government to aid State authorities in fighting enemies of society.

U. S. Forces Are Ready

(United Press.)

The United States is prepared to command swiftly military forces necessary to the occupation of Cuba should armed intervention of the island republic become imperative, high Army and Navy officials said last night.

While they were unwilling to officially recognize the possibility of such a drastic step, officials admitted that both services have plans which contemplate military policing of Cuba under terms of the Platt amendment.

"Dig Up Relief Cash," Is U. S. Edict to States

Hopkins Warns They Must Match Federal Dollars —"Or Else——"

(Associated Press.)

Setting $1,000,000,000 as the goal for unemployment relief through the coming winter, Harry L. Hopkins, Federal relief administrator, said yesterday that unless States and cities equal the Government's $500,000,000 appropriation the jobless "are going to take a beating."

The youthful boss of Uncle Sam's big relief job expressed the belief that State and local agencies would "come across," but he warned those adopting niggardly aid policies that Federal assistance would not be forthcoming.

"If we don't raise that half billion," Hopkins told newspapermen, "then the unemployed will take a beating. I want the States and cities to raise it and I think we will get it."

Six States Get Notice.

West Virginia, Texas, Ohio, Kentucky, Alabama and Michigan, he added, already have been "put on notice" to increase relief expenditures or else not to expect any more Federal grants.

Men have been sent into West Virginia to check up on that State's ability to spend for relief, he said, adding he had advised Texas officials to raise $20,000,000 this year if drought and unemployment victims are to be cared for adequately.

By October 1, he continued, he expected all States to be going full speed with relief work. That is the date when all remaining money in the Federal fund may be allotted.

Waits Ohio's Action.

"If Ohio comes across at her legislative session August 16," he asserted, "we will have every State putting up two-thirds of the money."

He referred to the requirement in the law that for every Federal dollar received by a State it shall have spent three in the previous three months.

The relief agency issued its monthly family relief table yesterday showing a drop both in the number of families receiving aid and expenditures of all public funds in July compared with June.

Silver Spring Carnival Will Begin Tomorrow

Plans have been completed by the Silver Spring Temple and Library Association for the carnival, which will begn tomorrow night and continue until August 19, inclusive. The affair, which is for the benefit of the Silver Spring Masonic building fund, will be held on the grounds on Georgia avenue, opposite the engine house.

The chairman of the committee in charge is Martin H. Kinsinger, assisted by Charles E. Florence, Garland W. Wolfe, Robert E. Langley, George F. Hamilton, Joseph A. Griffith, Harry G. McComas, John J. Dolan and John T. Crawford. The lunch stand will be operated by the local chapter of the Eastern Star, headed by Miss Pearl Graeves.

U. S. Reorganizing Put in Operation

alone. Immediate savings from the entire program have dwindled from $25,000,000 to about $5,000,000 because of several major postponements.

Secretary of Commerce Roper said it is the intention of his department to interfere as little as possible with the Shipping Board, which becomes the Shipping Board Bureau of the Commerce Department.

"For the time being, no employe will lose his job," he said.

From another source it was learned an executive order postponing separations in the bureau for 30 days is under consideration.

Other Changes By Program.

Other phases of the President's reorganization program which go into effect today include:

Consolidation of all functions of administration of public buildings, reservations, national parks, national monuments and national cemeteries in an Office of National Parks, Buildings and Reservations. Separation of personnel affected, however, was postponed two months by Executive order.

Transfer of the official register from the Census Bureau to the Civil Service Commission.

Abolition of the National Screw Thread Commission.

Transfer to the Justice Department of the United States Court for China, the District Court for the Panama Canal Zone, and the District Court of the Virgin Islands.

The Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics became merely an Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

The solicitor for the Commerce Department was transferred from the Justice Department to the Commerce Department; the solicitor for the Labor Department transferred from Justice to Labor.

Census functions of compiling statistics of cities under 100,000 was abolished for the period ended June 30, 1935.

600 Lose Jobs In Prohibition Bureau Merger

New Division to Direct Government Activities Against Rum.

The Bureau of Prohibition, standard bearer for six years past in the Federal Government's battle against rum, last night lost its individual being and its name, as the President's realignment of Federal bureaus formally went into effect.

The once thriving unit was merged with the Justice Department's new Division of Investigation. This morning 600 of the bureau's former staff of 1,800 employes scattered throughout the country were out looking for new jobs.

Attorney General Cummings and John S. Hurley, scheduled to nead the new Division of Investigation, insist prohibition enforcement is not dead.

Hurley said there would be "no material change" in enforcement activities. Attorney General Cummings predicts that even in the event of repeal there will be some prohibition work to do in protecting lines between dry and wet States.

500-Watt Lamps Win Aviation Test

Pilots Unable to Distinguish Them From Type Using 1000 Watts.

As far as the Aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce can see, through the eyes of its expert pilots, 500-watt lamps in the beacons of the airways will do just as well as the 1000-watt lamps.

Two ships flew to Richmond Tuesday night and eagle-eyed pilots and officers of the branch watched the revolving beacons. All of the ten beacons were open to suspicions because the maintenanee men had installed several smaller lamps without naming the beacons changed. Hex Martin, airways chief in charge of the experiment, reported that no two votes of the observers agreed on more than two lights, and that every light but one was suspected by some one of the experts.

"So it appears that we can save money by installing 500-watt instead of 1000-watt lamps," Mr. Martin said.

At a recent meeting of the council in Leonardtown, the group indorsed J. Bryan Hobbs, Laurel Post commander, for State commander. Plans toward the campaign for his election will be discussed tomorrow, as well as resolutions to be introduced at the convention.

Penalty of 32 "Outlaw" Meet Pilots Reduced

Fliers May Be Set Down for Only 6 Months; Turner Plea Loses.

The thirty-two pilots who flew in the "outlaw" air meet at Chicago, July 1-5, will lose their sporting licenses for six months instead of three years, if recommendations made yesterday by the contest committee of the National Aeronautic Association are accepted by the board of governors at its meeting next Wednesday.

The national contest committee upheld the contest committee of the air races, in Los Angeles, July 1-4, disqualifying Col. Roscoe Turner, who won the Thompson Trophy race but for his failure to round a pylon in the first lap of the race. Turner protested that he had rounded the pylon twice in the second lap, and pleaded that the decision of the committee would place a premium on recklessness.

The committee refused a further extension of time to the Cleveland Air Race Association for the 1934 national air races. It ruled that the Clevelanders already had been granted a six weeks' extension and that they must decide immediately or lose their option.

Banks Get More Time For Affiliates Report

(Associated Press.)

The Comptroller of the Currency yesterday extended until September 16 the time for national and State member banks to file detailed reports of all affiliates operated by them, as required under the new banking act.

The extension was granted, it was explained, by the necessity of obtaining legal opinions from the Government with respect to involved questions which have arisen.

NRA Outlines Code to Speed Oil Recovery

(Associated Press.)

A way for the oil industry to join immediately in recovery efforts through the President's blanket code, while other and more controversal problems are being solved, was outlined yesterday by the NRA.

Hugh S. Johnson, Industrial Administrator, announced a modification of the general reemployment agreement to enable the petroleum trade to get Blue Eagles, by substituting for the blanket code's labor provision the labor sections of the oil industry's code, to apply only to that industry.

Working Hours Proposed.

Under this provision, all marketing and clerical employes in drilling, producing, refining and pipe line operations would be on a 40-hour week, with other employes on a 36-hour basis and a day's work limited to eight hours.

The pay scale proposed for drilling, production, refining and pipeline activities ranged from 45 to 52 cents an hour with 40 to 47 cents for marketing operations, except employes of filling and service stations and garages or other retail outlets selling to consumers, whose minimum pay would run from $12 to $15 a week.

These labor provisions were approved by the industry in hearings on a proposed general code for the petroleum business. Johnson's proposal of yesterday to let oil companies come in under the blanket code with these labor terms was expected by the NRA to bring many in.

Code Worked Out.

Meanwhile, officials of the recovery administration worked on a trade code for the industry, providing for control of production and setting forth fair practices in its divisions.

Whether the code as finally drafted would answer the demand of a wide section of the business for price regulation was a moot question, but responsible officials felt it might prohibit sales at less than cost of production.

Recovery officials hoped to have a draft ready by the end of the week, after which it will be gone over with committees representing the industry's factions.

Sod Association's Code Is Adopted

Greater Washington Body Sets Price at 2 Cents Per Square Foot.

The Greater Washington Sod Association adopted a tentative code last night at a meeting in the Montgomery County Building at Silver Spring. The code is to be forwarded to the National Recovery Administration for approval.

The retail price on sod shall be quoted on a square foot basis instead of by the square yard, at a price of 2 1-3 cents a square foot for 100 yards or more when laid and 2 cents per square foot when delivered.

The wholesale basis provides that sod will be delivered to landscape gardeners, florists and nurserymen for not less than 15 cents a square yard delivered and 18 cents if laid. This includes a field price to this group of not less than 12 cents for 100 yards or more when the sod is cut and loaded on a truck at the field. A wage scale of 37.5 cents per hour, with a maximum of 40 hours a week was agreed on. The wage scale is to go into effect August 14.

5,000,000 Cut Planned For U.S. Hog Population

(Associated Press.)

A program to cut down the Nation's hog population by as much as 5,000,000 took form yesterday at a conference of corn and hog producers. It was held preliminary to a formal meeting today of producers and packers called here by farm administrators.

The program contemplates the payment of bonuses to farmers marketing about 4,000,000 pigs weighing up to 100 pounds and as many as 1,000,000 sows during the next six weeks. It is designed to meet what was described as an emergency facing hog producers because of this year's feed shortage.

Frat Men Deny Charge of Arson

E. J. Parlton, A. H. Smith Arraigned in Fire Imperiling 15 Men.

Not guilty pleas to an indictment charging arson in the fire which swept the Sigma Chi Fraternity house endangering the lives of fifteen of their fraternity brothers were entered yesterday by Edward J. Parlton and Alferd H. Smith.

Smith, president of the local chapter of the fraternity, and Parlton, were arraigned yesterday in District Supreme Court. The indictment charges they deliberately set fire to the house. They have contended they were out of town at the time.

When Vernon O. Goltry, park policeman, was called to answer an indictment charging assault with a dangerous weapon, he did not answer. He is alleged to have beaten several boys with his pistol. His arraignment will probably go over two weeks.

Air Line, Aided By NRA Travel, Increases Staff

Eastern Transport Puts on More Employes, Without Code.

Eastern Air Transport apparently is getting the jump on the National Recovery Administration by changing working conditions at the airport and in their city ticket office, and by hiring additional help, in advance of the filing of any code by air transport companies.

In Washington John Marshall, C. W. Simpson and Herbert Thada have been hired to work as dispatchers at the airport, to take care of the work necessitated in shortening the hours of the present force.

Lowell S. Harding, division operations manager, has been transferred from Richmond to Washington, where he will make his headquarters. Sidney S. Shannon, R. G. Stone and Mrs. Louise Saunders have also been moved from Richmond to Washington. Three pilots, Dick Merrill, G. W. Branson and C. Earl Potts, who have been living at Richmond, will hereafter live in Washington. The dispatchers moved from Richmond will be replaced before August 15.

At the Washington field and at the ticket offices of the company, traffic men and dispatchers have prepared new schedules for company executives. These call for a six-day week at 6 hours and 40 minutes a day.

Formerly, the hours were varied, ranging upward from eight hours a day, and always six days a week. The recent increase in traffic, resulting largely from the increased travel to and from the offices of the NRA, has often prevented the usual weekly day off.

Board Considering Labor Issues Today

ment through reducing the number of hours each employe works and by keeping the stores open as long as possible," the general said.

John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, telegraphed that preliminary figures for the first week of August showed an increase of 8,340 in employes and an increase in the pay roll at the rate of $8,264,152 annually.

Names of several widely known persons who will participate in the nation-wide radio program to push the recovery movement were made public. The list included Ruth Bryan Owen, American Minister to Denmark; Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Director of the Mint; writers, actresses, and other prominent women. Floyd Gibbons will be among the radio speakers.

Modifications of the general blanket code were approved by the administration for the retail jewelry and oil industries. The jewelry code provided for salaries ranging from $11 to $14 a week minimum, depending on population, and a 40-hour work week, except for engravers, watchmakers and repairmen.

Oil Modification.

The oil modification provided a 40-hour week for marketing operations and a 36-hour week for other branches. A graduated minimum wage scale from $12 to $15 a week was provided for filling station employes. Wages for other branches were fixed at 40 cents up to 52 cents an hour.

Several additional industries submitted codes for approval. An 8-hour day, 40-hour week with minimum wages was provided in a code submitted by the robes and allied products industry. Minimum wages of 40 cents an hour and a 36-hour work week were proposed for the laundry and dry cleaning industry.

The optical industry proposed a 40-hour maximum and minimum wages ranging from 25 to 40 cents an hour. The hat, hat supplies and cap industries proposed a 35-hour week with wages ranging from $21 to $35 a week. Retail lumber dealers proposed a 40-hour week, which already had been approved temporarily.

Three independent aluminum producers filed protests charging the Aluminum Company of America with unfair underselling.

Sanborn Death Puzzle to Him, Mitchell Says

Has No Theories, He Declares in Italy; New York Clews Lacking.

Florence, Italy, Aug. 9 (AP).—Bancroft Mitchell, New York investment counselor, who has been mentioned as a possible valuable witness in connection with the mysterious death of Henry F. Sanborn, said today he had been in communication with the New York police and was willing to aid them in all necessary ways. He disclaimed, however, any "worthwhile" knowledge of Sanborn's movements prior to his disappearance July 17.

Mitchell said he was willing to curtail his vacation, which now is scheduled to continue until he sails from Havre aboard the steamship Champlain September 6. He expressed the hope, however, that police would consider this curtailment unnecessary, in view of his casual acquaintance with Sanborn plus the fact that he last saw him nearly three weeks before sailing.

Denies Close Friendship.

Mitchell readily answered questions about the affair, disclaiming he and Sanborn were intimate friends. Asked if he had any theory regarding the case, he replied: "I don't know enough about it to construct theories." He obtained most of his information from press reports, he said.

Asked about the brewery stock found on Sanborn, he said "I do not wish to discuss my business." Concerning the extent of his business contact with the dead railway executive, Mitchell asserted: "I used to see him once in a while at rather lengthy intervals. The last time must have been two or there weeks before I sailed—I can not remember the exact date."

Plays Part Reluctantly.

Mitchell said he had been reluctant to allow his name to be brought into press reports of the Sanborn mystery, but he did not wish his actions to be regarded with suspicion, as he had been in communication with police since his arrival in Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell began their vacation trip July 22.

New York, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Still without tangible clews to the mysterious slaying of Henry F. Sanborn, socially prominent railroad executive, police turned again today to his purchase of anticipatory shares of stock in a Connecticut brewery.

Two business associates of Bancroft Mitchell, son of the former Attorney General, from whom Sanborn was said to have purchased the shares, were questioned by Charles P. Sullivan, assistant district attorney of Queens County.

Suggests Brewery Link.

Sullivan later advanced the theory that Sanborn, whose body was found in a shallow grave Saturday near Bayside, Long Island, may have been slain by some one who was angered because Mitchell had allowed the railroad executive to participate in a brewery pool.

The business associates, Lloyd H. Smith and W. Stanton Barber, who appeared at the district attorney's office voluntarily, said they did not know Sanborn, but had decided to offer whatever information they could about the brewery deal.

Sanborn, member of a prominent St. Paul, Minn., family, was buried at Epsom, N. H., in the family lot.

NRA Is Explained Before Rotarians

Frank R. Raffa Describes It as "a Bloodless Revolution."

"A bloodless revolution that has not destroyed individualism," is the way Frank R. Raffa, of the National Recovery Administration, explained NRA and its application to local business, at the meeting of the Washington Rotary Club at the Willard yesterday.

Raffa said the President's reemployment agreement is a stopgap pending the adoption of a more detailed code covering all lines of business and that it was different from the recovery plans adopted by other countries, in that it was being motivated by democratic methods.

Representative Charles West, of Ohio, also spoke on the recovery plan. He said it was a challenge to American business to invest in the future and expressed confidence that it could not fail.

Fire Destroys House.

Four fire departments fought in vain early yesterday to save a vacant one-story house at East Columbia Park, Md. The house, which burned to the ground, was owned by Robert Bell, East Columbia Park.

Soft Coal Men Refuse to Drop Open Shop Idea

Reject Plea by Counsel for NRA to Modify Proposed Code.

(Associated Press.)

The open-shop clause was left in the nonunion bituminous coal code last night, despite the opposition of the National Recovery Administration. The large group of Northern and Southern operators who presented the code said last night no action had been taken toward removing the clause, as requested by Donald Richberg, NRA general counsel.

They refused to predict what action they would take on Richberg's request, but it was understood there was no change in their sentiment that control of mine labor should not be placed in the hands of the United Mine Workers of America.

The open-shop provision is embodied in the code proposed jointly by the Northern Coal Control Association and the Smokeless and Appalachian Coal Association, representing well over half the tonnage of the country, and also in a number of codes submitted by smaller groups.

Richberg Asks Withdrawal.

The refusal of the Northern coal control and the smokeless-Appalachian groups to abandon the open shop feature was voiced by Charles O'Neill, their chief spokesman at the hearing, in response to a question by Richberg, as to whether it would not be "a simple matter to drop the clause." Richberg finally asked that the section be withdrawn.

The clause provides that no employer may be compelled, under the NRA's collective bargaining provision, to deal with representatives of any employes other than his own and that no employer refusing to join in collective bargaining may be denied other benefits of the code.

Wage Scale Defended.

O'Neill said that under the code proposed, if one operator's miners designated John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, to represent them, that operator would deal with Lewis as the representative of his miners, but that all other operators would not be compelled to deal with Lewis as the representative of all the miners of the country.

Duncan C. Kennedy, of Charleston, W. Va., of the Smokeless-Applachain Association, defended the minimum wage scales provided in its code. He said the minimum rates of 32½ cents an hour for outside common labor and 38 cents for common labor inside the mines, set by the code for the Southern districts, which have been in effect since August 1, are 30 per cent above the average for those districts on May of this year and 40 per cent higher than 1913-1916 wages.

Spain and Britain Want Intervention

Cuban waters in an emergency. They are the speedy Indianapolis, on which the President recently made his trip from Maine; the Richmond, at the Canal Zone, and another cruiser at the Boston Navy Yard. The transport Henderson is at Norfolk, and there are two divisions of destroyers in Philadelphia and two others in the Canal Zone.

An unofficial military source estimated the number of American troops that would be required for any Cuban operation at 15,000. There are also about 1,000 Marines now at Quantico and about 300 or 400 at Philadelphia available for immediate service.

Official American quarters deprecated the notion of American intervention, however. Secretary Hull stressed the fact that the Hyde Park interview between the Cuban ambassador and the President had been arranged at the request of the ambassador. He said:

"The State Department is in close touch with Havana and is confident that Ambassador Welles, acting as a friendly and impartial mediator, is doing his utmost in cooperation with all Cuban elements to aid in bringing about a peaceful solution. I need not repeat that we have every confidence in Mr. Welles."

This last reiteration of the Secretary's was especially significant as there had been reports emanating obviously from sources close to President Machado both in Havana and nearer Washington that President Roosevelt was not behind the efforts of Mr. Welles; that the American ambassador was acting in a personal capacity and entirely distinct from his official status as representative of the President of the United States. A complete denial of such a situation was undoubtedly given to the representative of President Machado at Hyde Park.

Tram Workers to Return

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—The central committee of the general strike tonight voted that omnibus and tramway workers should return to work.

A general meeting of all workers in these classes will be held tomorrow to ratify or reject the proposal. The strike of omnibus workers against heavy taxes precipitated the general strike.

Early Climax Expected.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 9 (AP).—Gen. Mario G. Menocal, former Cuban president and a leader of the opposition to the government of President Gerardo Machado, today predicted a climax in affairs of the island republic within "48 to 72 hours."

The exiled leader predicted that within that period the American Government would publicly renounce Machado, or, this not materializing, armed revolt would break out in every province of the island.

Peace Restored In Strike Area By Official Acts

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 9 (AP).—Lingering trouble spots in the Pennsylvania mine strike cleared up today sending thousands of men back to the pits.

The last of the Fayette County miners to remain on strike—200 workers in the H. C. Frick Co's., Colonial No. 4 mine at Grindstone—resumed work after Federal and State agencies interceded to smooth over fresh grievances in a dispute concerning checkweighmen. At the same time, striking miners of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation voted to return to the mines tomorrow.

Another group, employed by the Pittsburgh Coal Co., largest producer in the world, met tonight to determine the date for their resumption of work.

As workers filed back into 15 of the Frick mines this morning, the Colonial No. 4 men balked, claiming company officials refused to reorganize the checkweighman and the mine committee they had selected.

While they dispatched a strong protest to Edward F. McGrady, NRA labor advisor, whose appeal in behalf of President Roosevelt yesterday brought about the men's decision to resume work, Duncan McCallum, secretary to Gov. Gifford Pinchot, went into conference with their leader, Martin Ryan.

Convict Beating Charges Admitted

Former Felon Declares Official Watched Whipping.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 9 (AP).—Gov. Futrell said today he would instruct the State Penitentiary Board to investigate charges made by Freddie Frenchie, former Negro convict, that he was severely beaten by a guard at Cummins Prison Farm while Assistant Superintendent Tom Cogbill stood by and watched.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Aug. 9 (AP).—Admitting that Freddie Frenchie, former Negro convict, was whipped at a prison camp by Guard Ben Maddox, Superintendent T. G. Cogbill of Cummins Prison Farm said today the punishment was administered after Frenchie had been warned several times to stay away from the prison camps after his release and was quoted as making threats he would "get" Cogbill and Maddox.

Robinson said they finally escaped in their boat while the militia force at Puerta Vita was at dinner.

Head-Hunting Tribes Described to Club

Dr. Stirling was in charge of the expedition bearing his name which studied the pygmies of New Guinea in 1926.

Buried Alive, Man Held White Slaver

Danville, Ky., Aug. 9 (AP).—A man was taken from a grave here and arrested today. He gave his name as James Fox, 22, of Knoxville, Tenn., and was held on a Federal warrant from Asheville, N. C., charging violation of the white slave act.

Fox was doing a "buried alive" stunt when arrested. He replaced the leader of the underground troupe who left town last night after being buried since last Wednesday.

A warrant had been issued for the leader of the group, known here as Joe Elcarido, but Fox was taken into custody when he refused to answer questions of officers through a tube leading to the grave.

Body Demands Equitable Pay To U.S. Worker

Employes' Stand Is to Come Up at Kansas City Convention.

Establishment of an equitable, living minimum wage in the Federal service will be sought in resolutions presented before the biennial convention of the National Federation of Federal Employes in Kansas City, September 4, Luther C. Steward, president of the federation, said last night.

The convention will be asked to take a concerted stand against Federal wage cuts and furloughs, he added. Resolutions have been received from local unions throughout the country, pointing out the inconsistency of the Government's treatment of Federal workers with its policy regarding private industry.

"The inequity of forcing upon workers who already are radically underpaid further sharp reductions and furloughs is obvious enough," Steward said.

"On the one hand the Federal Government is urging business and industry to raise wages, reduce working hours, and add more employes. On the other hand the Federal Government dismisses workers, continues the pay cut in force and insofar as hours of labor are concerned, employes frequently work 12 and 14 hours a day, with working weeks of six and a half and seven days by no means infrequent.

"With such conditions existing it is clearly apparent decisive convention action is called for. That it will be forthcoming seems to be assured on the basis of the resolutions already received from local unions in all parts of the country."

July Retail Sales Show Small Gain

Cumulative Figures for Fifth District Lower for Year to Date.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 9 (AP).—Retail trade in the Fifth Federal Reserve District as reflected in sales reported by department stores for July increased two-tenths of 1 per cent over the same period of 1932, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported today. In Virginia, however, the increase was 6.2 per cent.

Cumulative sales from January through July reflected a district loss of 12.9 per cent, as compared with the average loss for the United States of 13 per cent.

Four stores in Charleston, W. Va., reported a July gain of 17.8 per cent, and four in Lynchburg, had a gain of 14 per cent. Richmond's gain was the third largest, 8.2 per cent. Eight Washington, D. C., stores suffered a loss of 7.8 per cent.

China Charges New Offensive By Japanese

Invasion and Air Bombing Called Sequel of Gen. Feng's Activities.

Peiping, China, Aug 9 (AP).—North China military headquarters of the Chinese Nationalist Government announced today that 6,000 Japanese and Manchukuan troops have invaded Chinese territory in Chahar Province at Tolunnoerh (Dolonor) in resumption of Sino-Japanese hostilities.

The Chinese claimed Japanese airplanes have resumed a bombardment along the Chahar-Jehol border, inflicting heavy loss of life and property.

The hostilities were described as an outgrowth of the recent activities of the so-called "Christian general" Feng Yuhsiang, who seized the border town of Tolunnoerh from Manchukuan guards a month ago and launched an independent campaign against the Japanese. The latter, it was said, began the present invasion because they consider Jehol endangered.

Chinese authorities claimed the Japanese have again entered the demilitarized zone established in North China proper by the Tangku peace and have occupied Miyun, about 35 miles north of Peiping. They had evacuated Miyun Monday when it was announced the Chinese expected shortly to take over the demilitarized zone and Shanhaikwan.

In the Mongolian Province of Chahap, Gen. Feng was reported to have signed an agreement with Nationalist Government officials, giving up command of his army and administration of the province.

Mediators End Coal Walkout; 2 More Tackled

Mine Voting Rules Made; Shirt and Hose Mill Groups Summoned.

(Associated Press.)

The conciliation strength of the National Labor Board, created by President Roosevelt, was pointed last night toward two additional Pennsylvania strikes after success apparently had been attained in arbitration of the bituminous coal controversy.

Spokesmen for employers and employes in the Reading, Pa., hosiery strike were directed by the board to appear here today for a hearing, and on Friday the Pottsville, Pa., shirt mill controversy will be aired.

Coal Strike Settled.

Announcement that the board was taking jurisdiction in these two strikes was made by Dr. Leo Wolman, acting chairman of the board, in the absence of Senator Wagner, of New York, a few hours after the special board set up to arbitrate the coal strike difficulties in Pennsylvania had announced an agreement which representatives of the opposing elements pronounced satisfactory.

After a brief hearing, the board issued a formal plan of procedure on how checkweighmen should be elected—the remaining point of issue between labor and operators. Checkweighmen are representatives of the miners who see that their coal output is gauged accurately.

Lewis Accepts Order.

After the board—composed of Gerard Swope, Louis E. Kirstein and George L. Berry—had announced the decision, representatives of the operators and John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, said they would abide by it.

Lewis expressed confidence that the workers would go back to their jobs, ending the strike which Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, feared might upset the stabilization program by creating a coal shortage.

Continental Can Co. Raises Pay of 10,000

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Continental Can Co., Inc., announced today an increase in hourly and piece-work rates in varying amounts up to 15 per cent, applicable to all 37 plants in the United States. Pay of clerical and salaried employes was increased 5 to 10 per cent.

Action was taken pending approval of the can manufacturing industry's code, said the company. A shorter work week is also being put into effect. The company estimated 10,000 employes would receive wage and salary increases.

Martial Law Set Up in Chinese City

U. S. Gunboat Ordered to Amoy to Aid Americans; Reds Blamed.

Amoy, China, Aug. 9 (AP).—Martial law was proclaimed today throughout Amoy as a result of Communist activities, and the United States gunboat Fulton has been ordered here to protect Americans.

Chinese reports said Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai and his Nineteenth Route Army, famed for its defense of Shanghai against the Japanese early in 1932, were hard pressed by Communists in the Lungyen region.

Bombing planes were reported sent from Canton to attack the Communists. Thousands of refugees were arriving at this seaport from the scene of hostilities.

Redistributing Population Aid Named by U. S.

(United Press.)

The task of redistricting the Nation's congested industrial population was delegated yesterday to M. L. Wilson, Montana State College professor, who is directing the administration's campaign for wheat acreage reduction.

Wilson will have $25,000,000 of public works funds at his command to accomplish three objectives:

1. To get farmers off bad land and on to good soil that is capable of yielding a living.

2. To get surplus working men out of cities into suburban areas.

3. To spread out industries, removing them from congested metropolitan areas and out in the open air where employes may live on their own plot of ground.

The subsistence homestead director will continue to manage the wheat campaign until various county wheat production control associations have been established, allotments made and first benefit payments completed.

Administration officials believe the homestead feature of the recovery drive will give a real chance to millions of families to live a more rounded and secure life. Some have said they see no reason why many factories in New York should not move 50 or a hundred miles out into less populated areas.

Pits Again Told To Clean Up as Code Is Given

(Associated Press.)

Grain exchange representatives yesterday presented a code revamping long-established practices and immediately ran into a new warning from farm administrators "to clean your own house and justify your existence as the market for the farmers' grain."

George N. Peek, chief administrator of the farm act, to whom the proposed code was presented, demanded far-reaching reforms in grain marketing during an all-day conference with the exchange delegation.

Four Principal Changes.

The proposed code calls for four principal changes which administrators called for at a recent meeting called after the mid-July collapse in grain prices, but which, they said yesterday, may be insufficient to meet their theories of exchange reform.

It proposes that limitations on daily price fluctuations be maintained at 5 cents for wheat, rye and barley; 4 cents for corn, and 3 cents for oats; that trading in weekly indemnities be abolished, but that trading in daily indemnities, now not permitted, be continued.

Higher Futures Margins.

It also calls for higher margins on futures accounts and limitations on the volume of futures any trader may hold at one time. In addition, it proposes minimum wages and maximum weekly hours of labor for employes of exchanges, including those at Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Duluth, St. Louis and Omaha.

At the previous conference Mr. Peek told the group that unless exchanges "reformed" their practices, the "Government will do it for you." Yesterday he asserted that changes "must come" or severe restrictive provisions will be put into effect at the next session of Congress.

Court Invalidation Of Repeal Forecast

Prohibition Leader Says Tactics in Some Elections Are "Foul Blow."

(Associated Press.)

The belief that the Supreme Court will invalidate repeal of the eighteenth amendment because of "tactics" employed in some States was expressed yesterday by Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, of the National Prohibition Emergency Committee.

Asserting that the antiprohibition victory yesterday in Arizona was "by foul blow," Colvin said in a formal statement "that was not by any means the only State where similar tactics are being used, sufficient, it is believed, to cause the Supreme Court to impose its bar against amending the Constitution by such foul methods."

Hay Fever Sufferers in City, Warning! Pollination Is Near

MISS MARCIA OGBURN, employe of Airport swimming pool, gets whiff of infectious pollen from giant ragweed which spreads hay fever in the summer.

Ragweed Will Start Its Nefarious Work Next Week.

Demon Ragweed is about to claim its annual sacrifice.

Handkerchiefs, stand by! Noses, watch out for a big run. And if you have tears, prepare to shed them now. Hay fever is just around the corner.

Hay fever today is about as impenetrable a mystery as it ever was. Even its name has a nefarious taint, for the affliction is but rarely caused by hay and it produces no fever, at least, not directly.

A conservative estimate places the number of sufferers in the District at 10,000. The great majority of these are affected by ragweed pollen, which is expected to ripen next week and start its dread circulation.

Giant ragweed will pollinate first, starting between the fifteenth and twentieth of this month and continuing its diabolic work until the last of September. Ambrosia elatior, its kid brother, more familiarly known as common or short ragweed, will begin mischief later this month and keep it up until frost.

One of the few conclusions science has reached in its study of hay fever is that the so-called intelligentsia are especially susceptible.

According to the United States Public Health Service, the tendency runs in families; sensitivity decreases with age; regular medical treatment has proved effective in almost every case; systematic and coordinated elimination of ragweed would go a long way toward ending the yearly suffering.

To the sufferer there is little difference between giant and short ragweed. The former grows to a height of 12 or 14 feet and has a three-pointed leaf. Three or 4 feet is attained by the other. Its leaves are more on the lacy side.

Trifida—that's the big fellow—is found in swampy wastes and near water courses. Elatior occurs in vacant lots, fields, back yards and almost everywhere. Their minute pollen, bright yellow, are almost identical in appearance and effect.

Uncle Sam's health service offers a helpful hint to the weed's vassals. Keep your windows closed during the day and be fairly assured of a night's sleep without symptoms. The night air is not so heavily pollinated.

They will be dated August 16 and mature November 15. The proceeds will be used to retire a similar issue.

Department Store Sales Show Increase in July

(Associated Press.)

An increase of 4 per cent in the value of department store sales for July as compared with the same month last year was reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Battle" Rages Around Tokyo

Foreigners Watched Closely as Army and Navy Swoop on City.

Tokyo, Aug. 9 (AP).—Scenes and sounds of simulated warfare were loosed on Tokyo today for the "spiritual education" of the 15,000,000 inhabitants of the metropolitan area as the navy and the army started a three-day sham battle for possession of the capital.

The "hostilities" constituted the second phase of the grand maneuvers of the imperial sea forces.

The thunder of battle, joined with many of the attendant organizations and activities of actual fighting, served also as an impressive propaganda spectacle in behalf of a stronger navy and increased air forces.

An increasing watchfulness upon foreigners, especially military and naval officers, was exercised by the Japanese authorities as the mimic war progressed.

A girl, watching one of the several air attacks from a roof, fell and was killed.

By orders of the defending commanders, lights in the capital were extinguished for two hours tonight.

Hull Will Take Rest Before Tariff Parleys

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hull will take a short vacation before entering upon reciprocal tariff negotiations with the five powers already invited to discussions in Washington. Tired out by the long sessions at the London conference he said yesterday he would leave late this week.

Hull explained the board created to make preparations for the tariff negotiations with Portugal, Sweden, Argentina, Colombia and Brazil contains many experts who can start the work in case delegations from those countries arrive before his return.

Ickes Economizes By Abolishing Jobs

Most of Reductions Since April Made Without Actual Dismissals.

The Interior Department has accomplished economies by abolishing positions which have become vacant through resignations, deaths and other causes, it was learned yesterday.

From April 1 to July 31, only 67 of the 236 total reduction in force in Washington involved the actual separations of employes, according to Secretary of Interior Ickes. The remaining 169 positions became vacant and were abolished.

Ickes disclosed that 766 positions were abolished in the field service during this period of greatest economy pressure. Of these, 343 involved the separation of employes, 74 indefinite furloughs and 84 persons furloughed for definite periods. In addition to those on the regular force, 167 minor positions in the Indian Service were abolished.

$3,500,000 Advanced By R. F. C. for Cotton

(Associated Press.)

The board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday authorized a loan of $3,500,000 at 2½ per cent to the Secretary of Agriculture to be used for the purchase of cotton held by Government agencies.

The funds will be used, if they are needed, to pay the farm credit administration for approximately 2,100,000 bales of cotton it agreed to deliver to the farm adjustment administration at 6 cents a pound. The cotton, owned or controlled by the Government, will be used to fulfill options to Southern growers who joined in the reduction campaign.

Pilot Is Killed On Lisbon Hop Of Air Armada

Captain and Two Men Hurt in Azores; Gala Greeting Given in Portugal.

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 9 (AP).—Twenty-three seaplanes of the Italian transatlantic air squadron arrived here this afternoon from the Azores, where on the departure early this morning one of the ships overturned, resulting in the death of one member of its crew.

Gen. Italo Balbo, leader of the expedition which now has crossed and recrossed the Atlantic, was in the first of three groups to descend on the River Tagus, his flagship settling on the water at 2:30 p. m., G. M. T. (9:30 a. m., E. S. T.) amid the cheers of a welcoming throng which included many Italians.

Three Planes Help.

Three of the seaplanes had remained behind at Ponta Delgada, in the Azores, to care for crew of the wrecked ship, but they were soon also on their way eastward and rejoined the main body at its moorings one hour and 15 minutes later.

Lieut. Enrico Squaglia, relief pilot of the plane commanded by Capt. Celso Ranieri, was drowned when this craft turned over as the part of the armada at Ponta Delgada was taking off. The captain and Radio Sergt. Aldo Bovier and Motor Sergt. Luigi Cremaschi were injured in the accident, but apparently not seriously.

(One man was killed at Amsterdam when the Italian armada landed at Amsterdam, completing the first leg of its flight to Chicago. Otherwise the great expedition has been free of grave incidents until today.)

Elaborate Reception Planned.

The seven hills of Lisbon were thronged with sightseers to welcome the planes on their arrival, for which plans for an elaborate reception had been made.

An official delegation, including the minister of marine and the Italian minister, met Gen. Balbo and his companions when they stepped ashore. The general reviewed a guard of honor and was greeted with wild enthusiasm by a crowd which filled Black Horse Square.

Because of fog which prevailed here this morning special radio directions were sent out from Lisbon to guide the Italian fliers as they approached the continent.

Woman's Apparel Strike Is Scheduled for Today

St. Louis, Aug. 9 (AP).—A strike of 1,800 of the 3,000 workers in the women's apparel industry today was called for tomorrow morning by Ben Gilbert, local manager of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Gilbert said the strike was called after union leaders had failed to receive word from employers after a conference Saturday which resulted in a deadlock over recognition of the union.

Balbo Armada Wreck Casualties

Here's the Skipper's Story

Master of Famous Bluenose Says Chicago Broker "Will Be a Sick Man" Before $5,000 Suit Is Settled.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (AP).—The story of the cruise of the Bluenose, told tonight by Skipper Angus, differed from that recounted by Addison Stillwell, broker and clubman.

Stillwell sued the skipper of the internationally known racing schooner for $5,000 damages, claiming that a $2,500 charter for a fortnight's cruise was violated, his guests insulted and finally forced to leave the craft at Milwaukee because of conditions aboard.

Capt. Walters today was served with a writ of attachment on the ship, pending posting of $10,000 bond and disposal of the damage suit.

Skipper Derides "Admiral."

Commented the captain:

"Well, this is what I call a good joke. I'm not worried, but I believe Mr. Stillwell will be a sick man before this is all over."

He charged some of the guests became disorderly on the Mackinac trip.

The episode of Milwaukee the captain blamed on the stock market.

"When we were becalmed off Milwaukee," he said, "the admiral" (Stillwell) listened to wireless reports of the market. One of his pet stocks dropped a point. For a while I was afraid I might have to clap him in irons, so violent did he become.

Had to Put Him Ashore.

"He waved his arms and shouted he must be put ashore. To accommodate him, I finally picked up a tow and took him into Milwaukee, where he boarded a train and returned to attend to his business."

The Bluenose was free to go about Illinois waters tonight carrying passengers. Stillwell's attorney agreed to let the craft leave its pier with the understanding the bond would be posted tomorrow.

Attorney Claims Stolen Stocks Sold to Him

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 9 (AP).—J. P. Miller, attorney who was arrested here yesterday by detectives who reported they took $54,000 in stolen stocks from him, was released today on $1,000 bond. A hearing was set for August 21.

The stocks were reported to have been stolen from a messenger in New York, May 25. Edward C. Meek, attorney for Miller, said Miller and N. G. Black, wealthy oil man of Dallas, were innocent victims of a man from Oklahoma City, who sought to sell the stocks.

Virginia Plums Finally Picked By Byrd, Glass

(Associated Press.)

A series of conferences over a period of days resulted yesterday in announcement by Senators Glass and Byrd of five major Federal appointments in Virginia.

State Senator N. B. Early, of Ruckersville, will be recommended by them for the State-wide office of collector of internal revenue. City Manager I. Walke Truxton, of Norfolk, is their choice for collector of customs for the port of Norfolk.

Joseph H. Chitwood, of Roanoke, and John White Stuart, of Elk Garden, were chosen for district attorney and marshal, respectively, in the western district. R. L. Ailworth, of Eastville, was picked for marshal in the eastern district.

The senators said no decision had been reached on district attorney for the eastern district. Sterling Hutcheson, of Boydton, one of the candidates, was in conference with both senators today and the opinion was general in Virginia circles that he would be offered the job.

It was said, however, that powerful friends of W. W. Beverley, of Henrico County were continuing to insist that he not be left off the list.

Other appointments made previously were John J. Wicker, jr., of Richmond, as State manager of the Home Loan Corporation and S. R. Brame, of Richmond, as head of the combined bureau of investigation-prohibition State office.

Chitwood and Ailworth held the same office for which they will be recommended under President Wilson. Stuart is a nephew of the late Gov. Henry Carter Stuart.

Norman R. Hamilton, Portsmouth, Va., publisher, last night advocated a referendum to choose a collector of customs for the Port of Norfolk. Hamilton, who has been a candidate for the post, urged this in a letter to Senator Byrd.

Amusement Operators Ask Year's Code Delay

Claiming to have but four days in which to operate on a new scale of wages and hours before closing their business for the 1933 season, representatives of the amusement park industry yesterday asked the National Recovery Administration to extend until 1934 the code-adoption deadline.

Meeting in the Mayflower Hotel with Sol A. Rosenblatt, of the Recovery Administration, the operators declared the closing of most amusement parks on September 4 would make impractical adoption of a code effective September 1. They stated that additional trained employes could not be obtained.

The girl, Emma Washington, colored, 2454 Ontario road northwest, was either drowned or died of heart disease yesterday while swimming in Howard Pool, Fifth and W streets northwest. CHEVROLET leads the field
by the widest margin
in its history

CHEVROLET, AMERICA'S NUMBER 1 CAR—47.99% of all low-priced cars sold

NUMBER 2 CAR—26.74%*

NUMBER 3 CAR—19.21%*

ALL OTHERS 6.06%*

*Based on the latest retail registration figures from R. L. Polk & Company (all states for five full months). Since January first Chevrolet has sold in excess of 370,000 passenger cars and trucks.

True enough, it isn't news any more to say that Chevrolet leads the world in automobile sales. People have come to take that for granted. But this year there is an important difference. In the face of the keenest "show-me" market the industry has ever known, Chevrolet has increased its margin of leadership. In fact, according to the latest available figures, Chevrolet alone has sold almost as many cars this year as all the rest of the low-price field combined!

When a car looms above its field like that, there can't be any argument about it. It must be an all-round better buy. And that's exactly what Chevrolet offers you.

The bodies are Fisher bodies, and that's the most famous name in its field. Famous for styling and luxury. Famous for pioneering such revolutionary advancements as the new ventilation system that lets you make your own weather. Famous for using the strongest and quietest body construction of the day—solid steel over a sturdy hardwood frame.* The engine is a valve-in-head six, and that's the same basic design that has been breaking economy and dependability records for year after year. It's Cushion-Balanced to blot out vibration. It's full of snap and vigor. In fact, it has been called the most efficient engine in the low-price field.

Then there's Syncro-Mesh with Silent Second. There's the Starterator. There's Simplified Free Wheeling, the Octane Selector, long, parallel-mounted springs—more advancements than we have space to describe, but all of proven value. What's more, Chevrolet prices start at $445, and no Chevrolet is listed above $565!

Already this year, hundreds of thousands of owners have put this car through every kind of test, driven it millions of miles, and proved that it is right! No other car in the world bears such a recommendation. Don't guess—buy from the leader.

Railroad Buying Power.

In the program of reviving business the construction activities take a leading part. When the building of homes is going on at a fair rate there is an increase in the production of capital goods, not only for the building of homes but for construction of streets, roads, electric light extensions, sewers, police and fire stations, schools, and other public necessities, besides a large increase in expenditures for labor and the moving of materials.

A revival of building activity would be immediately accompanied by what is called good business, and this would extend to many industries which at first thought do not seem to be affected by building operations. In the absence of actual or immediately prospective home building activity on a sufficient scale to stimulate the industries, the public works program is being promoted. So far as this goes it is useful in providing a market for many industrial products.

Next to the building industry, perhaps the largest consumers of labor and material in the past have been the railroads. Their gross earnings now show a decided increase, which warrants the hope that there will be a fair increase of expenditures for maintenance and improvements, especially in view of the fact that such expenditures during the last four years have been severely curtailed.

The average expenditures by the 151 Class I railroads during the five-year period 1927-1931 were $759,585,175 for maintenance of way and structures, and $1,085,024,893 for maintenance of equipment. But in the 1932 the expenditures for maintenance of way and structures were $408,406,134 under the average for the preceding five-year period, and expenditures for maintenance of equipment were $466,034,120 under the five-year average. Expenditures for the six months ending June 30, 1933, were $147,499,392 for maintenance of way and structures, and $278,762,548 for maintenance of equipment.

During 1932 the Class I railroads laid only 797,324 tons of rails in replacement, as compared with the five-year average of 3,124,759 tons in 1927-1931. Gross expenditures for additions and betterments to equipment, roadway and structures amounted to $167,194,000 in 1932, as compared with $872,608,000 in 1930.

The low point of railroad employment was on March 15, 1933, at which time there were 919,881 employees. The Interstate Commerce Commission reports that on July 15 the number of employees had increased by 69,249. The principal increase of employees is in the maintenance groups.

Proper maintenance of the railroads is a national necessity. If the earnings of railroads are not sufficient to provide the large sums now required for bringing roadbeds and equipment up to the country's needs, loans should be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for that purpose, as authorized by law. Probably no great expansion of plant would be justified, even with a considerable increase of gross earnings, but there can be no doubt that in the last three years the needs for expenditures for maintenance and really necessary improvements have piled up to a considerable degree.

Now is the time when circumstances favor sound loans to the railroads to finance necessary upkeep. Such loans, enabling the railroads to bring their systems up to national needs, would contribute in a sound manner to the national recovery program.

Shenandoah National Park.

During these languorous summer days it is a matter of keen regret that the cool breezes of Shenandoah National Park are not readily accessible to the public. A beautiful skyline highway has been constructed along the crest of the Blue Ridge mountains within the park area, but it is still closed to traffic. It will soon be a year since the highway was completed, yet legal controversies stand in the way of its dedication to public use.

The National Park Service is apparently helpless to prevent or shorten this delay. The new park can not be formally established until the land within its boundary is definitely turned over to the Government. Virginia officials have not yet been able to acquire clear title to all the land that is needed. Consequently, the public is denied the privilege of vacationing in this delightful scenic area.

Gov. Pollard is taking steps to adjust the claims of landowners in the park area. An arbitration board has been set up to hear the complaints of landowners who are dissatisfied with previous appraisals. It is to be hoped that these officials will use all diligence in securing title to the land so that this area may be turned over to the National Park Service and opened to the public.

Shenandoah National Park is one of the choice wild spots in the eastern half of the United States. It is within easy reach of the great centers of population. The scenery of this area will become available to millions who have not been able to visit the great national parks of the West. A proper appreciation of its significance in the national plan of recreational units should discourage any tendency toward arbitrary litigation and delay.

Still Too Much Cotton.

Nature was kind to some wheat farmers this year, but for the cotton grower she has shown no mercy. In spite of the fact that farmers are destroying their cotton on about 10,000,000 acres of land, the first crop report of the Department of Agriculture indicates a bounteous harvest. Even the boll weevil has lain down on the job. Growing conditions have been particularly favorable in the Atlantic seaboard States, and they are above average in the Texas-Oklahoma area. The indicated yield per acre is about 18 per cent above the ten-year average.

Officials estimate the 1933 crop at 12,314,000 bales. On this same basis of calculation the crop would have amounted to 16,561,000 bales if the Agricultural Adjustment Administration had not induced farmers to plow under part of their cotton. Even with the reduced acreage the estimated yield this year is not much less than the 13,000,000 bale crop of 1932. The A. A. A. may be able to control the acreage of cotton harvested, but it can not regulate the yield per acre.

In making this preliminary report the department made allowance for an average abandonment of acreage not under contract for elimination under the curtailment program.

Another interesting factor in this report is the estimate that a potential yield of 4,247,000 bales of cotton will be destroyed as a result of agreements with the Government. Officials of the A. A. A. had previously estimated that the crop would be reduced by 3,500,000 bales through their activities.

The real test of the agricultural adjustment plan will come next spring when farmers go forth to plant their fields.

Dissatisfied Filipinos.

A new Filipino independence mission may be expected in Washington. A dispatch from Manila says that Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, who is now in control of the dominant party in the islands, has thrown his support behind a new independence move. If the Hawes-Cutting act should be accepted, amendments will be necessary, in the opinion of the Quezon group. If it should be rejected, Filipino leaders will find it necessary to reaffirm their adherence to the independence ideal. Hence, it is said, in either event a new independence mission will be sent to the United States.

The last delegation which came here to secure a divorce for the islands from Uncle Sam has seen its labors repudiated. These delegates were not satisfied with the Hawes-Cutting measure, but they acquiesced in its enactment in the belief that it was the most favorable bill that could be passed through Congress. The Philippine legislature seems to be hostile to the Hawes-Cutting law in its present form. Action on that measure has been postponed; the legislature has again asserted its demand for immediate and complete independence and manifested its disapproval of the independence mission's work.

The outcome of the Filipino struggle over independence is not yet in sight. It does seem certain, however, that the legislature will seek amendments or reservations to the act if it should be accepted. These reservations might or might not be acceptable to Congress and President Roosevelt.

One salutary effect of the independence controversy, however, is apparent. The Filipinos are beginning to think in more practical terms of their cherished ideal of separate national existence. The Hawes-Cutting act has brought them face to face with the economic hazards of independence. These do not greatly influence the legislature in its demand for immediate independence, for that demand is inspired by tradition and sentiment rather than practical considerations. But the people are beginning to understand the economic sacrifices that would be involved in the loss of a free American market for sugar and cocoanut oil.

If the Hawes-Cutting act encourages the Filipinos to think realistically about their future status it may serve a useful purpose, even though it should be rejected.

Television Advances.

The scientists who are working to perfect television give assurance that eventually visual broadcasts will become as common as vocal programs. The progress which is being made is full of interest, particularly for those who have enough technical knowledge of radio to follow the developments. From those who have even a limited understanding of the intricate problems involved, only praise is heard for the development thus far attained.

Many American electrical and radio companies are working on television. In England the latest development in this field is the cathode-ray oscillograph, recently demonstrated in the research laboratory of the Edison-Swan Company. The cathode-ray tube used in this system is about a foot long, tapering from the end in which the "works" are located to a flat surface about six inches wide. Upon this flat end of white opal glass the picture is shown. The electron stream passing through the tube transmits the picture in a pale green color, but only on a scale of 3 by 4 inches. The operation is absolutely silent.

The research group which has been active in the cathode-ray development believes that the limit of efficiency of the mechanical scanning disc, or mirror drum, has been reached. Controlling the stream of electrons, they hold, is much simpler than the method which involves the accurate variation of a motor's speed. It is also claimed for the new receiver that it can be advanced instantly to whatever frequency is required and that synchronization is simpler. Whether the new method will admit of amplification and reduction of excessive costs is yet to be demonstrated.

French Wheat.

Secretary Hull found very little disposition among European statesmen to reduce trade barriers with a view to stimulating business throughout the world. Nearly all statesmen are committed in theory to a reduction of trade barriers, but when it comes to making actual concessions the old adage about it being more blessed to give than to receive falls into astonishing disrepute. With all countries striving to enhance the economic opportunities of their own producers, world-wide movements for freer trade make little headway.

While the great wheat producing nations have been studying ways and means of limiting their crops to avoid disastrous surpluses, the French government has been studying ways and means of paying a large bounty to wheat growers of that country. France insists upon raising her own wheat supply, or most of it, even though she could buy wheat in the world market for much less than its production cost in France.

The French Parliament fixed the price of wheat at 115 francs per quintal (about $1.60 per bushel at the present rate of exchange) in order to stimulate wheat farming. Last year French farmers produced more than that country needs. Now France has a surplus of wheat which is being sold to neighboring countries at not much more than one-third of the fixed price in France. Of course, the government must make up the difference between the established price and the figure obtained abroad.

Some of this wheat produced under uneconomic conditions because of the government's generous bounty enters into competition with wheat from Canada, Argentina, Australia and the United States. As conditions have worked out, French citizens are paying taxes to add to the world's surplus of wheat outside of France. It does not seem probable that the government at Paris contemplated the production of a surplus crop, but it is virtually impossible to control the yield of wheat farms.

One of the difficulties encountered by the world wheat conference was the large bounties paid to wheat growers of France, Germany, Italy and other countries of western Europe. So long as these countries produce their own wheat it is hard for the exporting nations to dispose of their surplus. But these industrialized countries do not wish to become dependent upon foreign nations for their food supply. Nor do they wish to deny to their farmers benefits which enable them to continue in agricultural pursuits.

It is conditions of this kind, a combination of political and economic factors, which so frequently make international trade negotiations unproductive of tangible results.

A group of Iowa housewives is seeking a code of fair competition prescribing minimum hours and allowances, but who would be bold enough to arbitrate the resulting disputes?

The Pan-American conference should be a great success unless South America gets the idea that Uncle Sam is trying to run it.

A short time ago Europe was ready to fight to prevent the union of Germany and Austria. Now it is trying to keep them from fighting.

Mysterious Hormones.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Progress which has recently been made in the study of those mysterious entities, the "ductless glands" in the human body, suggests that medical science has within its grasp the key to the rhythm of existence.

Already the English scientists investigating this branch of physiology have traced a connection between vegetable and animal life.

A good deal is already known about the ductless glands and their secretions, called hormones, which are poured directly from the glands into the blood stream, to be carried swiftly to every part of the body.

But these mysterious hormones have only revealed a part of their wonderful story to the patient scientists, and each fresh discovery opens fascinating realms of new knowledge.

It has recently been discovered in London that one of the hormones, extracted from a certain gland, is capable of influencing the growth of plants and enhancing their beauty. Here is a definite link between plant and animal life.

Hormones, exercising a profound influence on human life and affecting sex, are capable of altering the appearance of plants. A hyacinth fed with a hormone isolated in pure form and built up as a crystalline product has been observed to grow with abnormal rapidity.

Hormones secreted by the pituitary, thyroid, parathyroid and adrenal glands not only exert their influence on the growth and character of the individual, but they determine his very personality.

Disorders of the pituitary gland—to mention only one—produce giants and dwarfs and other deformities. But it is not only the physical structure which is affected by the ductless glands. They dominate the emotions and the passions.

They determine sex, and they make possible the creation of new life. It has only lately been found that defects which rob many women of the joy of motherhood may be remedied by the use of one of the hormones, the effect of which is to restore the balance of the body and make possible the development of the unborn babe.

THE GARBLE SISTERS.

"Say, this kidnaping racket is getting awful, ain't it?"

"It's terrible. I see they got Balbo back in that Albany case after his father came across with the ransom."

"Who turned the money over to the kidnapers?"

"Some lawyer named Armada, I think. Did you read where a jury in Kansas sentenced a kidnaper to be hanged for kidnaping that Nira girl?"

"Yeah. It was some feller named Dave Hutton, wasn't it?"

"You've got the names mixed a little. Hutton was the fellow that fainted in those French tennis matches. The man in that Kansas case was Maurice Rossi."

"Oh, yeah, I remember now."

* * * *

"Speaking of tennis, I see where the economic conference finally broke up."

"I knew it would end that way. Ellsworth Vines was in no shape to play."

"Well, how could America expect to win the Davis Cup when right off the reel the conference was marred by Roland Garros having a row with Cordell Hull over the Auteuil clause?"

"It was too bad, though, that Hull broke down when he seemed to be going so good against that Australian."

"Jimmy Mattern?"

"That's the feller."

* * * *

* * * *

"Say, by the way, it was too bad about those British fliers crashing at Bridgeport a coupla weeks ago."

"Aimee McPherson and her husband, you mean?"

"Yeah. They were flying from England to some temple and got lost in the codes."

* * * *

"What do you think of that trouble in Cuba?"

"I knew there would be a row there the minute I read about Mahatma Porra going on a hunger strike against the orders of that Cuban president. What's his name?"

"Richberg, ain't it?"

"That's the feller."

"What's all the trouble in Havana about, anyhow?"

"Something about a lieutenant named Settle and a balloon."

STILL LIFE?

"The economic conference is still alive and virile," says Secretary Cordell Hull. If you watch it intently and have patience you can see a muscle twitch.

Would the Highway Be More Useful to You If You Called It Your Own?

By Robert Quillen.

THE desire to own property is a product of an artificial civilization. The wild creatures have some sense of property rights. They will fight to protect their feed or keep their mates. And man, in a natural state, did as much.

But men were wanderers when the race was young, and ages passed before they settled in permanent abodes and learned to think in terms of private ownership.

When the first shelter was built, the builder had a right to say: "This is mine." He was rightful owner of the thing his labor had created.

And when another man worked for a token of value called money and exchanged it for a shelter, his title of ownership was also clear and just.

But what was the motive that prompted these men to desire unquestioned ownership? It was a desire for security—nothing more.

It was a natural and reasonable desire and nothing to man's discredit.

Is there any other reason why man should desire to call property his own? None except greed and the lust for power and the desire to seem greater than other men.

If the rules of society guaranteed every man's security, so that none could suffer for want of anything, what reason would remain for ownership except reasons that discredit the race?

Despite our countless laws designed to protect property rights, the earth still belongs to everybody, as in the beginning, and ownership of real property is an illusion.

However dearly you pay for the right to call a property your own, you have only a lifetime tenure. You are a tenant, paying rent to society in the form of a tax. And your "ownership" is merely the right to use, which any renter could obtain.

Highways, bridges, parks and schools now "belong" to all. And tax money provides better service than toll charges once did.

When the world is wiser, and security replaces fear, there will be no desire to own things.

Does the President enjoy the White House cars less because they belong to all the people?

Prices and Income.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

While food prices have risen 6.6 per cent and retail clothing and home furnishings prices 3.7, the workers' income rose but 2.2 per cent. The danger signal is that retail sales, the real test of a sound recovery, in June were actually 4 per cent behind last year, and during July apparently no further gains, despite soaring prices and production. This can mean only that purchasing power is lacking, and unless purchasing power is supplied, by increased wages and large-scale reemployment, we are in for another crash.

No Bail After Conviction.

George Z. Medalie, United States Attorney for the Southern district of New York, in his annual report urges that bail be denied pending appeal in Federal jurisdictions, except when the prosecutor and judge have a strong doubt about the justice of the conviction in law and fact. His suggestion should be carefully heeded by the Supreme Court of the United States, which has the rule-making power, or by the Judiciary Committees of the House and Senate if a Federal statute is needed to carry the suggestion into effect.

Los Angeles Times.

Inauguration of a "buy now" campaign by the Federal industry administrator, Gen. Johnson, is a timely effort to supplement the NRA reemployment and wage-increasing plan to make it fully effective. A good deal of new purchasing power is being created through this plan and such purchasing power, if used, will obviously create still more employment and more purchasing power. In addition, there is the fact that buying now is genuinely in the interest of purchasers themselves, since the buyer's market which has existed for some time will not continue much longer.

Questions.

Are we wrong in all our teaching
That triumph lies in summit reaching;
That all enjoyment earthly lies
In being proud and shrewd and wise;
That to be rich is to be glad
Since little else from life is had?

Should we not pen a different story
Concerning human peace and glory?
Should we not to our children tell
That true success is serving well;
That all life's happiness depends
Less on wealth and more on friends?

Should we not make a little clearer
The fact that happiness lies nearer
Than youth may early guess or know
For all of us on earth below;
That countless pleasures close at hand
Are strewn at every one's command?

Should we not teach them less to grumble
At modest means and dwelling humble;
That fellowship with woods and seas
Possesses endless power to please;
That doing well and staying true
Will gladden them a lifetime through?

Along the Potomac

With

Carlisle Bargeron

Bargeron.

I THINK one of the most fascinating things about living in the Nation's Capital is that you can see the evolution of government right before your eyes. Over a period of 150 years and more we have added steadily to the machinery of governing our people. Making it more attractive year after year until it has come to be one of the finest looking things you can possibly imagine.

Every administration that comes along leaves some little something which the succeeding administration thinks is pretty good and adopts. Mostly the outgoing administration packs up and takes everything away with it, but frequently little jewels are overlooked and left for the marauders that follow.

Thus we have the word "integration."

* * * *

MR. HOOVER gave us this. I shall never forget it. At the height of his harassment he appointed a commission to find out what the country needed. And never did a commission labor so hard, as well, as long. Its researches carried it into previously unexplored jungles of knowledge with the attendant dangers of brain fever and other disorders of profundity to the personnel of the commission. Finally, it reported back and anyone who recalls that return home will feel a warmth of the heart as he reads this, the recollection of it. No conquering heroes ever returned in greater stride. They had found out what the country needed, they reported.

What it needed was a fusion of social trends and an integration of social purposes. Wow!

* * * *

WELL, there is no one who likes words better than Mr. Roosevelt. He likes to turn them around on his tongue as a connoisseur does a sip of wine. He likes to let them hang out in the atmosphere, likes to contemplate and listen to them as they hang there.

"Integration" fascinated him. He took it to his embrace and fondled it, polished it up a bit and since then no word has been more prominent in the administration's vocabulary.

Mr. Hoover simply gave us the word. But to show you how the Government evolves, year after year, or rather, administration after administration, Mr. Roosevelt is to give us an "integrated plan."

* * * *

THE Federal Power Commission, it has been announced, has been awarded $400,000 of the public works funds—just why these funds, I don't know—to develop an "integrated plan" of the country's power resources and needs.

I know why Mr. Roosevelt is doing this. It is a dead give away. Behind that apparent democracy of his, behind that plebeian mask, lies a desire for the higher and cultural things of life. It is his finer sensibilities that are calling for this piece of art. It is an urge that comes from his travels in France.

Europeans have jibed us too long about our backwardness in the arts—in paintings, in sculptures. They have flaunted their art galleries in our face upon every occasion.

Our "integrated plan" is the answer to that.

I DON'T see that it makes any particular difference as to what it is an "integrated plan" of. What those of us who appreciate the beautiful things in life want is an "integrated plan." Whatever it is of, it will be something.

And for $400,000 of public works funds, at that, we should be able to get one of the best "integrated plans" in the world. I assume that the Power Commission will carry its search far and wide, into the art centers everywhere.

After spending this much money—I do not mean to suggest it is too much for the right "integrated plan"—we shall expect the best. Any inferior article will be a scandal such as I do not believe the incumbent administration wants to undergo.

And in turn we shall show our appreciation. Perhaps, by public subscription, we may build a gallery in which to hang it. It seems to be too much to expect, but wouldn't it be wonderful if we could get it in time to exhibit at the Chicago fair?

Study of Crime.
Detroit News.

Crime "authorities" in the United States are numerous and divided among themselves. Raymond Moley's rank among them may be uncertain, but there's no denying his position in the foreground as President Roosevelt calls him in for advice upon effective Federal procedures against kidnaping and racketeering.

The President's "favorite professor" and Assistant Secretary of State has his record as a crime specialist. Twelve years ago he directed the Cleveland Foundation's survey of criminal justice, a service credited with accomplishments in "cleaning up" Cleveland. The work at Cleveland, his service on a Missouri crime commission and his books and articles show his extensive study and experience.

Seattle Drops Mrs. Zioncheck Kidnap Charge

Two Florida Girls Vanish; Minneapolis Man Gets Extortion Threat.

Seattle, Aug. 9 (AP).—Justice of the Peace C. E. Pierce today dismissed kidnaping charges against Mrs. Frances Zioncheck, mother of Representative Marion Zioncheck, of Seattle, because the complainant, C. F. Kneeland, a son-in-law, failed to prosecute the case.

Kneeland filed the charges last month when his daughter, Dorothy, 12, disappeared from a home in which she had been placed near Bremerton. The child later was returned.

The court ordered that Kneeland pay $55 costs.

Mrs. Zioncheck lost an attempt to gain custody of the child when Mason County Superior Court ordered Dorothy placed in the care of Kneeland's mother in Tacoma.

Florida Girls Vanish.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 9 (AP).—Warrants were issued for two men here today, charging them with abducting a 19-year-old girl, missing since Monday, and in the meantime another girl, 16, was reported to have vanished from her home.

The warrants, issued at the instigation of H. O. Johnson, accused Hollie Bryan and Joe Sheets, Tampa youths, of spiriting away his daughter, Agnes, an employe in the office of a physician.

The father said she was last seen with Bryan at a refreshment booth Monday, and nothing had been heard of her since. Later in the day Mrs. F. A. Bell appealed to Federal authorities to search for her daughter, Mildred Andrews.

Minneapolis, Aug. 9 (AP).—A threat to kidnap and harm the two sons of L. K. Stein, wholesale fruit company president, unless he paid $3,500, was reported today as a suspect was arraigned on a charge of sending an extortion note through the mails.

The suspect, Irving J. Hoffman, brought before a United States commissioner, waived examination. Bail was fixed at $5,000 and trial set for September 26.

Albany Hunt Renewed.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9 (U.P.).—While Manny Strewl, Albany beer runner, remained in jail pending trial on charges of kidnaping John J. O'Connell, jr., police intensified their search tonight for other suspected participants. Strewl, arraigned in county court, pleaded not guilty. A sealed indictment named 10 "John Does" and "Richard Roes" in addition to Strewl, as those who allegedly abducted the 24-year-old youth—a member of the politically prominent family—on July 7.

Minneapolis, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Federal Government marshaled its forces today for an onslaught on the kidnapers of William Hamm, jr., St. Paul brewer, and Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil man, millionaires.

Activity veiled by silence balked efforts to confirm reports that warrants had been issued for five Minneapolis men, members of a liquor ring, and suspected of having been "pushers" here for part or all of the Urschel ransom money.

I. C. C. Still Is Held As Rate Authority

Power Not Repealed by Emergency Railway Act, U. S. Judge Rules.

Amarillo, Tex., Aug. 9 (AP).—Federal Judge Wilson ruled today that the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to pass on rates and routes of shipments has not been "repealed or amended" by the emergency railroad transportation act.

In a suit of the Quanah, Acme & Pacific Railroad to enjoin the Santa Fe from enforcement of a tariff filed June 1, under provisions of the interstate commerce act, Judge Wilson held that a Federal court was without jurisdiction. He ordered a temporary restraining order dissolved with instructions to the plaintiff to proceed before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The power of the coordinator is not absolute," he said. "The Interstate Commerce Commssion had the power to settle this matter when this action was first taken, and it still has it." The matter already is before the commission, the action having been filed as a test.

Tanker Destroyed By $20,000 Blast

Oil Craft Burns to Water Edge Off Rockaway; Two Escape.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The 75-foot oil tanker Glastce exploded about a mile off Rockaway Beach, Queens, today and burned to the water's edge, with a loss estimated at $20,000. No one was injured.

The small craft was en route from Brooklyn to Long Beach with a load of oil when the explosion occurred in the engine room.

Only two men, Capt. Ralph Fernandez and a helper, Chris Ashland, both of Brooklyn, were aboard. They took to the water in a dory and were rescued by police boats.

Tampa Girl Vanishes; 2 Named as Kidnapers

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 9 (AP).—Warrants were issued today for Hollie Bryan and Ike Sheets, Tampa, charging them with the abduction of Miss Agnes Johnson, 19, secretary to a doctor here.

The girl's father, H. O. Johnson, said no money had been demanded. He declared he has learned she went with a friend to a nearby cold drink stand Monday afternoon and had not been seen nor heard from since.

Flashes From the Radio Dial

By Robert D. Heinl.

THE sound effects heard every evening over the radio just as the George Washington is pulling out of the Union Station are the real thing. Likewise the sailing of the Norfolk & Washington boat from the Seventh street wharves, with the noise of the cheering crowd on the dock, is an actual recording.

In the George Washington broadcast the radio people for many months used a huge C. & O. locomotive bell, train sound effect records and called out their announcement in the style of a bona-fide train announcer.

To make it more effective it was later decided to have the announcement, the sound of the puffing of the engine, and the bell on one transcription. An actual recording was then taken of one of the George Washington trains leaving.

The railroad officials last week made another change toward perfection. Under the new method two transcriptions are used as well as an announcer. As listeners tune in now they hear a few strains of the old railroad song, "Casey Jones" before the announcer gives his enthusiastic talk about the George Washington. Immediately following the announcement the music comes on full strength while still another transcription is superimposed to give the effect of the train leaving the station.

The voice heard is that of a regular Union Station train caller. However, the one who cries "All ashore who are going ashore" in the Norfolk & Washington transcription is Arthur Godfrey, WRC announcer.

The departure of the George Washington may be heard every night over WRC at 6 o'clock and the Norfolk & Washington boat over the same station at 6:28 o'clock.

"NATIONAL RECOVERY—The New Deal in Action" will be the message tonight of Secretary of Commerce Roper in the NRA program, (WJSV, 10:30 o'clock).

Al Jolson will make a second appearance over WRC at 9 o'clock this evening in his NRR series (National Radio Recovery). Al made such a hit on his broadcast last Thursday night that he almost recovered from his previous unfortunate air appearances in one performance.

After tonight Jolson will undoubtedly have entirely recovered and thereafter can drop the initials altogether. Our old former hometowner is supposed to receive $5,000 apiece for his microphonic appearances and to be signed up for 40 weeks.

This would come to $200,000, which would go a long way toward settling the $500,000 Winchell sock-in-the-eye damage suit, if it ever has to be settled.

In a recent Death Valley Days broadcast Vernon Radcliffe, who once sang with the Amherst College Glee Club, but who, in his own words, "hasn't sung a note since," was cast to sing in the quavering voice of a 60-year-old hard-rock miner during a dramatic moment over the networks.

Radcliffe was greatly surprised when, as he began his song, he heard the voice of John White, the Lonesome Cowboy of the Death Valley program, chiming in.

It turned out that White hadn't rehearsed with the cast and didn't know that Radcliffe could sing the tune, so what had been intended to be a solo really came over the air as a duet!

"LABOR and the NRA" will be in authoritative hands this afternoon when Matthew Woll, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, takes up the subject in the American Legion Trade Revival series. (WJSV, 3:45 o'clock.)

Missouri will "show 'em" at their State day at A Century of Progress Exposition today. Young Senator Bennett Clark, son of the late Champ, will be in the front row with the silk hats. The Pullman Porter Quartet, sent to the fair by the Missouri Pacific Railroad, will liven things up musically. (WMAL, 4 p. m.)

"Paris en Fete" from the Floating Theater will likewise be heard from Chicago. (WMAL, 9:30 p. m.)

Elizabeth Lennox, contralto, and Theodore Webb, barytone, will be heard in the first of this country's programs in the "Hands Across the Border" series, a weekly interchange of broadcasts between Canada and the United States which will be heard here over WMAL at 9 p. m.

Besides the soloists there will be a large male chorus and an orchestra under the baton of Joseph Littau.

Marion Harris, Walter O'Keefe, Mrs. Jennie Moskowitz and Toscha Seidel will be on Rudy Vallee's variety show tonight. (WRC, 7 p. m.)

Marion Harris will sing several new songs. Mrs. Moskowitz, better known backstage as Mama Moskowitz, will introduce a sketch titled "Baby Carriage."

"INSECTS" will be the subject of Dr. E. A Chapin, Elementary Science Corps, D. C. Public Schools. (WRC, 12:30 noon.)

Mitchell Dreese in the George Washington University Forum will tell of "Popular Fallacies Concerning Human Nature." (WMAL, 7 p. m.)

A million meteors rain upon the earth every few minutes, according to Dr. Robert H. Baker, noted astronomer, whose talk tonight on "Stars of the Summer Night" will disclose many interesting facts about the celestial fireworks which are especially brilliant this month. (WMAL, 10:15.)

Dr. Webb W. Weeks, eye surgeon at the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, will tell of his experiences with "The Cross-Eyed Child." Dr. Weeks will explain the latest scientific methods of treatment for the deformity. (WJSV, 10:45 a. m.)

"The Devil in the Manuscript," by Nathaniel Hawthorne, will be presented over WJSV at 7:30 p .m.

Railroads Told Labor Must Not Bear Economy

Eastman Informs Carriers to Defer Such Plans; Employment Rises.

(Associated Press.)

The railroads were told yesterday by Joseph B. Eastman, Federal transportation coordinator, to postpone all "projects for economy at the expense of labor."

Simultaneously, Eastman said in a separate statement that reports to him from all class 1 railroads except one showed a net gain in employment on the carriers of 65,268 since June 1.

The coordinator's words to the railroads assumed the form of a notice that they must work out their general economy programs through the three regional committees created by law and not through independent groups of their own.

In a statement addressed to the three coordinating committees of the East, West and South, Eastman said maintenance by the railroads of separate committees to do the same work had the "earmarks of a device to avoid" the labor restriction provisions of the law. Similar contentions were made last week by railroad labor executives meeting in Cleveland.

Eastman asserted the railroads, from a long-range standpoint, must work toward the "utmost possible economy," but from the short-range point of view "projects for economy at the expense of labor should be postponed so that they may not in any way conflict with or imperil the supreme effort toward recovery which the Nation is now making."

Florida Man Arrested In $100,000 Forgery

New York, Aug. 9 (U.P.).—Detectives today arrested Janhem Seeman, 38, of Jacksonville, Fla., as a fugitive from justice and held him without bail for Florida authorities.

Seeman was taken into custody on the request of Special Attorney General Miles W. Lewis, of Florida, who told local authorities he was wanted in connection with a $100,000 forgery in the resort city in 1932. Lewis said four men already have been arrested as participants in the crime, one of them now serving a 15-year prison term.

Women's Ages Embarrass State Department Editor

Ladies Warn Wynne to Be Careful in Reporting Years in Register.

By John J. Daly.

Three ambassadors and a lot of lovely women have put the editor of the State Department Register "on the spot."

The three ambassadors, newly appointed, are holding out on the editor, failing to send in their biographies in time to beat the dead-line.

The ladies, at home and abroad, are warning the editor to be careful how he prints their ages.

In absence of the regular editor, Edward Cyril Wynne is holding down the job, wielding a wicked paste brush and a rusty pair of shears. A veteran of diplomacy, this is the first time "Ed" Wynne ever got into a jam like this—and he wants to get out of it, soon as possible, his friends says.

Soon the edition will go to press. One typographical error, concerning an age, and good-by Wynne.

Friends of Mr. Wynne console him with the fact that several ladies' ages are already public property—in Who's Who. Notably is this the case with Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, the first lady of the Register.

Also, some of the "stars" of the State Department have appeared in other editions of the Register. For instance, Miss Francis Elizabeth Willis, third secretary at Stockholm. She was really the first American woman ever to hold a diplomatic post abroad. Last year she acted as charge d'affaires at Stockholm.

Then there is Miss Constance Ray Harvey, vice consul at Milan, Italy. Okey, these. In a way, they rate as old-timers. There are others: Miss Anna A. O'Neill, assistant legal adviser; Mrs. Ruth Belaski Shipley, chief of the passport division, and Miss Margaret M. Hanna, chief of the Division of Coordination and Review. These names have graced the Register before. All except Miss O'Neill's carry date of birth.

Now comes the problem: What about all these young ladies who have come in under the New Deal? Are they going to let loose their secret? If they do, what will happen should some one make a mistake in the print shop?

The editor of the Register, burning the midnight oil, is checking and double-checking biographies these nights, his eagle eye scanned on women's ages.

Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Margaret R. Tuck, 36 S street northwest, Washington, has filed a cross complaint to the divorce action of her husband, Frank A. Tuck, formerly of New York City.

She charged extreme cruelty, as he did, but denied his allegations and contradicted his claim that there was no community property, listing $2,000 worth. Mrs. Tuck said her husband is a Virginia land owner and a "man of means." She asks $20 a month alimony.

Rise in Prices, Buying Hailed By Roosevelt

Gratified With Study of Money Charts; Woodin at Hyde Park.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 9.—A further clarification of President Roosevelt's monetary policy was given today in a press conference at the summer White House. With charts and graphs spread before him, the President indicated the 1924 price level to be his primary objective in the reflation program. Thereafter, a strenuous effort probably will be made to keep the price index relatively steady at approximately that level.

Although the "commodity dollar" was discussed there was no indication that any concrete steps would be taken soon in the direction of establishing that money basis. The President is moving cautiously in that general direction, according to all official indications. But the moment for announcing a clear-cut policy appears still to be perhaps several months away.

Buying Power Gains.

Statistics received from several Government agencies in Washington yesterday and today convince the President that the steady improvement in domestic business is continuing. The charts received from Washington today cover employment and production statistics up to August 1.

They show that with the reemployment program gaining momentum almost daily, the curve of purchasing power already is beginning to catch up with the curve of industrial production once more. The lag in the employment curve until about a month ago gave the President and his advisers considerable concern.

Today's statistics, as officially interpreted by the President, indicate that business recovery is moving steadily forward in a constantly widening stream. There have been purely speculative advances in some of the basic raw materials, but the cost of living has not advanced appreciably since April 1.

Normal Price Trend.

This tendency the President interprets as toward a general restoration of normal price relationships. Generally speaking, those commodities which suffered most severely in the price declines of 1929-32 have made the sharpest recovery since March this year, while those which declined less precipitately have come back with smaller upswings in the recovery movements.

All of these tendencies were surveyed by the President yesterday, when he conferred with Profs. George Warren and James Harvey Rogers, two of his closest advisers on currency.

Commodity Prices Up.

Today the President conferred on the same general subject with Prof. Irving Fischer, of Yale, who is also recognized as one of the foremost advocates of the commodity dollar.

The President was pleased to find that the general level of American commodity prices today was slightly above the five-year average for the period 1910-14. The level of stabilization at which the flexible money program aims generally, is about 40 per cent above this five-year, the prewar average.

It appears a reasonable assumption from today's official discussion of the subject that the President has not now the slightest intention of invoking any of the direct powers of monetary inflation. If business moves along as well during the next three months as in the past last quart r, it will then be about the proper time to take up seriously the question of permanent monetary policy.

Tonight the President conferred with Secretary Woodin, the first time in several weeks he has been with the Treasury head, who has been ill. The Secretary and Mrs. Woodin remained overnight at the summer White House.

New Sewer Plan Move Protested

Arlington Board Member Raps Antielection Proposal.

Lyman M. Kelley, member of the Arlington County board, yesterday characterized the contemplated move on the part of Chairman Harry A. Fellows to seek legislation eliminating an election on the proposed $2,250,000 bond issue for sewers as setting up of the board as a dictatorial instead of a governing body.

Kelley said the installation of the sewer system means more to the future development of Arlington County than did even the water system which was installed about four years ago, but that to attempt to proceed to expend $2,250,000, with an approximate increase in taxes of 30 cents on the $100 assessed valuation, without the approval of the voters, spells defeat for the project.

The plan of financing the project, as outlined by Kelley, is to apply to the Federal Government for a $2,250,000 loan under NRA provisions with interest at about 4 per cent. The act provides a gift by the Government of 30 per cent of the total loan.

Retailers Agree On Store Hours In Alexandria

Merchants to Recommend Maximum Period of 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

The Alexandria Retail Merchants Association last night received reports from committees recently appointed to interview all retailers and obtain their views on store-closing hours.

The association decided to recommend to a general meeting Friday night that the maximum hours be from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., and 10 p. m. on Saturdays, closing all day Sunday.

The hours already adopted for grocery stores are from 7 to 6, and 8 o'clock on Saturdays, although it has been reported that some of the stores are opening earlier and closing later.

Plans for the campaign to be inaugurated by the President's reemployment committee in Alexandria were discussed yesterday at a meeting in the chamber of commerce and are to be considered in more detail at a later meeting.

The officers attending were, general, Representative Howard W. Smith; lieutenant general, Mrs. J. Randall Caton; colonel (publicity committee), C. S. Taylor Burke; colonel (national recovery sales army), Robert M. Colvin; colonel (educational committee), John U. Reardon; major, first division, Frank W. King; major, second division, C. Page Waller; major, third division, George F. Downham; major, fourth division, Francis H. Fannon; major, fifth division, Mrs. Evelyn Dillard; major, sixth division, Mrs. O. Ashby Reardon; major, seventh division, Mrs. Elliott F. Hoffman.

The above officers are being assitsed by an advisory committee composed of Mayor Edmund F. Ticer and the heads of the various civic organizations in the city.

The names of 130 Alexandria merchants were added yesterday to the list of 84 already posted in the local potsoffice as entitled to display the blue eagle of the National Recovery Act. Postmaster F. Clinton Knight explained the names are not posted until received from the Norfolk office of the Department of Commerce. Many merchants were under the impression that the names were posted as soon as the agreements were signed, and have been inquiring as to why their names were not included.

The offices of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, now in the rooms of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, probably will be removed to the Federal Building, if the plans of the Chamber of Commerce to remove to new quarters are carried out.

The loan offices were expected originally to be in the Federal Building, but the offer of the trade body was accepted, as these quarters were located more conveniently. The corporation is understood to be without funds with which to pay rent.

Prince Georges Firemen Scout Dission Talk

Persistent rumors that the Prince Georges County firemen's convention parade would be greatly depleted because of dissension among the companies was discounted last night at Mount Rainier, site of the convention.

"And if there is dissension," it was declared, "there will be a parade, though it may be only the Mount Rainier company."

As plans went ahead for the gala event, to be held Saturday, a statement was issued, saying the convention was to be the greatest in the history of the county.

Many notables of the firefighting world will witness and judge the contests and parade. Among them are Chief George S. Watson of the Washington department, E. H. Warr, chief of the Insurance and Salvage Corps, Baltimore; Fred W. Baer, president of the International Firefighters Association, and Dr. David Price, dust explosion expert of the Agriculture Department.

The parade will begin at 2 p. m. Starting at the north end of the town, it will travel down Thirty-fourth street, through the business section, then on Perry street to Thirty-third. Going south on this street to Rhode Island avenue, it will proceed up Rhode Island avenue to Eldridge avenue and disband.

Following the parade a series of hookup contests will take place. The judges, from the Washington Fire Department will be Sergt A. F. Digleman, and Pvts. T. S. Porter and J. C. Chase. Judges for the parade will be Fred W. Baer and Dr. David Price. The rescue squad contests will be judged by Red Cross officials. The Washington Post trophy will be awarded to the winner of the booster pump contest.

Man Fined $25 For Selling of Beer on Sunday

Hyattsville Judge Holds in Test Case Hours Can Be Limited.

The law against selling beer in Prince Georges County on Sunday gained a technical "knockout" in Hyattsville police court yesterday.

In the first case tried since the return of beer last June 17, John Cooper, 35, of Cedarhurst, Md., was fined $25 and costs by Judge J. Chew Sheriff.

"Although I am in sympathy with a great deal that has been said for Mr. Cooper," Judge Sheriff declared, "the Legislature saw fit to enact this law. And if it has the authority to create the sale it has the authority to say when beer shall be sold."

Cooper, who was arrested last Sunday by County Policeman Claude Reese after a test case had been prepared by merchants, was defended by J. Wilson Ryon and George Merrick. Alan Bowie, State's attorney, prosecuted the case.

The defense was based on the contention that 3.2 beer should be classed as soft drinks since Congress had declared it nonintoxicating, and that the warrant did not contain the proper terminology.

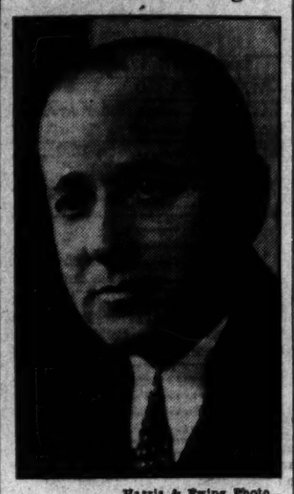

The arrest was the second made in the county since the effort on the part of the merchants to test a case. Jack O'Neal, of Forestville, Md., is awaiting a trial at Upper Marlboro, scheduled for Friday.

Hyattsville Chamber Visits Maryland "U"

The University of Maryland yesterday acted as host to the Chamber of Commerce of Hyatsville, a near neighbor. The idea of the gathering, it was stated by officials of the university, was to acquaint the Hyattsville citizens with the new developments of the institution.

The reception committee consisted of nine members of the faculty. The reception was preceded by a dinner, given by Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, attended by 24 prominent residents of this section.

Fairfax County Fair Is Limited To Horse Show

Drectors' Action Thought Prelude to Definite Abandonment.

It is believed action of the directors of the Fairfax County, Va., Fair Association for the second consecutive year will result in the definite abandonment of the annual county fair.

For some years the fair has lost money and the association has been able to maintain existence through the horse and pony show held in conjunction with the agricultural exhibits.

Last year the directors voted not to have the agricultural exhibits and at yesterday's directors' meeting it was believed the stockholders would not approve the fair and it was again voted to hold only the horse and pony show.

Estler M. Palmer, of Barcroft, Va., was reelected president of the association, with J. W. Gaines, of Baileys Cross-Roads, vice president; Robert D. Graham, of Fairfax, secretary, and E. S. Whiting of Fairfax, treasurer. In addition to the officers the executive committee will be composed of Albert R. Sherwood, of Fairfax, and J. V. Turner, of Falls Church.

The president and secretary were instructed to prepare a prize list for the horse and pony show and mail it to prospective exhibitors. The show will be held on September 8 and 9, according to the schedule of the Virginia Horse Show Association, whose rules govern.

Sylvan Concert By Army Band Charms 5,500

Old Favorites, Dance and Glee Club Feature Summer Festival.

Tunes that are old,
And notes that ring true,
Have been played for your granddad
And we'll play them for you.

Thus introduced, Capt. William J. Stannard presented "The Old and The New in Music" with the United States Army Band, assisted by Marian Chace and Lester Shafer, dancers, and the C. & P. Glee Club, conducted by Robert Davidson, in the summer music festival at the Sylvan Theater last night before a crowd of 5,500.

Opening the concert was "The Festival" (Beghon), dedicated to the summer festival committee, of which Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peeples is chairman. Sousa's great and stirring "The Stars and Stripes Forever," with twelve of the cornet-trombone section presenting a typical Sousa finale, followed.

Scmohl's arrangement of "Songs from the Old Folks," followed by Capt. Stannard's pot pourri of "Gay Nineties" selections went over in a big way, with the first half of the program closing with Strauss' "Blue Danube," and Teike's march, "Old Comrades."

Chace-Shafer Dancing.

To the music of Beethoven's lilting "Minuet in G," Marian Chace and Lester Shafer danced their first number.

"Home on the Range" and "The Boys of the Old Brigade" (Parks) comprised the first group of the C. & P. Glee Club, male chorus of 24 singers, well-trained with lively modulated voices.

"Music of Today," the second part of the program, was introduced by "Pride of the Capital," a new march dedicated to the United States Army Band by Maj. R. J. Hernandez, U. S. A., retired, conducted by the composer. "My! Oh My!" (Gordon and Revel,) and a "Medley Fox Trot," arranged by Thomas F. Darcy, associate leader of the Army Band, were conducted by him.

Audience Joins Chorus.

To the music of Friml's "La Danse des Demoiselles" Miss Chace did her solo and to "The Red Man" (Sousa), Mr. Shafer offered his interpretation of the American Indian. The Glee Club's offerings in part two were "Ol' Man River" (Kern), and "Auf Weidersehn" (Romberg).

Part two closed with selections from the Pulitzer prize-winning "Of Thee I Sing," followed by the glee club's singing "Auld Lang Syne," with the audience joining band and club.

Sponsored by Capt. and Mrs. Kendall J. Fielder and held under the auspices of the Community Center Department, this summer music festival was truly a memorable occasion, for seldom has the Sylvan Theater held such a delightful combination of talent.

Dancer Suing Modjeski Again

Girl Charges Builder of Bridges, Known Here, Broke Promises.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Miss Jeanne de la Mar, a dancer, today filed in Supreme Court a renewal of action she originally brought in 1931 against Dr. Ralph Modjeski, bridge builder, alleging breach of promise.

In addition she filed suit against a New York attorney, Charles M. Sheafe, jr., alleging that he, posing as her friend, induced her to drink intoxicating liquors and, while under the influence, sign a general release of the $1,000,000 claim for alleged breach of promise against Dr. Modjeski.

The present action for alleged breach of promise asked $500,000 damages, half the sum sought in the 1931 suit. She claimed a settlement of $35,000, only $1,500 of which has been paid.

Miss de la Mar charged that Dr. Modjeski promised to marry her in December, 1930, both here and in Washington, while he was still the husband of Mrs. Felice Benda Modjeski. The suit said that instead of marrying her, Dr. Modjeski married Mary T. Giblyn.

Dr. Modjeski, senior partner in the firm of Modjeski, Masters & Chase, of Philadelphia, has been a frequent visitor to Washington, consulting with the District Commissioners on bridge projects.

The proposed plan for a steel span on the new Calvert Street Bridge, turned down last week by the Fine Arts Commission, was drawn by Dr. Madjeski's firm. He is the son of Helen Madjeska, the celebrated tragedienne.

5-Cent Bus Fare Decision Is Today

Virginia Lines Desire Rate for Intra-District Passengers.

The Public Utilities Commission is scheduled today to issue its delayed order in response to the applications of nearby Virginia bus lines to do a 5-cent intra-District business.

Whether the order will instruct the Washington Railway & Electric Co., to establish a 5-cent trolley loop service to accomodate Federal employes along lower Fourteenth street and in the Southwest is conjectural. Such a course has been urged by the commission's special counsel, William A. Roberts and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech.

It is believed, however, that the commission will reject the applications of the Alexandria-Barcroft-Washington Rapid Transit and the Arlington & Fairfax Motor Transportation Co., to do an intra-District business on a 5-cent fare.

The Federal Diary

(Trade-mark Applied For)

By George D. Riley.

THERE is a woman, perhaps 65, in Commerce. She has no job. She has not had any in several weeks. She was "economy-ed" out. She has put in 25 years and has prepared many reports of importance. One report was the basis of a $5,000,000 decision in New York State. She is trying to complete a report in which 26 nations are interested, yet her own Nation is not interested in seeing her retained long enough even to complete it. The work she does now brings no income.

Four orphans depend upon her. She has been their life and hope.

YOUNG woman in Agriculture, or rather Three A's, has been assigned the job of preparing information to the farmers. It seems she will tell farmers how to plant their oats and other knickknacks.

"Now what shall we call it, news information?" was a question in her mind.

"Just call it press release," was the obvious suggestion.

THEODORE POPE, Duplicating Section, Commerce, is highly in favor of the "New Deal." This idea of increasing employment is sure a good one, says Pope. Since advent of NRA and the subsequent increase of personnel in Commerce Duplicating Section, to handle NRA work, Pope has had to do very little "overtime," as compared with the old days.

"I still work pretty hard," he says, "but I don't mind it a bit, because my hours are regular."

Standard Wage Paid on School, Catalano Says

Contractor Also Reports Most of Back Pay Has Been Adjusted.

The Catalano Construction Co. late yesterday filed with Corporation Counsel William W. Bride affidavits showing that prevailing wages are being paid all trades on the Phelps Vocational School, with the exception of bricklayers and laborers, and that back pay adjustments have been made.

David Wiener, counsel for the Baltimore contractors, also announced he would appeal to the District Commissioners today to reverse their decision that the prevailing wage for unskilled laborers up to August 1 was 35 cents.

No settlement has been made in the case of bricklayers, according to Dominic Catalano, because the subcontractor refused to abide by the Commissioners' order and subsequently was discharged. The bricklayers were paid so much a thousand brick, he said, and consequently the contractor has been unable to ascertain their working hours.

At a recent public hearing, bricklayers testified they were paid 62½ cents an hour, whereas the prevailing wage is $1.50.

The contractor offered evidence to show he now is paying the prevailing wages to carpenters and structural steel workers and that he has made adjurtments for back pay. Carpenters previously had complained that they were paid 50 or 60 cents an hour, whereas the prevailing scale is $1.

Approximately $4,000 in back pay was involved, Catalano said.

Wiener said his client would be willing to pay 35 cents an hour to laborers now, but that he thought the scale should not be retroactive, because no one of authority was able to state at the public hearing that there is a prevailing wage scale for laborers. The scale of 75 cents for hodcarriers likewise has not been adjusted because of the discharge of the subcontractor.

Volunteer Tutors Sought for Home

Reduced School Budget Cuts Off Financial Aid to Wards.

Elementary instruction for the wards of the Florence Crittenton Home, 4759 Conduit road, will depend on voluntary teachers this winter.

Heretofore instructors have been provided for the home by the Board of Education, but recent cuts in the school budget prevents such aid this year.

Mrs. Leonard Olree, chairman of the committee on education of the board of managers, has issued an appeal for volunteer teachers for night instruction in elementary grade subjects, sewing and domestic science. Volunteers are requested to communicate with Miss Jean S. Cole, superintendent of the home.

Police Asked to Find Escaped Love Bird

Love birds are popularly believed to die of grief following the loss of a mate.

However, one of the tiny creatures owned by Mrs. Isabel Burton, 1207 Park road northwest, escaped from its cage yesterday and flew out of the house, apparently in search of the mate that died three days ago.

Mrs. Burton asked the aid of police in seeking the bird, and offered a reward for its recovery.

$753,232 Aid Grant Is Given To Maryland

$2,377,820 Advanced to Texas and $35,000 to Idaho by U. S.

(Associated Press.)

Unemployment relief grants of $753,232 to Maryland, $35,000 to Idaho and $2,377,820 to Texas were announced yesterday by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

The Maryland grant, which brought that State's total to $1,213,996, was on a basis of one Federal dollar for every three spent by the State for relief during the second quarter of the year.

Idaho's contribution came from the discretionary fund and does not have to be matched.

It was made to cover "extraordinary relief expenditures owing to the recent Kootenai River flood." The total for Idaho thus was brought to $216,370.

The relief administration, in making the Texas grant, notified Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson it could "make no further grants to Texas until Texas provides a substantial share of the money required to care for its unemployed."

The grant was from the discretionary fund and does not have to be matched by the State. It was made after Texas submitted information that amounts that could be made available within the State, including Federal funds granted on a 1-to-3 matching basis, would not be sufficient to meet the needs through August.

Movie Scouts Pick 5 Girls on Wilson Boats

The new winners are Mildred Richardson, 1601 Argonne place northwest; Mae Whetstone, 1301 Seventeenth street northwest; Verna Early, 620 Maryland avenue northeast; Helen Schanberger, 3348 Military Road, Chevy Chase, and Ruth Troulard, 1350 Quincy street northwest.

The hunt for talent closes Sunday night, and then the girls who are picked daily will be arranged on the stage of Loew's Fox Theater and to one of them awarded the honor of going to Hollywood, with all expenses paid to appear in the movie, "Eight Girls in a Boat."

Each day, Paramount scouts ride the Wilson Line boats and select girls from the passengers. Monday night, all will appear at the Fox, and representatives from The Post, Paramount studios and the theater will choose the winner.

The contest started Monday. There are no entry blanks to be filled in. No rules are set for the contest. All a girl has to do to compete is to ride on one of the four Wilson Line boats each day.

Details of the search are published daily in The Post. Eight American cities are conducting similar hunts for talent, and each of them will send a girl to Hollywood for the picture, "Eight Girls in a Boat." When this is finished the girls will get a chance for real film fame.

I drive for pleasure

. . . says one AMOCO-GAS user

"AND I want every mile to be a pleasant mile. No ping, ping, ping of carbon every time I hit a grade. No exasperating gear shifting every time I take a stiff hill or drop into a line of traffic. When I step on the starter I want action--instant action. I want riding ease--driving ease --and a motor that runs like a watch.

"That's why I buy AMOCO-GAS! It gives me these things.

"But do you think I pay extra for these motoring luxuries? I do not! I've got it all figured out. The added mileage of AMOCO-GAS more than wipes out the lower initial price of "regular" gasoline. So these comforts cost me nothing. They're as free as air."

That is true. On a cost-per-mile basis, the cost of AMOCO-GAS--the original special motor fuel--is actually less than that of "regular"--or any other special motor fuel!

So why buy only mileage? Get the many luxuries of AMOCO-GAS with it! And since the premium has been reduced 2¢* a gallon your motoring costs are even lower!

Trickery Charged In Arizona Vote

Probe Foundation Warns Victory May Result in Boomerang.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (AP).—A "technical" victory for repealists liable to become a "boomerang of Nation-wide proportions for the liquar interests" was the description given the Arizona repeal vote today by the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation.

A statement by the Foundation declared the "election itself was carried out in the midst of judicial controversy which the drys have taken before the supreme court, attacking the validity of the ballot.

"There is revealed such a cumulative exhibit of political trickery and intimidation over the past 60 days that it bids fair to become a boomerang of Nation-wide proportions for the liquor interests."

Voteless Precinct Is Problem

Fauquier County Ponders What to Do With Section, Former Election Standby, That Casts No More Ballots.

Warrenton, Va., Aug. 9 (Spl.).—Another Fauquier County tradition has passed, and something must be done about it. The precinct of Fiery Run, a small one in the northwest section of the country, either refuses to vote, or can not vote, or has no votes to cast. And since Fiery Run Precinct, like the State of Maine, always has been considered an arbiter in elections, politicians are thumbing books to see if they can abolish the precinct. Things don't look good as they are.

During the recent primary, the election judges went out there, opened up shop and sat around all day without a vote being cast. They brought the books back without a pen scratch, and the ballot boxes empty.

For years, decades ago, local folks watched Fiery Run, then well populated at election time. "As goes Fiery Run, so goes the county," they said, and it usually worked. The precinct presented a solid Democratic front. Now it has no front at all; all voters have either moved away, or turned Republican or done something equally disconcerting.

True, it is a mountainous section, and mountain folk in Virginia often have really important things to do, and can't bother to vote. Sometimes it is 'possum hunting; sometimes it has to do with twisted copper pipes and outdoor cooking, but the new corn ears aren't yet ready for still use. Local Democrats may do something about this lost battalion.

Missouri Votes Next on Repeal; Wets Favored

(Associated Press.)

The tide of prohibition repeal, having overwhelmed physically arid Arizona, swept on toward Missouri last night with its advocates ostensibly in sight of their goal.

Repeal elections yet to be held this year in sixteen States will bring the total voting to thirty-seven. That is one more than the thirty-six required to expel the eighteenth amendment, should all favor the measure supported by the National administration.

Arizona's referendum Tuesday made it the twenty-first State to express opposition to the prohibition amendment. Not one has favored retention.

Missouri, where prohibition forces did not put forward slates of delegates at many recent precinct meetings, votes August 19. Texas, which last year was recorded 2 to 1 for submission of prohibition to the people, follows August 26. Washington winds up the August elections with a vote on the twenty-ninth.

Through action of the Colorado Legislature this week, its citizens will express their sentiment September 12, electing delegates to a convention September 26. Formal proclamations have not been issued in Colorado or Utah—scheduled to vote November 7—but these are considered certain to be forthcoming.

Other States to vote in September are Vermont, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Idaho and New Mexico. Florida will be at the polls October 10, and the Carolinas, Pennsylvania, Utah and Ohio will vote November 7. An election after December 5 has been authorized in Oklahoma, but it is likely to be postponed until next year.

Roosevelts' Friend Chosen.

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 9 (AP).—Arizona's vote in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment mounted above a margin of 3 to 1 tonight while the State acclaimed Mrs. Isabella Greenway, friend of the Roosevelts, as its probable next representative in Congress.

A convention September 5 formally will ratify the twenty-first amendment to the Federal Constitution. Fourteen delegates, all pledged to repeal, were chosen at yesterday's special session.

The count, with 94 isolated precincts, estimated to represent from 1,500 to 1,800 votes, missing from the State's 444: For repeal, 35,123; against repeal; 10,414.

Mrs. Greenway, school chum of the wife of the President, is the first woman in the Baby State's 21 years to aspire to Congress.

Her nomination by the State's Democrats, tantamount to election, was nearly 4 to 1 over her nearest opponent, Harlow Akers, Phoenix attorney.

Doctor's Plans To Rewed Held Poison Motive

Mississippi Prosecutor Prepares for Hearing of Woman.

Greenwood, Miss., Aug. 9 (AP).—District Attorney Arthur Jordan was working today on the theory that plans of Dr. John Preston Kennedy to remarry his divorced wife provided a motive for his death of poisoning.

Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, 33-year-old woman specialist in children's diseases and former clinical associate of Dr. Kennedy, was being held in the Greenwood Jail charged with murder on the basis of a death bed statement of the doctor.

Hearing Next Week.

Since Dr. Kennedy's death Sunday, ten days after he said he had been given poison by the woman doctor in a glass of whisky at her home, the district attorney has been assembling witnesses and evidence for a preliminary hearing next week.

Until the preliminary hearing, the laws of Mississippi require that Dr Dean remain in jail. Dr. Dean has refused flatly to discuss the case, referring all inquiries to her attorney.

Barry Chandler, West Point, cousin of Dr. Kennedy's divorced wife, said they had set the date of their remarriage and were looking forward to providing a home for their daughter.

Death Bed Story Quoted.

On his death bed, Dr. Kennedy was quoted as saying he had called on Dr. Dean at her home, which she shared with an aunt, and in drinking whisky from a glass, he recognized the taste of poison.

He left the home, he was quoted as saying, and for five days attempted to rid himself of the poison. Realizing his treatment was not a success, he said, he called in other physicians, who sent him to a Jackson hospital where he died.

In 1924 Dr. Kennedy married Miss Bessie Barry Brunson. They were divorced last spring.

Unemployed Itinerants Decrease in Washington

Fewer unemployed itinerants are passing through Washington, Louis B. Nichols, room secretary of the Central Branch Y M C A., said yesterday.

"Formerly we received 25 to 30 requests for free rooms daily," Nichols said. "Since the new deal, the number has decreased steadily."

Troops Guard Kansas Vaults In Bond Fraud

U. S. and State Officials Sift Forgery of City Issues in Topeka.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 9 (AP).—National guardsmen took up sentry duty in the marble halls of the Kansas treasury today while State and Federal officials pressed an inquiry into the clever forgery of at least nine issues of municipal bonds.

Presaging possible action by the State legislative council against Tom Boyd, State treasurer, Gov. Landon ordered the National Guard vigil together with a check of Boyd's records by State accountants.

Loss Indefinite.

Gov. Landon said he did not know "how far this scandal is going to reach," and other officials could only conjecture whether more than $658,000 in spurious bonds, revealed yesterday, would be uncovered.

One set of forged bonds, Gov. Landon said, was in the treasurer's vaults, representing security for State deposits in three banks, which have been closed coincident with the investigation. Another spurious set with a purported value of $329,000 was said to be in Chicago, supposedly in the hands of brokers.

The original bonds—forged in duplicate—are the property of the Kansas School Fund Commission. Exactly how or when they were copied has not been disclosed, but officials who signed the original bonds said the forgeries were nearly perfect.

Bond Broker Accused.

Ronald Finney, known as a bond broker and grain speculator, was under $25,000 bond pending a hearing September 5 on a specific charge of uttering $20,000 in forged bonds to the National Bank of Topeka, which was not affected by the closing orders.

One of the institutions closed, the Fidelity State and Savings Bank at Emporia, is headed by W. W. Finney, father of the broker. He said it would not open soon.

"It isn't safe to open the bank until we know for sure," the elder Finney commented. Other members of the Finney family are interested in the Eureka State Bank and the Farmers State Bank of Neosho Falls, also closed.

The Stylefinder Family

A Busy Day

By Mary Brook Lucas

The passports have arrived and the time before sailing shortens. Mother starts out early for a busy morning of shopping and social duties later in the day. She wears a stunning coat of black ribbed wool, lined with white China silk. A soft black felt hat with single pearl ornament makes a stunning frame for her face.

"I wonder if I have enough color on my lips?" queries Judy, pausing for a last look in the mirror before leaving for a dinner dance. The only note of color in the reflection is her red mouth! She wears a lovely white organza, its waist rippling with ruffles which rise on the left shoulder into a huge, ruffly rose.

"Why the helmet?" teases Father Stylefinder. "Am I the Warrior's Husband?" "Oh, you are just behind the times if you haven't seen Schiaparelli's original hats. This is one of her best," Mother replies gayly. The model is of black velvet, with a plume of tabs of velvet ribbon.

"Why doesn't Howard hurry!" wonders Jeanne plaintively. "We have to meet the Gibsons first, and they are always on time." The party is going to a smart New York hotel roof to dance. No wonder Jeanne is anxious to start, for she is wearing her brand-new ostrich feather cape of an entrancing shade of Nile green.

Executive Huddle on Brassiere Industry Code May Push Prices Higher

Luncheon Sets Match China; Is Latest Fad

By Ann Davis.

Country cousin had never seen the like. When the maid carried her bags upstairs she gaped after her. The floors shone with polish and the carpets were 2 inches thick. She didn't like this walking where she couldn't hear herself.

Upstairs her eyes opened wide. Mirrors, five of 'em in one room, just as though a person couldn't see out of one. Humph!

She cautiously pushed open the door and peeped into the bathroom. Land sakes alive! Look at that rain contraption with them fancy curtains. Made of the same material as Aunt Molly's Sunday go-to-meeting dress, moire, they call it, and look at them drapes, same's around the rain thing. Humph.

The way city folks throw money around! (She didn't dream that the set of window and shower curtains to match in a water-proof fabric cost only $9.50).

The newest dictum in table styles is "have your luncheon sets woven to match your china."

A Connecticut avenue shop weaves them for you in natural colored linen or cotton with deep fringes, and combining shades according to your preference. A service for six, $6.50.

A red bird perches on a black wooden beam fastened to the gatepost. A lovely bird, cut very carefully from hardwood. On a plaque hanging from his perch was the house number in square metal figures. No vain searching here, the bird catches your eye and greets you with its cheery look. Another red bird, perched high on a black weather vane, stood in the garden. The pair, on sale in a M street shop.

Summer curtains will soon be down and out. Fall curtains will be hanging in their places. If you want the attractive new designs, consult an F street department store.

The drapery buyer says plaids will be as good in curtains this fall as they were in frocks this summer. And when you see the new plaid nets just in, you'll know he's right. They come in all colors, and are moderately priced at 40 cents a yard.

As the shopper made a tour of the shops her wonder grew at the drastic reductions she found in summer merchandise. There seemed to be no telling what would be reduced next, nor how low the price.

Look at those little sequin jackets—they sold for $12.50 a few balmy days ago. Now they are $5. One is white net, the other black, both studded with silver sequins that shine and sparkle in a dazzling way.

If milady would insure the satiny texture of her skin she will do more than wash her face in soap and water, or cleanse it with cream, says the buyer of the cosmetics department in a downtown store.

There is, on the market now, she continues, a preparation that removes blackheads after a few applications, and minimizes the size of pores.

Turn on the lights and scent your room. Nonsense! No, not nonsense, incense. It's a new kind. You put one drop on your light bulb and the heat spreads a fragrance all over the room. A choice of three scents, lilac, jasmin or wistaria, for 50 cents.

You don't mind daughter's sleeping late. That's to be expected. But you do object to her unkempt appearance at "brunch." A department store makes a good suggestion. Buy her a pair of the cool pongee lounging pajamis. They'll insure her neat appearance, they're sasy to slip into and comfortable. Price, $2.50.

There are many summer dresses on sale now, but none cooler and jauntier than those the shopper saw for one dollar. If you like piques, they are there, in plain colors or with contrasting yokes. To top the bargain are little matching berets. The green or blue striped seersuckers are particularly sporty. With low prices and fetching frocks, there's no excuse for anyone's late summer rundown look.

Copper pitchers, bowls, and vases, in unusual shapes, gracefully curved, and sharply squared, were grouped on the table. Their brightness reflected the objects d'art around the room, and threw splashes of light on the opposite wall. One of these gleaming vases on your library shelf will considerably enliven and enlighten your room.

One of the loveliest sets is in gold-plate encrusted with seed pearls and rhinestones to match either this, that, or the other, in your wardrobe. Each piece, $1.00.

Women's Interests Protected by Array Of Specialists From Johnson's Staff

Aria Marie Schwartz, artist on the staff of the Woman's Department of The Post, gives her impressions of an executive meeting to formulate a code of fair competition for the corset and brassiere industry of the United States.

Lengthy Session Hearings Climax Hours of Public Testimony on Code.

Howard-to-Johnson-to-Roosevelt.

That was the double play expected last night as representatives of the NRA and manufacturers of brassiers and corsets came out of an executive huddle in which a code of fair competition was formulated.

But instead of such a play meaning two outs, as it does in baseball, it will mean that another industry has fallen into line behind the NRA's Blue Hawk.

May Boost Prices.

Dr. Earl Dean Howard, deputy administrator in charge of women's apparel for the NRA, has his report on the proposed code ready. It was expected to reach Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's desk today, and from there it goes to President Roosevelt for final approval.

And this code may mean more to women than appears at first blush. It is believed that it may establish a minimum price of $1 on brassieres, which is considerably above prices Washington women have been paying for good quality brassieres for some time, according to Ann Davis, shopping expert of The Washington Post.

Women's Interests Protected.

Although specific information on the code will not be available until it is signed by the President, leaders of the industry are known to have asked for a ban against display forms advertising a corset, combination, girdle-corset or step-in-corset retailing for less than $2, or a brassiere or bandeau retailing for less than $1.

Employes will be asked to work a maximum of 40 hours a week, according to terms of the original code. Women employes will receive

$13 a week as a minimum. Men will receive $1 more.

Another provision of the original code states that demonstrators shall be limited to one week and not more than twice each year in any store.

The women of America may be sure that their interests have been protected through the various stages of the code since it reached Washington.

Public hearings were held for two days. Then leaders of the industry and officials of the NRA went into executive session.

Representing the NRA were Dr. Howard, deputy administrator, and his staff of five, three of whom represented the consumers, the industry and labor. The other two were Dr. Howard's legal adviser and his research assistant.

Sun's Rays Aid In Treatments For Oily Skin

Over-Exposure Detrimental in Many Ways; Nails May Become Very Brittle.

By Elsie Pierce.

So much is being said behind Old Sol's back nowadays that he deserves a boost, particularly since his blessed rays can be beauty aids when taken in the proper doses.

In the first place, no one can gainsay the fact that the sun is an excellent health and beauty tonic, providing the direct, burning rays are avoided. Or at least if exposure is timed so that the skin gradually builds up resistance.

Otherwise painful burning, coarse texture, wrinkles and large pores may result. Likewise with the hair, too much sunning causes dryness and bleaching. Nails, too, suffer from too much sun—become dried out and brittle.

For Oily Skin.

However, for the skin that is excessively oily, that in spite of balanced diets, skin tonics, ice rubs and friction refuses to refrain from oozing oil and shining like all whatnot, sunbaths are the thing.

Sunbaths may at first make the oil glands and the perspiration glands as well more active, but in no time these glands will be functioning normally.

For Oily Hair.

For oily hair, ditto. The sun will help to dry out the excess oil on the surface and the heat will stimulate the circulation, helping the scalp to greater health.

Sun baths are excellent for relieving acne too. The oily skin leads to blackheads. Acne is the next stage. Heat will help to fight all three. It softens the pores. It increases perpiration, which means greater efficiency in pore cleansing.

Don't Overdo.

There's just one warning. Although the sun is excellent to fight off the above-mentioned beauty ills, it is neither necessary nor wise to overdo. No need to stay in the direct rays of the sun for hours and hours on end. Studied doses are so much more satisfactory.

Add to the sunning, the benefit of a balanced summer diet with plenty of fruits and vegetables, more water (much more), a little more exercise perhaps if you are not accustomed to, any and you have a splendid beauty program for counteracting oiliness in skin and hair and warding off blemishes too.

A copy of my general, well-balanced diet will be sent you on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Culbertson on Bridge

A Howell Top.

OBVIOUSLY when a Declarer makes four notrump on a hand in a Duplicate game on which every other player either only makes three or goes down one, he richly deserves the top score which he must surely get. The Declarer on the South hand below deserved all the more credit for his very fine result because the best possible Opening lead was made against him.

South, Dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1◇	Pass	2◇	Pass
2NT	Pass	3NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

No comment need be made on the bidding—the final declaration of three notrump is the correct one for the hand.

West's Opening lead was his fourth-best club—the 8-spot. For the purpose of concealing his own weak club holding Declarer went up with the Knave in Dummy, which card held the trick. At this point Declarer saw that he might have difficulty not only in making overtricks but even in fulfilling the contract. He also realized that since the game was being scored on a match-point basis, the making of overtricks was almost as important as fulfilling the contract.

Even to make three-odd it was obvious that no diamond trick could be lost. To trick 2 South led the diamond King from Dummy and followed with a low diamond. The only knowledge of the hand that he had up to this point was the fact that West held at least five clubs. He felt fairly certain of this because if East had held four clubs he would have played a higher card than the deuce on the first trick. The fact that West had two more clubs than East was a controlling one and caused Declarer to finesse for the Queen of diamonds rather than play for the drop. In addition there was the possibility that even if the diamond finesse went wrong and West won the trick, he might conceivably not continue with clubs; whereas if a diamond trick must lose to the East hand, a club continuation throu Declarer would naturally ensue.

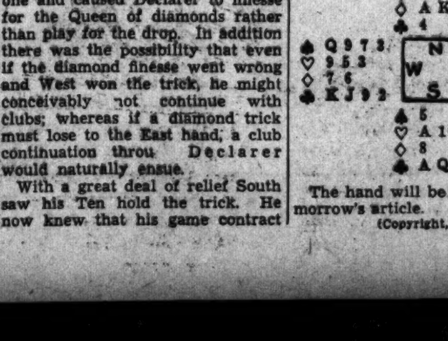

With a great deal of relief South saw his Ten hold the trick. He now knew that his game contract was assured. However, he saw considerable hope for making overtricks if the West hand held either the spade King or the heart Queen. Accordingly, South now immediately ran the diamond suit. The West player had to find four discards and all four times chose to discard spades. Since West was a very skillful and deceptive player these spade discards did not indicate that West held no spade honor—as a matter of fact, Declarer's first impression was that West held the spade King and was blanking it as quickly as possible to avoid an impending end-play. A slight bit of thought, however, told South that this could not be the case, as if West originally held five spades to the King, in addition to five clubs to the Ace-King, he most certainly would have overcalled one diamond with a bid of one spade, and that West, in addition to holding on to his good clubs, bust be guarding something in hearts.

Declarer's line of play from this point on was simple. After running his five diamond tricks, he led his Ten of spades, and when West discarded a club, his suspicions were confirmed. The Ace of spades in Dummy won this trick and a low heart was returned, Declarer winning in his own hand. He now led his Queen of clubs and the West player was completely trapped. All he could do was to cash his clubs and then, at the twelfth trick, lead away from his heart Queen. South quickly put up the Knave from Dummy and won the last trick with the Ace in his own hand; and the 440 points he scored for bidding three notrump and making four got him a clear-cup top-score. As a matter of fact, making three would have been above average considering the Opening lead, as none of the other players took the diamond finesse, and, with a club Opening, if this finesse is not taken, the contract must be defeated one trick. Even with some other Opening, three-odd is the maximum that can be made once a diamond trick is lost.

Tomorrow's Hand.

With North and South reaching a contract of seven hearts, what plan of play affords the best chance of making his contract, the Opening lead being a small spade?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Fox Leads Other Furs for Fall Style Coat Trimmings

Long-Haired, Fluffy Type of Furs, Pulled Closely Around the Face, Gives Full Benefit of Its Soft Flattery; Wide Collars Chic

Amos Parrish Tells What's In Fashion

It doesn't matter what color and fabric and style of coat a woman chooses—it's never right unless the fur is becoming. That's an axiomatic fact which needs no proving. And also one reason why fox continues to head the list of fashionable fall coat trimmings.

Certainly there is no fur so universally flattering as fox (or furs of the long-haired fluffy types similar to fox.)

It's soft and feminine. It can be almost any shade you like because it takes dyes so beautifully.

This fall it's going to be even more becoming than usual. Because it's used closer up around the face so you get the full benefit of its soft flattery.

It's apt to stand up high and be spread out wide to give shoulders that fashionable "up and out" look.

Of course all fox collars won't stand up so high as the one in the sketch. (This is the highstanding, short shawl collar with epaulet extensions . . . in technical fashion language.) This is one of the more youthful ways of wearing it.

But even the one-sided shawl and the jabot shawl which so many women like are built higher than they used to be and spread out wider.

Loose Ends.

The ends of shawl collars are sometimes left loose and then they can be worn criss-crossed or with one end fastened high and the other low or hung down in Paquin's boa fashion.

Silver fox, blue fox and black fox are favorites. The silver is especially smart on the new oxford gray and the black gives great elegance to black coats.

With these new higher, wider fox collars it's most fashionable to have no fur on the sleeves. But if you do want fur on your sleeves, have it placed high up near the shoulders to carry out the broader shoulder idea.

When you come to the other fashionable furs—mink, kolinsky, dyed squirrel, Persian and caracul—you'll find them used in many different ways.

Intricate Trimmings.

Because they're shorter-haired they can be manipulated more easily and made into intricate yokes, epaulets, plastons and sleeve insets.

Mink, kolinsky and squirrel are particularly effective on brown coats, since their blended browns are so right looking.

Persian and caracul are fine in brown on brown coats, too, or in black on black coats. And one of the very smartest combinations you can wear is gray Persian on Oxford gray fabric.

(Copyright, 1933.)

Explain Why When Timid Child Inquires

Simple Psychology May Be Applied by Mother to Aid Retiring Child.

By Alice Clarissa Richmond.

The child who will not play games for fear of being laughed at, and prefers to retire to his chosen nook when the other children are on the tennis courts or in the water often needs special study.

The chances are that somewhere in his early childhood something occurred, probably some very trivial episode, that made him the object of laughter for the crowd and threw him back on himself.

He was too small to explain the matter to anyone and so relieve himself of the burden of shame which rankled even after he had forgotten the incident.

Becomes Timid.

He determined never again to expose himself to such ridicule and keeps away from situations where he is conspicuous and not adept.

In time such a child finds the world of books, and in them creates a realm in which he is supreme, thus compensating for the disadvantage at which he finds himself with other less self-conscious children.

The only cure for such a state of mind is to delve back painstakingly and exhaustively into his recollections of the past until the significant episode is found.

Explain Trouble Away.

Then in imagination reconstruct the course of events and show him the picture, explaining to him how it must have affected him at the time and how it is continuing to warp his life.

This common-sense treatment may have to be repeated many times before it makes any impression on the child's mind, but if his interest eventually can be aroused to the point where he will cooperate with you to overcome the difficulty, the battle is won.

Looking at the situation and its hidden source for some reason removes the embarrassment, and the child comes to realize that his difficulty is due, not to innate weakness, but to a passing episode.

Summer Costume Accessories of Crepe Paper.

The crocheted envelope bag with matching belt is a new idea from Paris. If you want a lovely set to wear with silk, woolen or cotton sports clothes, one that will cost next to nothing, crochet it from crepe paper cut into strips. The smartest handbag of the season is yours for the making, in solid color to match your costume, or in stripes of two or three colors. The bag is crocheted in a straight piece, 9 by 18 inches, so that when folded twice into an envelope, it measures 6 by 9 inches. It may be lined with silk to match and, if desired, a slight stiffening of muslin or butcher's linen may be used inside the lining. The belt is crocheted the long way and made as wide or narrow as desired.

Jellied Veal Shank.

Veal shank
½ pound veal round
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onions
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
6 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika

Mix all ingredients. Cover and cook very slowly 2½ hours. Strain stock and remove meat from bone and chop cooked veal round. Mix chopped meat and strained stock. Pour into glass mold. Cool and chill until stiff. Unmold and serve cut in slices.

Thief

By Katherine Smith.

You stole the necklace of the night,
Her strand of stars, that you might wear
A diadem whose brightest light
Would dim beside your gleaming hair.

You took the wan light of the moon
When all the world was still with sleep,
You caught the night wind's lilting tune
To make your voice soft and deep.

And when you could no longer cheat
And hoard the gifts of Night and Day,
You came on hushed and hurried feet,
And stole this heart of mine away.

What Today Means

By Mary Blake.

"Leo."

If August 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 9:50 a. m., from 3:30 to 4:15 p. m., and from 7 to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:10 p. m., and from 9:45 to 10:55 p. m.

Influences operating on this date will quite possibly prove enervating; you will not feel quite "up to par." You may find it difficult to reach a decision of any magnitude. People, generally, will not mingle pleasantly in small social gatherings but will seem to attempt to outdo and outtalk each other. Children will be very much on the minds of their parents.

The child born on this August 10 will not be lacking in good judgment, but will be an unconventional little being, one that will bring embarrassment to his parents on more than one occasion. He will be inclined to talk a great deal and to speak too frankly of personal and family affairs. He will be well liked by everyone and should go far in this life.

If August 10 is the date of your birth, you are probably among those people who always look well ahead and plan what they will do after they have devoted their lives to some so-called useful career. You will probably never get a great deal of pleasure out of your work, but you will work hard and steadily because you believe it is the right thing to do. You will feel that the last years of your life, spent in quiet contentment and in doing the few things that you would like to do, will more than compensate for the time previously put in. Moderate success should be yours and you should terminate your career with a tidy little sum put to one side. You will never startle the world with your ideas, nor will you ever shock the world by your missteps.

Born on August 10, you will more than likely spend much time in the pursuit of some stimulatnig hobby. You are very much at ease in the company of strangers and you have a way of drawing people out conversationally. You are probably an educated person and one who is extremely well mannered. The women born on this date are inclined to be a bit affected in both their speech and dress, but often this is due to nervousness. Yours is not a romantic nature.

Beans and Squash Selling at Very Low Prices; Wait a While Before Buying Peaches for Canning; Good Hams Selling at Reasonable Price.

By Hoyt Bamett.

At least three kinds of beans and as many varieties of squash are selling at prices which nearly force the economical housewife to include some of each on her daily menu.

The latest addition to the list is wax beans. They look like the ordinary string bean except for the color. They are yellow. And very good.

Ham prices are down, too. They are selling by the half ham as low as 19 cents a pound for excellent quality. Some of the Virginia-cured is very good.

A satisfying way to prepare ham is to parboil a thick slice, sprinkle it with sugar and brown it under the broiler. Most of the cooking will take place in the parboiling. If the ham is left too long in the broiler it will dry out.

Ham shank helps any pot of beans.

Potato Cakes Good.

Here is a tip for the housewife who will be busy tomorrow night preparing fish. Boil an extra amount of potatoes tonight for dinner. Mash them as usual, and save the left-over portion for tomorrow.

Drop an egg into the cold mashed potatoes. Add a little flour and some baking powder. A small amount of milk and some salt will complete the mixture. When fried as patties the potatoes will taste better than they did mashed—and as for going with fish, these potato cakes go with fish like ham goes with eggs.

Several satisfactory fish products are available for Friday. But more about that tomorrow morning.

Peaches Coming Slowly.

The supply of really good peaches is not picking up as rapidly as expected. Elbertas, of course, are available. But they don't look like the kind you want to can, either from the standpoint of price or of quality. You won't be hurt by waiting a few days longer.

Present offerings are very good sliced and served with cream—especially if one has a few hot biscuits to go with them.

Early kohl-rabi has made its appearance on the market. If you like both cabbage and turnips get some kohl-rabi and enjoy the flavor of both vegetables in one. They should be well covered by water while cooking.

Corn on the cob is better than it was last week.

Peppers are cheaper right now than at any time this esason. Some stores sell the green ones three for a dime. They make a good addition to a luncheon menu.

Walt Mason, Himself

The Hoodooed Man.

JIM BEESWAX said, "You know, I never had a show; the adverse fates were at my gates, harpoons and things to throw. Unlucky from my birth, although of sterling worth, I've garnered kicks where other hicks found life a thing of mirth. All hoodoos ever known have marked me for their own; all hard luck guys must realize I'm in a class alone. I've seen less gifted wights ascend to dazzling heights, while every scheme of which I dream goes broke between two nights. I've seen less gifted skates assemble coin in crates, while, busted flat, I pass the hat, and train with homeless mates. I've seen less gifted gents collecting gorgeous rents, while I must sleep in ditches deep, for lack of 20 cents. I've seen four-flushers stride in panoply and pride, while I must slink on ruin's brink; and hunt a place to hide. I am the hoodooed man, I'm nature's also ran; and while I strive to rise and thrive, the jinx spoils every plan." His watchful neighbors say, "James never baled much hay, or cut much grass, because, alas, he was such a lazy jay. He has no use for toil, for rules laid down by Hoyle; and then he thinks it is the jinx that doth his efforts spoil."

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Evans.

THE weather man is quoted as having given the temperature today as "100 in the shade." A man was overheard to say, "I am tired of hearing people say it is 100 in the shade. When it is 100 there is no shade. I've walked a quarter of a mile in the sun and I have found no shade. What I want to know is how hot was it where I was at—and that was in the sun."

The temperature of the blood in the human body is somewhere near 100. When the thermometer is placed under the tongue it registers something over 98. When a properly constructed thermometer is placed on some fairly well protected skin area the temperature records somewhere near 96.

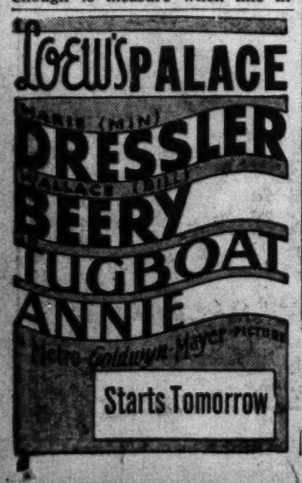

The human body is making heat all the time. The foods supply some heat, digestion itself makes some—even thinking makes heat enough to measure when fine instruments are used. Muscle work makes a great deal of it. The excess must be gotten rid of. This is done by evaporation of sweat and of water from the lungs by radiation and conduction and by secretion of the glands of the body. The great bulk of the excess heat is discharged to the air.

When the temperature of the air rises above 100 and especially when it goes much above that, there is a slim chance that the body can hand it any heat. The exchange is apt to be in the other direction. One of the best methods of cooling the skin is by blowing air against it. If the air so blown is much below 90 we call it a cold draft and complain of the discomfort. When the air is hotter than 100, having it blown against the skin increases discomfort. If it is much above 100 the discomfort is great.

We lose much of our excess heat by the evaporation of water, especially from the skin, but there is a limit to the possibilities of evaporation. If the air is humid, as well as hot, evaporation is at a minimum. Sweat that runs down the face and that soaks into wet garments does not evaporate and has little cooling action.

Sunlight itself has heat that it imparts to things it strikes. It can pass through glass and through some fabrics and it can be absorbed. And, so far as comfort is concerned, there is a vast difference between "100 in the shade" and "120 in the sun."

The temperature of the air is of importance in determining what kind of clothes we wear, what color, what fabric, what weave, what cut, what kind of hat, whether we shall fan or sit in a draft; what kind of work we shall do; what we shall eat and drink.

Rubber-Steel Plants Facing Labor Moves

Nation's Basic Industries Feel Federation Attack Under NRA Banner.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 9 (AP).—Two of the Nation's basic industries, rubber and steel, which have maintained a traditional open-shop policy in years past, are beginning to feel organized labor's spearhead attack under the NRA banner.

From Akron, center of the rubber industry, came word today from labor spokesmen that 1,500 workers have joined the United Federal Union of Rubber Workers there under the aegis of the American Federation of Labor.

In the Youngstown and Cleveland steel districts, organizers announced, approximately 2,000 Youngstown workers have joined the A. F. of L. unions, and that a meeting has been called in Cleveland this week for about 200 workes who have signed applications for membership.

Federation Faces Task.

That the federation has taken upon itself a stupendous task, however, is shown by the fact that there are 60,000 workers in Akron factories, 27,000 in Youngstown's steel and allied industrial mills, and 12,000 to 15,000 in Cleveland's steel mills.

Executives of steel and rubber companies have maintained silence in the face of the unionizing campaign, but indications that labor's inroads may not be going unnoticed is seen in recent appeal of the Akron Labor Council for an investigation by the Department of Labor of alleged discrimination against union sympathizers.

At Youngstown, Henry Bernon, Federation organizer, has refused to make public the names of officers of the new union organization in the steel-producing mills on the ground that he is "afraid these men would lose their jobs if they became known."

P. W. Litchfield's Stand.

P. W. Littchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., which has had a system of employe representation in effect for several years, in address recently referred to the company union as an advantageous form of organization for both employer and employe.

Also the rubber industry itself has taken the initiative toward higher wage levels, the last of two wage increases being announced today in four large Akron plants. Today's increases ranged from 5 to 10 per cent in several departments of the industry at the Goodrich, Firestone, General, and Goodyear plants. The last previous wage increase was 10 per cent on July 15. It was not revealed whether these increases restored all of the reductions made since the depression began.

Company unions or employe representation plans were successfully organized in some Youngstown steel mills immediately after the national recovery act became effective, while the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. has had such a system for several years.

In their campaign, union organizers are making much of provisions of the national recovery act that employers can not refuse to treat with labor organizations.

"This time," said Wilmer Tate, secretary of the Akron Central Labor Union Council, "we are going over the top. We've got Uncle Sam behind us and the weight of public opinion—we'll move slowly, but we'll place every one of Akron's rubber shop employes in the ranks or organized labor before the end of the year."

Associated Gas Output Of Electricity Boosted

New York, Aug. 9.—Net electric output of 52,863,842 units (kwh) is reported for the week ended July 29, by the Associated Gas & Electric System. This is 7,879,797 units, or 17.5 per cent greater than in the corresponding week of last year. On the other hand, gas send-out of 263,500,900 cubic feet for last week was 7,963,600 cubic feet, or 2.9 per cent less than the system's send-out in the same period of 1932.

Reports from the various operating units in the Associated System indicate that the increased load is entirely from industrial demands, all of which is sold at rate within the lowest brackets on the property schedules.

Toledo Coal Business Reaches 1929 Record

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 9 (AP).—Ohio's booming lake cargo coal business has reached 1929 proportions at Toledo, U. S. Bureau of Mines records show.

During July shipments of coal through the Toledo harbor reached 2,191,000 tons, the best showing for the month since 1929, when shipments totaled 2,258,000 tons. This compares to 1,259,000 tons in July last year. Toledo ranks first on the Great Lakes as a cargo coal port.

Bond Market Breaks Leash For New Gains

Prices Rise Two-Tenths as Sales Volume Totals $11,420,000.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The quietude that has pervaded the bond market for a week was partially broken today when secondary railroad liens registered a broad advance, and were followed somewhat hesitantly by the rest of the domestic list.

Despite the improved tone, volume was little better than in recent sessions, with total sales approximating $11,420,000, par value. The average for 60 representative issues rose two-tenths of a point, to 81.1.

Carrier bonds of speculative flavor followed a familiar pattern in developing buoyancy as shares rose. Low-priced issues of Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Denver & Rio Grande, Louisville & Arkansas, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate and New York Central jumped 1 to 2 or more points. Prime issues were steady.

Utilities were mixed. High-grade bonds in this group were quiet while a few issues in the lower-price category moved ahead. Postal Telegraph 5s gained 2 points in an active market.

Strong features in the industrial list included B. F. Goodrich 6s, which rose 1¾ points following the company's favorable earnings report.

United States Governments were quiet and fairly steady. Most dealings were in Liberty 4th 4¼s, which yielded five-thirty-seconds of a point in heavy trading.

Foreign loans did little. Exceptions were some issues of Argentina, Australia and Japan which gained fractions to 2 or more points.

Stocks Continue Rise Under Heavier Sales

Trading Gains Speed Near Close as Advance Averages 3.4 Points; Alcohol Issues Lead; Turnover Increases to 2,566,750 Shares.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Elated by its success of yesterday, the stock market lengthened its stride today and bounded over the finish line with a burst of speed.

Gains were registered over a broad front and final prices pushed forward 1 to 5 points. The best quotations were scored near the close. Volume totaled 2,566,750 shares. Or more than 1,000,000 above that of yesterday. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics composite of 90 stocks rose 3.4 points.

Starting in a firm manner, the market seemed to gather courage and momentum on the home stretch, and during the last half hour early advances were extended on transactions which frequently ran into four figures.

The alcohol issues proved to be the most palatable of the list, advances in this group ranging from 1 to 6. A keen appetite for motor shares was also evident, with Chrysler and General Motors conspicuous favorites. Rails and utilities lagged a bit behind the industrials, but turned in a good score, nevertheless.

A firm trend was revealed in the commodity markets, too, although performance there was not quite on a parity with stocks. Wheat advanced 1 to 2½ cents a bushel and cotton, after being up around $2 per bale, closed from $1.20 to $2.35 higher. Bonds were firm.

The dollar was slightly easier in the foreign exchange markets, but fluctuations were narrow and trading quiet. Rubber, sugar, hides, silk and most commodities held steady to firm throughout the day.

The day's grist of news revealed several facts which Wall street viewed with satisfaction. After operating for the past six years in the red, the American Woolen Co.—one of the country's premier industrial units—turned in a profit for the first six months of 1933.

Keen interest was centered on reports in Wall street that the administration was satisfied with the manner in which commodity prices, production, employment and the cost of living were levelling off in relation to each other. It was understood that these subjects were on the top of the agenda which President Roosevelt discussed with some of his monetary experts at the "summer White House" at Hyde Park.

In the stock market, gains of from 1 to around 5 or more were registered by American Can, Santa Fe, Auburn, American Telephone, Delaware & Hudson, American Commercial Alcohol, Bethlehem Steel, Commercial Solvents, J. I. Case, Chesapeake Corporation, Johns-Manville, International Harvester, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Union Pacific, Westinghouse, American Tobacco "B," National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, New York Central and Pennsylvania.

New York Central Lines Loading Higher in 1933

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The freight movement of the lines of New York Central Railroad last week showed some recession from the previous week. Total cars handled amounted to 104,759 against 109,635 the week before and 74,914 in the corresponding period last year.

Last week's gain over the 1932 loadings was 39.8 per cent against an increase of 43 per cent in the previous week.

Gains on Curb Broaden Under Active Buying

Prices Rise From Opening as Sales Mount to 366,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Trading activity broadened somewhat on the Curb Exchange today as renewed buying interest appeared in alcohol issues and various industrials.

Prices were improved from the opening and steadily worked higher for closing gains of fractions to around 4 points. Activity increased in the last hour to bring the day's approximate sales to 366,000 shares, compared with 224,000 for Tuesday.

Among the larger gainers were General Tire & Rubber and Humble Oil, up 4¾ points each. Gains of 3 or more were registered in Dow Chemical, Pan American Airways and Tubize Chatillon. Hiram Walker finished with a 3-point advance. Other "wet" shares up about 2 included Schenley Distillers and Distillers Corporation-Seagrams.

Utilities firmed 1 to 2 in such leaders as Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric and Commonwealth Edison. Mining and investment trust shares were also higher.

Wall Street Briefs.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Wall street heard today that necessary month-end adjustments may be reflected in a small rise or fall in the unfilled tonnage figures of the United States Steel Corporation as of July 31, which will be published tomorrow. Demand for steel products has continued at a good rate, but guesses varied as to what extent production, which two weeks ago was at 53 per cent of capacity, had been affected.

J. Cheever Cowdin has been elected chairman of the board of Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc. He was formerly a vice president. E. R. Breech and Lamotte T. Cohu were elected directors, the latter succeeding Leonard Kennedy, who retired.

Oxford Millwork Plant Announces Wage Raise

New York, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—One of the most substantial wage increases announced since the National Industrial Recovery movement got under way ten days ago, averaging 25 per cent to all employes, has just been made by the Oxford Millwork Co., of Oxford, Pa., largest manufacturers of kitchen cabinets in the East.

In a letter to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, National recovery administrator, announcing this increase the company states: "Kitchen cabinet and furniture manufacturers have not as yet agreed upon a code. When such a code is completed we will become a signatory to it. Pending the completion of such a code, we are making an increase of 5 cents per hour, or an average of 25 per cent in our entire pay roll."

Foreign Markets.

(Associated Press.)

London—Influenced by the success of the Canadian loan and cheap money, gilt-edged securities were actively strong on the stock exchange and dragged on investment buying.

A firm opening due to traffic reports falling short of expectations. International issues and industrials were more active and well supported on better Wall street reports. The market closed firm.

Paris—Although trading was light, prices on the bourse held steady. International issues followed the strength in Wall street while rentes led French issues upward. The closing was steady.

Berlin—A better tendency was exhibited on the boerse owing to today's Reichsbank statement which showed an increase in gold holdings and a decrease in paper circulation. The closing was sustained.

Brazil Studies Aid to Industry In Amazonas

Revival of Rubber Output Is Among Aims of Federal Experts.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 9 (AP).—Federal "economic and financial occupation" of Brazil's upper Amazon country may be the remedy to revive that vast dormant region.

Recommendations that the government take over the finances and develop near-bankrupt Amazonas State, once the world's wealthiest rubber source, were presented to a federal commission on state finances by Senhor J. Catramby, economist.

Aims to Revive Rubber.

These would attempt to revive the rubber industry on scientific principles and also develop tropical agriculture, cattle raising, lumbering, fisheries, utilization of medicinal plants and the export of alligator and snake leather.

Nearly three times as large as Texas, but with only a half million people, Amazonas has gone from bad to worse financially since the rubber boom collapsed a score of years ago. Expensive, haphazard collection of the wild product, coupled with heavy export taxation, crushed the native industry, while European capitalists invested more than $770,000,000 to grow rubber in the Orient.

The wide Amazonas domain, bordering on six foreign countries, is potentially rich and by no means entirely jungle.

Vast Plantation Lands.

Along the Rio Negro alone, in the northern part of the state, where exceptionally fine tobacco is grown, the federal government owns plantation lands covering an area greater than Belgium. Federal and state governments hold millions of acres of land which might be usable.

Some of these lands, under Senhor Catramby's proposals, would be made agricultural colonies. Others, such as those along the Rio Negro, would be devoted to nurturing a cattle industry.

The program would be financed by issuance of Amazonas state obligations, purchasers of which would be able to turn them in for buying agricultural or timber land cheaply. The government also would indemnify the state for land ceded to Bolivia many years ago, and part of the proceeds used to settle the Amazonas debt, long in default.

First Step in Plan.

The first step in the plan would be division of the territory into economic zones under charge of federal experts. River transportation assures easy communications, but would be bolstered by air lines.

Experimental stations would be set up in the various zones. Some would demonstrate culture and preparation of the scores of fibrous plants that already grow wild.

Others would encourage production of industrial oil plants, tobacco and plants for perfumery making.

The hardwood lumber industry would be systematized for the first time in Brazil's history.

Fisheries to Be Opened

Fisheries stations would be installed to extract oil from the "fish-ox," so called because of his great size, and prepare dried fish for the Brazilian market. The country now imports dried cod in large quantities, whereas the Amazon has millions of fish, larger than the cod, with a similar flesh.

Small industrial stations would utilize for export bird skins, alligator and snake skins.

In Manaos, the state capital which once boasted the finest opera house in South America—built with rubber money which bounced away when the boom collapsed—small factories would be established to make rubber articles.

Goods Markets.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Inquiries for sheetings and other unfinished cloths are increasing, but sales continue light. Percales were advanced to basis 16 cents for 4-4 80 squares, up 100 per cent from the low. Rayon production for September is well covered with orders. Silk goods are selling moderately. New prices are being arrived at in the wool goods division to operate under the code beginning next week. Burlaps are quiet and barely steady.

U. S. Treasury Receipts.

(Associated Press.)

The position of the Treasury on August 7 was: Receipts for August 7, $10,537,380.33; expenditures, $21,790,635.59; balance, $788,689,646.61. Customs duties for month, $6,707,417.03.

Receipts for fiscal year (since July 1), $221,399,580.49; expenditures, $367,521,270.27 (including $112,351,300.55 for emergency relief). Excess of expenditures, $146,121,709.78.

Credit Official Hits Gambling In Stock Crash

Henry H. Heimann Blames Investing Tip Services in Misleading Public.

By Thomas M. Cahill.

The Washington Association of Credit Men has received valuable information about the recent market break. Henry H. Heimann, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, has given it information on this situation.

Drastic liquidation in both stock and commodity markets, Mr. Heimann informs the local unit, was the inevitable reaction of "gambling tendencies of some of the people and the undue influences these factors bring to bear on the normal legitimate fair-market value objectives of the exchanges."

Mr. Heimann also fires a broadside against the so-called "investing tip services." He says that market actions such as occurred recently exact an unfair toll from business, since the confidence of the people in the stability of any real improvement is injured.

Chance In Game.

Some day, he believes, men and women may know that they haven't even an outside chance of beating the game by playing it without rhyme or reason. While factual information is essential to the investor, much of the so-called investment service, he says, is so "touting" in character as to serve as an indictment of the reasoning ability of men who have presumably at least attained the age of reason.

It should suggest itself to any thinking man, he reminds, that if these services were even 60 per cent prophetic, those who sell them are wasting their time and effort in securing subscribers. They had better utilize their funds to back up their own judgment, for in that manner they would profit tremendously more than in the sail of their services at a nominal cost.

Mr. Heimann urges complete co-operation with the Government to bring about reemployment. He says that while mediums through which this objective is sought are extraordinary, the situation is critical and can not be dealt with through ordinary measures. Continuing on this point, he declares the need for reemployment before snow falls makes the immediate appeal necessary and that it is better to have men at work and have business make some sacrifice by putting them to work than to have business face a dole.

Sound Banking in Future.

The sound banking institution of the imediate future will have a well organized credit-rating department, Mr. Heimann predicts. On this point he says the credit department of the bank should be its most important and efficient department. Not only should its personnel be of the highest type but the officer in charge should be of equal rank with other managing officials.

The ideal credit department in a bank, he reveals, should be divorced from the loaning personnel and as a condition precedent to make a loan, the loaning personnel should have before it an appraisal of the credit department on every applicant for a loan or a line of credit.

With such an appraisal, the loaning officer can remove any personal interest, bias, or prejudice and know that he at all times has before him a fair and impartial appraisal of the credit responsibility of the applicant. This, in effect, would make the credit department a medium for appraisal of all loans. Many banks would have avoided a lot of grief had such a system been in effect during the past ten years, he states.

Insurance Policy Loans Reported on Decrease

Philadelphia, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—The Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Philadelphia, reports a sharp decrease in applications for policy loans and cash surrenders during the month of July, despite the recent modification of restrictions on the payment of cash and loan values by the insurance commissioners of the various States.

The net cash demand through loans and cash surrender during July amounted to only $1,048,000, the lowest figure since September, 1930, and a decrease of 38 per cent from the July, 1932, figures. Repayment of outstanding loans totaled $119,000.

Wheat Values Rise Again on Wider Buying

Expect Government Report to Show New Drops in Spring Yield.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (AP).—Maximum gains of more than 3 cents a bushel for wheat resulted today from enlarged speculative buying that embraced all cereals.

Belief prevailed that the United States Government crop report to be issued tomorrow afternoon would show a new reduction of indicated yields of spring wheat, and of corn and oats as well. In addition, much notice was taken of extreme scantiness of the movement of wheat and corn from rural sources to primary market centers, a circumstance reported to be specially disturbing to processors and mills.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2 to 2⅝ cents above yesterday's finish; corn, ⅝ to 1¼ up; oats, ⅝ to 1⅛ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 32 cents.

Wheat Defies Setbacks.

With only brief setbacks because of profit-taking, wheat prices climbed almost the entire day. From the outset, trade sentiment friendly to the buying side of every kind of grain was due in part to firmnes of securities, and was also helped by the known attitude of the Government favoring higher commodity prices. Notice was likewise taken of talk that recent rains in Canada had come too late to aid wheat production.

Mills bought wheat futures both here and in Minneapolis. Commission firms with Eastern connections were also prominent as purchasers, and shortly before the close of trading wheat prices advanced to the highest levels of the week. Brokers said numerous orders for wheat were coming into the market to buy in case of a decline.

Crop news as to corn was especially unfavorable. A leading Chicago specialist, after a 900-mile trip through Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, estimated that 40 per cent of the crop needed until October to mature, and that 30 per cent of the remainder was abandoned or would return only fodder with a few ears. Oats shipping demand was larger.

Index Is Higher In Wholesale Commodities

New York, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—The fifth successive monthly gain in Dun's Index Number of Wholesale Commodity Prices lifted the figure for August 1 to $156,134, an increase of $6,956, or 4.7 per cent, over the position it occupied on July 1. The percentage of gain, however, was not so wide as that which occurred between June 1 and July 1, when 6.6 was recorded.

When compared with the $128,761 at which the index stood on August 1, 1932, there has been an increase of 21.3 per cent, while there has been an advance of 22.4 per cent from the March index of $127,606, which was the lowest point for the current year.

The lowest level to which the index receded in 18 years was on July 1, 1932, when it touched $125,316. The rise from that point to the current month represents a gain of 24.6 per cent.

Cotton and Wool Higher.

Of the seven components which form the index, the largest increase this month appeared in the clothing division, due to the higher level reached by raw cotton and wool, and the advanced quotations on finished cotton and woolen goods.

The miscellaneous group owed its better position to the higher prices of lumber, hemp, paint materials, and fertilizers. The strength in metals was provided by pig iron, wire nails, anthracite coal, petroleum, tin, lead and copper.

Breadstuffs did not repeat the good showing of the previous month, because of the reaction of all grains during the middle of July, and the slow rate at which recovery proceeded. For malting barley the widest gain in this group was recorded, although wheat, corn, and oats were slightly higher than a month ago, but their stronger position was nullified by the sharp drop in rye.

Showing of Meat Poor.

The poor showing of meats was due to the lower quotations for hogs and sheep, and the lack of any wide pick-up in beef quotations. The slight gain in other foods was contributed by sugar, coffee, rice, and spices; hops were lower.

Dairy and garden was the only division in which a decline appeared. This was due chiefly to the lower prices of butter, eggs and vegetables, as milk. Long Island potatoes and apples were higher.

Monthly comparisons of the Index Number follow:

Employment Gains In Baltimore Area

Baltimore, Aug. 9 (AP).—Dr. J. Knox Insley, Maryland commissioner of labor and statistics, reported today that factory employment in the Baltimore area increased 9.7 per cent during the month ending July 15, and factory pay rolls during the same period increased 14.1 per cent. These increases, he said, reflect the upward surge in both jobs and wages that began about March. Since that time, he said, each succeeding month has shown increases over the preceding month.

The employment increase for the month ending June 15 was 1.9 per cent, and the pay roll increase 8.5 per cent. At the same time Dr. Insley's report was made, a statement from the Baltimore Emergency Relief Commission showed a decrease in the number of Baltimore families receiving care from welfare agencies.

The number of families under welfare care here last week was 23,580, a decrease of 164 over the previous week. Approximately 300 families have been removed from the list of those requiring aid from welfare agencies during the past two weeks.

Industry Holds To Volume as Buying Widens

New York, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—The outstanding phenomenon of the current business situation is the surprising maintenance of industrial volumes, says the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, in a current survey, which continues in part:

"Enough time has elapsed since the various codes became operative for output to slump materially, if the business world were as badly scared as some of its members professed to be, or if big precode inventories had been accumulated. Yet production of both steel and automobiles, after hesitating momentarily as though about to turn downward, has steadied and is riding through traditionally dull August at rates close to recent peaks.

"Retail trade figures, though July comparisons show considerable gains, do not indicate that the public is launched on a buying spree, yet goods are evidently finding their way to the consumer in large amounts, since even the new wage and hour schedules do not force producers to turn out goods which can not be sold.

"These facts should carry weight, since they tend to show that the real drive behind the recovery is a plain, understandable impulse on the part of the public to fill up the commodity vacuum left by nearly four years of privation. Codes, 'buy now' movements, inflation and the other forces that have been invoked appear to be merely the decorative details, which may be helpful but which are not fundamental factors in the recovery."

British Agricultural Area Cut 2,000,000 Acres in 10 Years

London, Aug. 9 (AP).—British agriculture continues to shrink. The loss in total arable area, according to the first part of the 1932 statistics just issued by the ministry of agriculture, has been about 2,000,000 acres in 10 years.

The total grain area alone, which in 1922 was 6,000,000 acres, has decreased each year until it was 4,000,000 acres last year.

The area planted in vegetables similarly declined from 1,200,000 acres in 1922 to 810,000 acres in 1932.

Notable exceptions to the general fall, which the report says "can be fairly attributed to the effect of legislation," are the increase in wheat acreage, attributed to the anticipation of the wheat act, and the horticultural products act affording encouragement to home producers.

While the amount of land fit for cultivation declined, a considerable increase was reported in the number of all kinds of live stock, except horses.

The downward trend in employment is revealed in figures showing that since 1923 the number of workers reported employed on agricultural holdings exceeding one acre had fallen by 75,000 or 10 per cent.

Notable reports for 1932, compared with 1931, were:

Agricultural land, 29,359,000 acres, a net reduction of 36,000 acres; crops and grasses, 25,206,000 acres, or a loss of 77,000 acres; arable area, 9,366,000 acres, a loss of 216,000 acres, and area actually under crops, 6,956,000 acres, or a reduction of 45,000 acres.

Cattle increased 5 per cent, sheep by 4 per cent, while the number of pigs reached the highest total in any year except 1924.

Department Store Sales Gain in Year

Department store sales in the country as a whole were 4 per cent higher in July of this year than they were in the same month last year, according to a preliminary report of the Federal Reserve Board.

This increase was not effective in this Federal Reserve district, where July, 1933, sales were the same as in July, 1932. Total sales for the first seven months throughout the country were 13 per cent below totals for this period last year. This reduction is partially due to buying power diminished by the bank moratorium in March.

Sales in July showed the usual seasonal decline over the June sales. The board's index, which is adjusted for seasonal changes, shows that sales were 69 in July as compared to 68 in June and 67 in May. The 1925-1929 average is the basic figure used in computing this index.

Wool Market.

Boston, Aug. 9 (A.P.) (U. S. Dept. of Agriculture).—Trading in wool is very limited in volume, but prices on scattered sales are steady. A moderate quantity of strictly combing 58s, 60s, half-blood Ohio fleece wool brought 32 cents in the grease while other lots are firmly held at 33 cents. Twelve months Texas wools are quoted at 75@78 cents, scoured basis. Combing Texas wools mostly shorter than twelve months staple have sold in limited quantities at 73@75 cents scoured basis.

World's Cotton Consumption Sets High Mark

New York, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—World consumption of all growths of cotton during the cotton season just over was the largest since the 1929-30 season, according to the New York Cotton Exchange Service. During the 12-month period from August 1, 1932, to July 31, 1933, that is, the 1932-33 season, world spinners used approximately 24,725,000 bales of all kinds of cotton as against 23,007,000 in 1931-32, 22,329,000 in 1930-31, 24,826,000 in 1929-30, and 25,803,000 in 1928-29.

"The increase of 1,718,000 bales in consumption of all growths of cotton from 1931-32 to 1932-33 was almost entirely due, says the Exchange Service, to the large increase in the use of the American staple, which rose from 12,506,000 bales in 1931-32 to 14,132,000 in 1932-33, a gain of 1,626,000 bales.

"The world carryover of all kinds of cotton on July 31 was approximately 15,530,000, on the basis of preliminary returns, as against 17,412,000 a year ago; 13,946,000 two years ago; 11,113,000 three years ago, and 9,367,000 four years ago. The reduction of 1,882,000 bales in the carryover from the beginning to the end of the past season marked the first reduction in the carryover since the 1928-29 season.

The carryover of American cotton on July 31 was 11,975,000 bales, as against 13,228,000 a year earlier, a reduction of 1,253,000 bales, and the carryover of foreign growths was 3,555,000 bales, as against 4,184,000 a year earlier, or down 629,000 bales."

14-Year Security Chart Is Issued

New York, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—Hornblower & Weeks are issuing a 14-year chart of the security market, based on the Dow-Jones averages. This has been prepared, they state, to assist in interpreting the business recovery from a stock-market standpoint.

They add: "Following the reopening of the banks last March the return of confidence started a business recovery, giving the people a new hope. Talk of inflation, improving business and mental relief combined to sponsor an almost uninterrupted uptrend between April and July of record proportions. An overdue technical market correction occurring at the time the administration switched the emphasis on its recovery program from 'price raising' to the launching of 'NRA' does not appear to have altered the underlying fundamentals."

The chart gives a graphic record of the monthly trend of the security market from January, 1920, up to date, showing changes in the industrial, rail and utilities stocks and also in the bond averages.

Standard Oil Company Reduces Gasoline Price

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 9 (AP).—A reduction of one-half cent a gallon on gasoline, effective Thursday, was announced yesterday by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio.

The new prices will be 16½, 14½ and 13 cents a gallon on the company's three respective grades, plus 4 cents State tax and 1½ cents Federal tax. The change follows a similar decline in the wholesale market, the company's announcement said.

Cotton Regains Loss as Trade Begins Buying

December Sells at 10.17 as General Market Rises 24 to 27 Points.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The cotton market today just about recovered the losses which followed yesterday's official crop report.

The recovery was due to trade buying or covering and rebuying by recent sellers who appeared to be influenced by the firmer action of grain and the stock markets.

December contracts sold up to 10.24, or 32 points net higher, and 56 points above yesterday's low level and closed at 10.17. The final tone of the market was steady at new advances of 24 to 27 points.

Offerings Readily Absolved.

Initial prices were unchanged to 4 points lower. Offerings were quite readily absorbed.

At the best, active months showed net advances of 31 to 32 points, but fluctuations were irregular.

Port receipts, 12,618; United States port stocks, 2,985,268; exports, 1,356, making 145,200 so far this season.

Output of Steel Is Standing at Former Level

New York, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—While at some points a slight recession has been noted in steel finishing schedules, the rate of ingot production is maintained at close to recent levels, averaging around 55 per cent of capacity in the Pittsburgh district.

Unfilled orders and specifications to be released by August 15 are estimated in sufficient volume to afford continuation of production for several weeks at a good level, though new business has fallen off and consumers apparently are awaiting adoption of the steel code.

Prospective tonnages for construction and other materials are likely to fill the gap caused by a seasonal let-down in other finished lines. The plate producers continue at a high rate of operation, though makers of sheets and automotive materials hardly anticipate second-quarter requirements to be reached during the remainder of the third quarter. Miscellaneous steel buying also shows signs of a temporary lull.

Regular Prices Stand.

Regular quotations for finished descriptions are being maintained, pending the filing of new prices under the proposed code. Tie plates have been advanced $3 per ton to $38, Pittsburgh, the current figure on railroad spikes being reaffirmed. Railroad needs have expanded moderately, though buying from this source still is not on a broad scale, and equipment orders are limited. Wrought iron pipe and merchant tubular goods have accumulated fair-sized tonnages and producers in these departments are able to arrange better working schedules. Warehouse stocks in tool steel, cold-rolled bars, and other specialties are being brought closer to normal.

The situation remains firm with primary materials, inquiries for scrap still representing good-sized tonnages. Heavy melting steel is quoted $13.75 and $14, Pittsburgh, and $10.50 to $11 at Chicago. Furnace coke for prompt shipment is at the minimum, $2.50, at oven, labor troubles in the Connellsville district tending to curtail output of steel-making interests. Pig iron quotations at the recent advance are being strictly observed.

Output Lower in Chicago.

Steel output began the week at 56 per cent of capacity in the Chicago district, off about 6 points from its recent peak. Heavy specifications brought the total of sales and specifications for the last week in July to the best level of the year. New business, however, was slower and was hampered by price uncertainties. Plans for a broad advance as of August 1 were abandoned locally, with quotations for the remainder of the third quarter on a spot basis and subject to change without notice.

Automobile takings receded slightly, leaving the Federal public works program as the best probable source of big orders in the fall. Oil and brewing industries bought fair tonnages of plates. Railroads continued to hold their purchases to track accessories.

States Become More Liberal In Tax Defaults

Many Have Changed Laws on Collecting Delinquencies, Expert Says.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 9 (AP).—A decided tendency toward more liberal penalties for real estate tax delinquency is revealed in a new analysis of tax legislation trends compiled by Prof. Merlin H. Hunter, of the University of Illinois.

More than half the States, his study shows, have changed their procedure in handling the problem of tax delinquency, sale of delinquent property, and redemptions, during the four-year period from 1929 through 1932.

Many have made permanent alterations in their laws; others have specified new legislation as purely "emergency" or temporary in character.

Among Leading Examples.

Among leading examples of such permanent legislation he lists these:

Inauguration of installment payments of taxes in Illinois and Texas.

Florida's increase in discounts offered for prompt payment from a maximum of 2 per cent to 4 per cent.

Indiana's lowering of its flat rate penalty from 10 to 3 per cent.

Montana's reduction of its flat rate penalty from 10 to 5 per cent, and similar reductions in Minnesota, Oklahoma and South Dakota.

Arizona's adoption of a procedure of sale under which land is sold to the person who agrees to accept the lowest rate of interest for redemption, not exceeding 15 per cent.

Law in Connecticut.

Connecticut's enactment of a law requiring the tax collector to collect any unpaid taxes, with certain exceptions, within 18 months after the due date, and to pay such taxes to the treasurer within two years after the due date. Formerly Connecticut's uncollected taxes were permitted to run for years.

Kentucky's increase in the period allowed for redemption from two to five years, and Arizona's increase in its redemption period from six months to three years.

Illinois' reduction in the annual flat rate penalty on lands forfeited to the State from 25 to 10 per cent, and similar reductions in other States.

Arkansas' reduction of the price at which lands may be sold at tax sales from $1.25 to $1 an acre, and Idaho's inauguration of a policy of selling such land at terms—with payments allowed over a five-year period with interest at 6 per cent.

Object in Revisions.

"In almost every case," Dr. Hunter says, "the apparent object in these revisions has been to facilitate redemption and provide relief to property owners.

"Obviously the need for more liberal provisions have been accentuated by economic conditions, but the fact that much of this legislation possesses a permanent character would indicate it will have an enduring effect on collection procedure.

In many cases, he found, delinquent penalties have been waived as a temporary measure, or delinquent dates postponed.

Other States have begun installment payments as an "emergency" plan, while several have extended the redemption period for taxes of specified years.

"The great increase in delinquency," he concludes, "forces attention as to what place property should occupy as a base for taxes.

"It indicates, certainly, that the valuation of property for taxation purposes does not fluctuate with the actual value of the property. It indicates, too, that if a stable revenue is desired, there must be some tax base other than property."

Court Acts to Prevent Mortgaged Home Sale

Atlanta, Aug. 9 (AP).—Superior Judge Pomeroy today took steps to stop a foreclosure sale on a home by an insurance company which holds the mortgage. The judge directed the company to show cause Saturday why an injunction should not be granted preventing the sale.

M. Kunsberg and Mrs. Johanna Kunsberg, owners of the home, showed the court that the insurance company refused to accept Government home loan bonds in exchange for the mortgage.

UniqueAuction At Berryville Aids Tree Fund

Berryville, Va., Aug. 9 (Spl.).—In keeping with the time, and in accord with the high fertility of this agricultural section, a unique acution sale of country produce will be held Saturday afternoon on the lawn of The Knoll, home of Mrs. Blackburn Smith.

The sale will be held following a large bridge party, and the sale proceeds will help finance the community Christmas tree.

The entire community is intensely interested in the auction, particularly since those taking part are among the leading social figures of this section, and a large crowd is expected.

Revival Moves To New Stage, Financiers Say

President Credited With Pushing Nation Into Rebuilding Trade.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Financial observers here, long trained in the delicate technique of evaluating the business prospect, feel that the Government's frontal attack on the forces of depression has definitely passed into a new stage.

The first stage, say these experts, was marked by a comprehensive policy of reconstruction, in which psychological, or at least implied, inflation was utilized to lift business off its dead center. The recent sharp break in the security and commodity markets is generally viewed as the culmination of this initial move.

With the announcement of the President's blanket code, Wall street holds that the Government has clearly advanced into the second stage of its recovery program. In other words, emphasis has been shifted from price raising to the building up of employment and purchasing power.

Success of First Stage.

No qualified student of the situation has failed to be impressed by the spectacular success of the first phase of the administration's program which pulled industry up out of the slough of numb and paralyzing inactivity.

Industrial production for July, as estimated by Standard Statistics, was 64 per cent above the low level of March, and 75 per cent ahead of July, 1932. Prices rose sharply in a wide variety of lines, spurred on, of course, by a large amount of speculative buying.

At the termination of the first stage, therefore, inventories were generally increased to a point considered beyond the immediate needs of most business. Moreover, living costs advanced and higher prices were beginning to create serious price disparities.

Buying and Employment.

Thus, despite the admittedly favorable results of the first phase of the recovery campaign, it was obvious to informed quarters that unemployment had not been substantially reduced. This meant that buying power had failed to expand to a level required to sustain the advancing trend of industry.

Cognizant of this situation, the Government began its second stage with a vigor and determination unmatched since the World War days when organized effort accomplished so much in a brief space of time. The expansion of employment and shorter working hours, it is recognized, must be accomplished before another winter looms if the present substantail gains enjoyed by general business are to be maintained.

Specialists in business affairs here are not blind to the fact that a certain amount of confusion and disturbance will inevitably be met with in working out the rapid adjustments necessary under the national industrial recovery act. Production and inventories will henceforth be gauged more closely, it is felt, in order to give consuming power an opportunity to develop.

But with the completion of these adjustments—which Wall street fervently hopes can be accomplished successfully—the recovery campaign is expected to move forward in the fall to the tune of stiffened business morale. In many lines, it is predicted, activity will compare favorably with predepression levels.

Production of Electric Power Increases Throughout Nation

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—With every section of the country sharing in the improvement electric power production in the United States in the week ended August 5 showed a 15.6 per cent rise over the like period in 1932.

The weekly report of the Edison Electric Institute shows total production was 1,650,013,000 kilowatt hours which compares with 1,661,504,000 in the final week of July and 1,426,986,000 in the corresponding week last year.

The central industrial region showed the greatest improvement over a year ago with an appreciation of 22.7 per cent over the comparable period a year ago. New England advanced 21.3 per cent; Southern States, 17; Middle Atlantic, 12.8 and the Pacific Coast 5.9.

Grasshoppers Ruin Crops in Imperial Valley

El Centro, Calif., Aug. 9 (AP).—Thousands of tons of alfalfa hay have been destroyed and many acres of citrus groves damaged this summer by the worst grasshopper plague Imperial Valley ever has had.

In the north end of the valley, known as the Nation's winter vegetable garden, 200,000 acres have been infested with melanoplus devastator, commonly known as the California devastating grasshopper. The small insects do not develop wings until 70 days old, but hopping, crawling swarms of them have moved from field to field in the Westmoreland-Calipatria area mowing down the hay and stripping leaves from grapefruit trees.

B. A. Harrigan, Imperial County agriculture commissioner, spent $15,000 in the first two weeks after the 'hoppers appeared in fighting the infestation. Farmers, he said, had spent many times that sum individually in an effort to save their crops. Harrigan believes, however, that the worst of the danger was passed by August 1 and that the myriads of hungry creatures now can be exterminated before they reach the more mobile flying stage.

Grasshoppers in May.

The first of the grasshoppers appeared in May before harvesting of the valley's $10,000,000 cantaloupe crop was complete, but only a few of them developed wings. The second horde began to hatch in the second week of July. If, as Harrigan hopes, the grasshoppers can be eradicated before they fly, the famous Imperial Valley winter lettuce, tomatoes, peas, asparagus and next spring's early melons will be safe for the Nation's kitchens.

Plantings of the lettuce crop, which ranks with cantaloupe production as the valley's chief industry, will not begin until mid-September. The above-100-degree temperature of the summer months, while apparently favorable to the grasshopper hatch, makes it impossible to grow temporary surface crops during July and August, and thus the most valuable assets of the Imperial farmer were not endangered immediately. Hay, the principal summer crop, and citrus groves were virtually the only growing things.

The Calipatria alfalfa meal mill was shut down because it was found more grasshoppers than hay was brought to it. When the insects began working on a field, it was mowed, raked and burned immediately. Poison bran was then spread over the field. No permanent damage was done to the perennial alfalfa plants, but the crop was lost.

Millions are Killed.

Where migrations of the insects were discovered traps 20 by 30 feet and 21 inches deep were dug in their paths. The traps were filled with water and oil and a backstop built around three sides of them. Millions of grasshoppers were killed in the traps, but that did not stop the march of the 'hoppers.

Harrigan said grapefruit trees suffered probably more permanent damage at the jaws of the sharp-toothed insects than the alfalfa. Groves affected probably will not bear this year.

Turkey flocks had picnics when the 'hoppers approached their ranges. They gorged themselves and in some cases saved small fields from infestation. The fish and game commission was requested to supply 400 Chinese pheasants to breed in the district. Farmers hoped the birds, in the future, might be able to combat such a plague at its inception.

The 'hoppers displayed insatiable appetites. They ate any green thing in their paths. They ate the larvae of the yellow butterfly, a pest which appears in the hay fields each summer but never in serious numbers. They even ate each other. In poisoned fields, sick 'hoppers were pounced upon by other insects. Only their spiny legs were left.

Woolen Plant Makes Profit After 6 Years

Hershey Chocolate Reports $916,935 Net for June Quarter.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—After operating for six years in the "red" the American Woolen Co., reputedly the world's largest manufacturer of woolen goods, turned the corner during the first half of 1933 and earned a net profit of $197,700, its report published today shows.

Consolidated earnings excluding the Textile Realty Co. were equal to 49 cents a share on the company's preferred stock and compare with a net loss of $6,810,561 during the first six months of 1932.

The company's deficit in the second half of 1932 amounted to $474,860, a deficit of $1.15 per share of preferred.

Its deficit of $7,270,000 in 1932 was the largest in the 34 years' history of the company, and was due, in part, to a severe slump in the raw wool market and a corresponding reduction in prices for finished goods.

For many years the company has earned nothing on the common stock and last showed earnings on the preferred stock in the last half of 1927, when net income of $2,358,874 was reported equal to $2.84 a preferred share.

The effect of the depression and changed conditions in the industry is mirrored in the financial statements of the company for recent years. The deficit in 1931 was $2,836,826; $4,897,585 in 1930, and $4,228,191 in 1929.

The Hershey Chocolate Corporation in its consolidated report today showed net income for the June quarter of $916,935 against $1,074,088 in the preceding three months period and $1,000,445 in the second quarter of 1932. June quarter earnings were equal to 90 cents a common share against $1.01 a share in the like period of last year.

The United Corporation in the quarter ended June 30 earned $2,668,885, equal to 6 cents a common share, against $3,402,047, or 11 cents, in the second quarter of 1932.

B. F. Goodrich Co. got out of the red for the first time in three years during the first half of 1933 when its net income amounted to $870,577. It operated at a loss during 1930, 1931 and 1932.

The American Superpower Corporation, in a special report for the seven months ended July 31, shows securities owned had a market value of $60,219,230 on that date against a market value of $33,517,880 on Jan. 17, 1933.

Continuing its 25-year record, during which each year has been profitable and dividends on all classes of stock outstanding have been continuously earned and paid, C. I. T. in its statement for the first six months of 1933 reports net profits for the period again in excess of all dividend requirements.

The present cash dividend now being paid by Commercial Investment Trust Corporation was increased in 1929 and has been maintained throughout the depression.

The decided improvement in business, which made itself first felt early in April and continued during May and June, made possible the favorable showing of the corporation, as the activity during this period more than offset the dullness which prevailed during the first quarter of the year. Another factor was the purchase of Universal Credit Corporation, which finances the sales of the Ford Motor Company. In point of volume of business done, this is the most important acquisition C. I. T. has ever made and reenforces its position as the largest independent financing corporation in the country.

The corporation's consolidated net profits available for dividends amounted to $2,799,582 for the six months ended June 30, 1933, not including any dividends received on investments of the corporation in its own securities or any gain arising out of the purchase for retirement, or, otherwise, of any of the corporation's own securities. The profits, after payment of dividends on the first preferred stocks which retired during the period, and serial preference stock, amounted to $2,235,384, equivalent to $1.12 per share on the average number of common shares outstanding in the hands of the public during the six months period. Consolidated profits for the first half of 1932 amounted to $2,947,280 and after the payment of preferred dividends the balance of $2,085,801 was equal to $1.03 per share earned on the average number of common shares outstanding during the first six months of 1932.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (AP).—Net profits of $831,540.74 for the six-month period ended June 30, 1933, compared with $963,788.86 for the corresponding period in 1932, were reported today by the United States Gypsum Co., and its subsidiaries.

Directors declared the usual dividend of $1.75 on the preferred and 25 cents on common stock, payable October 2 to stockholders of record, September 15.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Associated Gas & Electric Co. and subsidiaries, for the 12 months ended June 30, report profit of $738,096 after taxes, depreciation and sibsidiary charges and dividends, but before interest on junior obligations convertible into stock at the company's option, compared with $6,983,869 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1932.

Amerada Corporation and subsidiaries had a net loss of $308,095 for the June quarter, against net income of $327,160 for the first half of 1932.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—American Safety Razor Co. had net profit in the June quarter of $171,729, or 86 cents a share on common stock against $159,644, equal to 80 cents a share in the second quarter of 1932.

By Nelson B. Bell.

It is the erudite Mr. John LeRoy Johnson who keeps a rendezvous with his typewriter to apprise the dramatic desks of the Nation that "The Invisible Man" is arriving to join the weird cavalcade of characters that have stalked with terrifying steps across the silver screen.

With Universal's filming of H. G. Wells' fantastic tale of superscience, the madman who blends his body with the ether to upset the rhythm of the universe bids fair to top all of those blood-curdling creations that are still recalled in the nightmares of the seasoned theatergoer.

That contorted dwarf with the visage of a Cyclops, Quasimodo, played by the late Lon Chaney in that memorable silent spectacle that was Universal's picturization of Victor Hugo's "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," and the ghoul-like "Phantom" of "The Phantom of the Opera," also a Chaney character creation, were the first in the cycle of chills-and-fever drama that since has grown to such proportions.

On the back lot of Universal City both the "Hunchback" and "Phantom" sets remain standing as silent reminders of past glories and possible homes of the screen ghosts of yesterday.

Bela Lugosi, in his sinister "Dracula," promoted shivers and induced a formidable eruption of gooseflesh by the exciting effect of sound. The success of "Dracula" beyond question influenced Universal to make "Frankenstein," which set an all-time record—among numerous others—for grotesque and blood-chilling characterization.

Stuff For Bad Dreams.

Then Fredric March's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," the gentleman of dual personality and that heinous and transmogrifying secret decoction of his private laboratory, and Karloff's "The Mummy," a resurrected cadaver of ancient Egypt, provided a foundation of bad dreams that it seemed impossible to surpass in sheer horror. That is, until Universal decided to make a picture with an invisible star, capable of didoes beyond the farthest reaches of any imagination less fanciful than H. G. Wells'.

Jack Griffin, Wells' elusive character, is being counted on to supply this year's sensation in the way of bizarre character delineation. He is a medical scientist, who is the victim of his own unholy discovery—the power of evanescing into the thin vapors of the circumambient atmosphere.

R. C. Sheriff, author of "Journey's End," who adapted the Wells tale to the screen, has built this unique character into a film entity of genuinely stellar caliber and Claude Rains—who will be remembered as the actor who succeeded to the leading male role in the Davises' dramatization of Mrs. Pearl S. Buck's "The Good Earth," during its week at the National early last season—who plays it, is said to have plenty to do, although he seldom appears before the camera.

Universal, perhaps wisely, continues to keep secret the mechanics of the unusual film which has an invisible man as its hero and which James Whale, who made both "Journey's End" and "Frankenstein" for the screen, is directing.

Another Kidnaping.

Some frat house, somebody's den or maybe even the press room at police headquarters is decorated these last couple of days with a life-size figure of a seductive young woman, clad only in her scanties and an outsize pretzel.

This, no doubt, sounds a bit outre but it remains, nonetheless, a fact. It comes about, something like this.

Manager Hardie Meakin, of RKO-Keith's, sensing the unusual qualities of excellence characterizing his current picture, "Moonlight and Pretzels," and cognizant of the extravagant degree of pulchritude revealed during several of its spectacular ensembles, determined to cash in on this element of physical appeal by enlarging one or two of the figures of the picture's most alluring coryphees and tinting them with natural colors, to form a striking, as well as enticing, display on each side of and above the portals of his opera house.

No sooner was the idea conceived than it was executed. The facade of RKO-Keith's seemingly was alive with radiant young womanhood. Then in the brain of some miscreant was conceived the noble notion that one of these gorgeous gals would make a swell adornment for some private retreat, where it might be enjoyed at leisure and without the fatiguing need of pacing up and down a hard and hot pavement before a popular temple of the lively arts. Again, no sooner was the idea conceived than it was put into execution.

Next morning, when Mr. Meakin scanned the front of his cathedral of the celluloids a large and aching void met his gaze where the night before had stood the entrancing young Jane in her puff sleeves and pretzel!

Who committed the depredation, or to what use the pasteboard lady may have been put probably never will be known. The incident, however, seems to mark a new high in the clandestine connivings of the souvenir seekers.

Ona Munson, that engaging young woman who first impressed herself upon the consciousness of Washington amusement-seekers by the vivacity and charm of her work in "No, No, Nanette" and for two seasons has been the ingenue of Panjandrum Stephen Erlanger Cochran's National Theater Players, where she made almost unbelievable strides as a dramatic actress of poise and versatility, is to have a featured role in the new Joe Cook musical production now in rehearsal in the Winter Garden, New York City. The title of the new Cook opus seems to have been changed from "Hunky Dory" to "Hold Your Horses." Dave Chasen, Harriet Hoctor, Inez Courtney and Tom Patricola are among the numerous others who have been selected for important parts in the cast.

Says Miss Sten's Stentor.

No longer ago than yesterday we were speaking here of Anna Sten and the elaborate preparations that have been made for her first American screen appearance in a picturization of Emile Zola's "Nana." That picture has just gone into production with Warren William and Phillips Holmes prominent in the star's support.

Immediately upon the conclusion of the filming of "Nana," Miss Sten will begin work on her second Samuel Goldwyn production, "Barbary Coast," for which Frances Marion wrote the script based on Herbert Asbury's study of the famous section that added so many vivid chapters to the history of San Francisco's night life. Mr. Goldwyn expects both films to be ready for distribution by November.

A Charming "Jezebel."

Speaking of charming young actresses in whom Washington feels an especial interest—as we were back there a square or two in the case of Miss Munson—Tallulah Bankhead will return East from Hollywood within a fortnight to begin rehearsals in "Jezebel," the new play by Owen Davis, which is being produced by Katharine Cornell and Guthrie McClintic for a September opening.

Miss Bankhead, a former resident of the Capital, it will be recalled, opened "Forsaking All Others" in the National Theater last season before taking it into New York, where it scored a more substantial success than any one had any right to anticipate from an early view of so fragile a dramatic document.

After the engagement in "Jezebel" it is reported that Miss Bankhead will return to London, the scene of her most emphatic stage triumphs.

Casting Goes On.

Proceeding rapidly with the selection of talent for "Going Native," the all-Washington revue to be presented at Loew's Fox Theater the week of August 18, Gene Ford, producer, last night announced the signing of the following specialty acts, with more to follow over the week-end: Frances Rands, who will do a solo toe dance in the "radium ballet;" Poppy Callahan, Japanese character dancer; John D. Lippy, modern illusions; Joseph Bernie, radio singer; Marie Fallow, singer; the Lost City Mountaineers, a hillbilly radio team now broadcasting weekly over WJSV, and the Three Yates Sisters.

Members of the male ensemble have been selected as follows, by Mr. Ford and his assistant, Ned McGurn: Jay Kimmel, Harvey Goodwin, John Lintler, Sock Kennedy, Bill Long, Jack Marke, Warren Jordan and John Nichols.

These boys will appear in the line numbers and some of them will be singled out for individual specialties.

Mr. Ford expects to have the show completely set by next Tuesday, after which time his entire attention will be devoted to routining the acts and rehearsing the revue to a point of final perfection.

With the summer vacation season at its height, plans are being laid for an old-time riding tournament at Seaside Park, down at Chesapeake Beach, Md., later this month. The tournament is given under the auspices of the Calvert County Legion Post, No. 85. In the meantime, visitors to Seaside Park are finding ample amusement in the regular attractions maintained for their enjoyment seven days a week.

The "Personality Contest" being conducted in the Spanish Garden ballroom at Glen Echo Park is attracting an increasing number of aspirants for the title of "Miss Universal" and a chance to enter motion pictures under a contract from Universal Pictures. The winner of the Glen Echo contest will be entered in the finals to be judged at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. In addition to this special feature, all of the regular park amusement devices are in full operation, including the finely appointed crystal pool, and on the night of August 16, Mac, Phil and Ray will be presented as a special attraction in a series of exclusive specialties.

On the Near Horizon.

The complete line of march for the parade of screen hits announced for the new week, beginning Friday, everywhere except at the Columbia, where the new bills are introduced on Monday, will be approximately as follows, unless last-minute changes are made in the bookings: Palace, Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery in "Tugboat Annie;" Earle, William Powell and Margaret Lindsay in "Private Detective 62," and Vaughan De Leath headlining the vaudeville; RKO-Keith's, Richard Dix in "No Marriage Ties;" Loew's Fox, James Dunn and Joan Bennett in "Arizona to Broadway," and Harold Arlen and Ben Blue headlining the vaudeville; Metropolitan, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., and Patricia Ellis in "The Narrow Corner;" Columbia, John Wayne in "Haunted Gold."

"The Prince of Wales' favorite band" was the title given Ted Black and his orchestra after their recent European tour, during which they played several lengthy engagements in London, Paris and Deauville.

This popular organization, which is also a regular N. B. C. feature on the air and a well-known phonograph recording band, will play a single evening's engagement at Chevy Chase Lake tomorrow night, August 11.

Dancing at the lake will start tomorrow night at 9 and continue until 1 a. m.

Come Friday, patrons of Loew's Fox Theater will make the acquaintance of a new theme song when the orchestra comes up out of the pit on its elevator-rostrum. Or, at least, so says Musical Director Phil Lampkin from his retreat at Deal Lake, N. J., where he is recuperating from a severe attack of neuritis and a sprained ankle suffered under the delusion that he was a baseball player. Mr. Lampkin's overture, by the way, will be "Ladies I Have Known" and will feature one of them in the person of Joan Moss, luminous local "torch" singer.

Lew Brown has signed James Barton and Ann Seymour for the road company of "Strike Me Pink," which went into rehearsal this week. The musical will begin its tour late this month, and, barring fire, flood, pestilence and death, will cover the entire country before it closes.

In such manner do we learn that the enterprising Mr. Brown still is in the "Pink!"

The Grande Dame of the Cinema on the Docks Again

In the title role of "Tugboat Annie," opening at Loew's Palace Theater tomorrow, Marie Dressler again is teamed with that burly exponent of rough and rowdy humor, Wallace Beery, a circumstance that promises something of a piece with their earlier classic of the waterfront, "Min and Bill." One more day and we shall see.

Hitler Denies Austrian Drive Responsibility

Desires to Prevent Raids, Italy Says in Sending Promise to Allies.

Rome, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Italian government communicated today to the French and British Ambassadors a German promise to prohibit further dropping of Nazi propaganda by airplanes on Austrian territory and Nazi broadcasts against the present Austrian government.

The Italian announcement said Chancellor Hitler of Germany denied responsibility for alleged Nazi terroristic acts in Austria and communicated a desire to halt them, also.

Hitler Heeds Suggestions.

The Italian communication pointed out what it described as the advisability of refraining from further representations to the Berlin government and said Premier Mussolini and Vice Chancellor Von Papen of Germany discussed the incidents during Von Papen's July visit to Rome. Later Hitler agreed to Italy's friendly suggestions.

The communication said protests could have been avoided if time had been sufficient to reveal the Italian representations, prior to those made by Great Britain and France, and Hitler's reply.

France and Great Britain delivered identical notes to the German government Monday, protesting the aerial propaganda and broadcasts. A German communique Monday night said British and French interference was "inadmissable" and that "Germany considers the incident closed."

For Home Consumption.

The British and French governments received similar assurances to those given to Italy, it was announced in Paris and London yesterday, and the communique was described as principally for home consumption in Germany.

The powers protested under provisions of the Mussolini pact, by which France, Great Britain, Italy and Germany undertook to preserve peace in Europe, and post-war agreements guaranteeing Austrian independence of Germany.

"Shoot to Kill" Denied.

Vienna, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Austrian foreign office and the ministry of public security denied today that any orders had been issued to border patrols to "shoot to kill" in case of molestation, as reported in dispatches published abroad.

The authorities regard reinforcement of frontier guards with instructions to observe greater precaution as sufficient to prevent recurrence of hostile action, such as the recent shooting of a frontier patrolman near Innsbruck.

Senators Study Big Land Buy

Learn Rockefeller Holds $88,068 Mortgages in Wyoming.

Jackson, Wyo., Aug. 9 (AP).—A Senate investigating committee was informed today that John D. Rockefeller, jr.'s Snake River Land Co. and the Jackson State Bank held mortgages of $88,068.04 on Wyoming land.

The land company's motive in buying land in the Jackson Hole territory, assertedly for the purpose of giving it to the Government as an extension of Yellowstone National Park, is under scrutiny by the Senate group.

Some residents of the region contend the Rockefeller plan would deprive the State of much needed taxation. They assert the company plans to withhold valuable concession rights. Others say the company's purpose is one of benevolence.

Judge Again Declares Indiana Beer Law Void

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 9 (AP).—City Judge Virgil E. Whitaker today reaffirmed his previous decision that Indiana's beer law is unconstitutional on the basis that it sets up a "dictatorship" in disregard of the fourteenth amendment guaranteeing all citizens equal protection under the laws.

Judge Whitaker dismissed affidavits accusing Joseph Ott, 31, and Walter Rock, 34, with selling beer without a State license. H. H. Stilley, city prosecutor, informed the court the charges would be filed in the Lake County Criminal Court at Crown Point, where Judge William J. Murray would have opportunity either to refute or corroborate Judge Whitaker's stand.

Nats Down Yanks, 4-1, to Regain 3-Game Lead; Weaver Gives 7 Hits

Righthander Back in His '32 Form

Kuhel Brings in 2 Men; Cronin Gets Triple; 15,000 Look On.

By Shirley Povich.
(Sports Editor of The Post).

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Aug. 9.—The Nationals' recovery act was in full swing this afternoon. Brain Truster Monte Weaver was in command and Washington's lead in the pennant race was back to the preseries level of three games after Prof. Weaver instituted an all but complete boycott of the Yanks' run scoring.

Today's NRA program consisted of shortening the working hours of Goofy Lefty Gomez and converting the Yankee pitching into timely base hits in accordance with the code submitted by Manager Cronin at a meeting in the clubhouse before the game.

The results were very gratifying, particularly the 4-to-1 score by which Washington won the ball game to even the series and send 15,000 Yankee fans home dubious of the future.

Grants But Seven.

Brain Truster Weaver, who is carrying degrees from Emory and Henry and Virginia Universities into the recovery program, brought about the complete recovery of the Nats from that double-barreled defeat of Monday by a simple expedient—granting the Yankees only one hit the last five innings, and only 7 hits in toto.

The Nats staged a little recovery within their recovery program when they spotted the Yanks to a one-run lead in the second inning, but with Prof. Weaver permitting only one Yankee to reach third base thereafter, the same being the only Yankee who reached second, Washington's one run in the fifth and two in the sixth were ample, to say nothing of an entirely superfluous run in the eighth.

Aided by Coworkers.

Prof. Weaver's coworkers, including Buddy Myer, Dave Harris and Joe Cronin, fell completely into the spirit of the boycott on Yankee runs and rendered them null and void of half a dozen hits.

Dave Harris at times looked like the Blue Eagle of the NRA act himself with a couple of three-star catches in right field, while Myer and Cronin earned themselves posters bearing the well-known "We Do Our Part."

On the offensive, Ossie Bluege, who drove in the tying run in the fifth; Joe Kuhel, who drove in two runs in the sixth, and Joe Cronin, who drove in the last run in the eighth, gave Prof. Moley, of the pitching mound, a nice margin to work with, which ultimately resulted in the shortening of Gomez's hours in the eighth inning and the employment of Wilcy Moore in the ninth.

Score in Second.

Despite three Yankee hits in the second inning, when Chapman singled to left, Lazzeri beat out a hit to Cronin, on which Chapman took third, and Dickey singled to left to score the Yanks' only run, New York was held to a lone tally. Cronin stifled when he took Crosetti's grounder and turned it into a double play.

That the Yanks didn't score another run at the time can be traced directly to the Goofy Gomez himself, who hit a soft grounder which could have scored Lazzeri but did not bother to run it out. Lazzeri had already scored when Myer fumbled the ball and still had time to throw out Gomez by 20 feet.

Bluege Gets Timely Hit.

Freddy Schulte, whose single in the second inning was wasted, scored the tying run in the fifth after drawing a walk and being sacrificed to second by Kuhel. Bluege was the hero of the inning. He slashed a long liner in the second tier of the stands that fell foul by a few feet, to the joy of the 15,000 fans, and then slammed the next pitch for a clean single to center that brought Schulte prancing home.

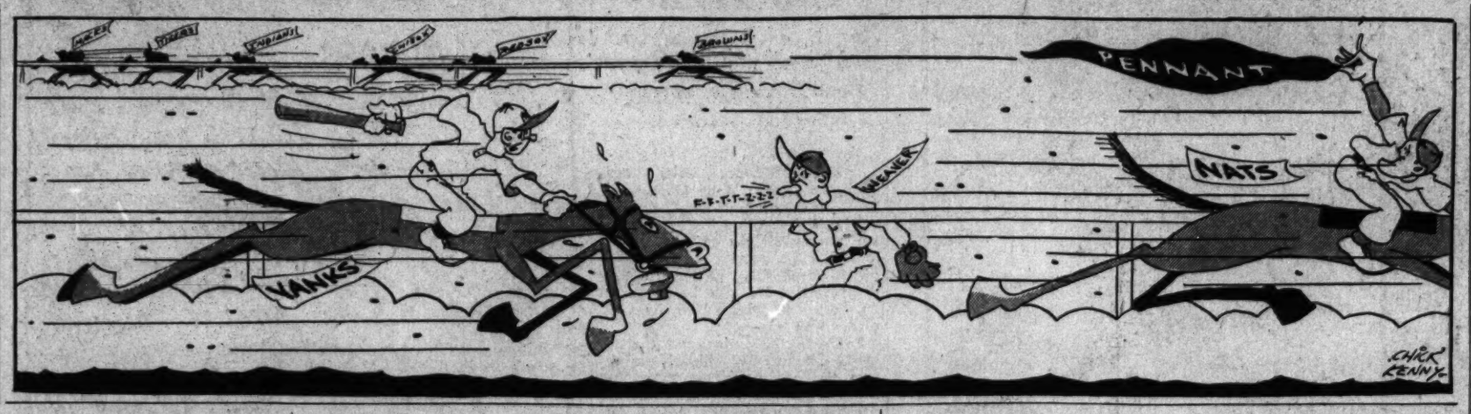

Gomez was the prime offender against the Yanks' cause today, and it was his fault that the Nats scored twice in the sixth. Myer singled to center and Manush laid down a bunt that Gomez heaved into the dirt at second base, with both runners safe. Cronin's sacrifice advanced them both and Dave Harris was intentionally passed. But Joe Kuhel rammed a line drive to right field just to reply to the insult, and both Myer and Manush scored.

Cronin Slams Triple.

We got our fourth run in the eighth very simply. Manush led off with a single and Cronin scored him with a triple.

Meanwhile, the Yanks were having trouble with Prof. Weaver's program. Gehrig doubled in the fourth with none out and after Chapman flied out, Lazerri sent Gehrig to third with a single through the box. That was the last hit off Prof. Weaver until the ninth. The professor struck out Dickey and forced Crosetti to hit to Cronin and escaped without damage.

Thereafter the professor retired 12 men in order in the next four innings. Ruth opened the ninth with a single and would still be languishing on first base if his dinner wasn't waiting at home. Gehrig, Chapman and Lazzeri were no help whatsoever against Prof. Weaver.

Helen Jacobs' Amateurism Unchanged

Star Won't Appear to Sign Copies of Book; Matter Is Then Dropped.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP).—A brief flurry of excitement over a possible violation of the amateur code by Helen Jacobs quickly died down today while the investigation of the amateur standing of Ellsworth Vines, jr., was still under way.

Rumors of large professional offers to Vines brought the announcement yesterday from Louis J. Carruthers, former president of the U. S. L. T. A. and chairman of the rules committee, that the matter was being investigated. Today the committee's attention was directed to an advertisement capitalizing Miss Jacobs' tennis achievements, but after the California girl had not only denied she had authorized the advertisement but decided not to make the appearance at a department store which it announced, the matter was dropped.

Matter Is Ended.

Carruthers said tonight that the matter was "ended," as he gave out the following statement:

"Miss Jacobs authorizes the statement, after a conference with me, that in order to avoid even the appearance of violation of the letter or spirit of the amateur rule, she will not appear tomorrow as advertised. She also wishes to state that the reference to her reputation won on the tennis courts was incorporated in the early advertisements by mistake and against her explicit direction."

Deny Bad Intentions.

Both Vines and Miss Jacobs denied an intent to violate either the letter or the spirit of the rule and welcomed an airing of the charges.

The advertsiement involving Miss Jacobs identified her as a "famous tennis champion," a clear violation of a section of the rule, which says a player may be declared ineligible for using his title "or statement of his reputation won on the tennis courts in connection with books, newspapers," &c. It had announced her appearance at the department store to autograph copies of her book on tennis.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Chicago Cubs battered their erstwhile teammate, Burleigh Grimes, out of action in less than an inning today, and continued their assault against Sylvester Johnson and Tex Carleton to defeat St. Louis, 10 to 7, in the final of a two-game series.

Cantwell Wins 15th; Braves Nose Out Phils

Boston, Aug. 9 (AP)—Ben Cantwell hung up his fifteenth pitching victory of the season today and his squeeze bunt in the fifth brought in the run that gave the Braves a 3-to-2 victory over the Phillies.

The victory gave the Braves a record of two out of three games in their series with the Phils, and seven wins out of nine games in their short home stay which was concluded today.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9 (AP).—Piling up six runs in the first inning, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 4 today, to wind up the 3-game series with a 2-to-1 advantage.

Lloyd Brown, who gave the A's 11 hits in lasting on the mound for the Red Sox, hit a homer and two singles, to bat in three runs.

Lou Brouillard K. O.'s Jeby In 7th

By Edward J. Neil.

Brouillard, one of those southpaws whose battle style has confounded orthodox right-hand warriors since fistic history began, made a cold, calculating fight of it in adding Jeby's recognition here as the 160-pound king to the honors he already has known as a former welterweight champion of the world.

Brouillard Speeds Up.

Brouillard lost little time in the seventh. He drew Jeby's guard up with his pawing right and again smashed the left into the champion's sagging body muscles. Try as he would, Jeby could not get his hands up. A sweeping left, brought up from the floor as Brouillard charged in, caught him full on the chin and he crashed to the floor, face down.

Bravely Jeby pulled himself to his knees at the count of eight, but they would not hold him. As Referee Pete Hartley looked up to warn Brouillard that he must stay away until the count was completed.

D. C. Amateur Golf Dates Moved Back

The dates for the District amateur golf championship, originally set for September 7 and 8, have been changed to September 21 and 22, it was announced last night by Dr. William C. Barr, secretary of the District Golf Association.

Since the national amateur at Cincinnati opens just three days after the District would close under the dates previously assigned, the District officials made the shift for the benefit of the five Washington entries, all of whom are outstanding local players, and would naturally want to get in a few days of practice before the big push.

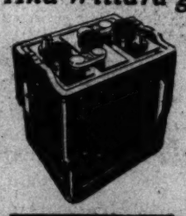

One of the quintet who will compete in the national classic is the defending District champion, Roger Peacock, of Indian Spring. The other four who qualified with Peacock at Columbia are Miller B. Stevinson, of Columbia; Martin F. McCarthy, of Beaver Dam; Dick Lunn, of Chevy Chase, and Luther Steward, jr., of Congressional.

Harper Has 72 Wins Playoff For Medal

By Dave Herman.

CHANDLER HARPER, the Portsmouth, Va., stylist, who packs dynamite in his 25 golf sticks, blasted out a 72 yesterday at Columbia Country Club to beat Ernie Caldwell, of the Hillendale Club, Baltimore, by the healthy margin of seven shots in the playoff for the medal in the sectional qualifying trials for the national amateur championship.

After battling par on even terms for 17 holes, the lanky Virginian stood on the eighteenth tee needing a four to break the competitive amateur course record of 71 first established by the peerless Bobby Jones in the 1921 national open, and later tied by several others, including Harper, himself.

Cracks Up, Takes Six.

All Harper needed was two nice wallops to get home, and just a bit of that putting wizardry he had been displaying on previous holes—and a new chapter in local golfing history would have been written.

But dame fortune was not with Harper, and he cracked up on the hole on which he needed his par most.

The tragic ending started when Harper sliced his tee shot. His iron second landed a few feet behind the trap on the left of the green. He chipped up 12 feet past the pin. There was still hope for the new mark.

But he three-putted and took a 6—the only green he three-putted during the day. He had eight 1-putt greens, thanks to his beautiful recovery shots and brilliant approaches, and for the 18 holes used up only 29 putts.

V. F. W., Beaten 36-6 By Boy Scout Troop, Challenges G. A. R.

Seattle, Aug. 9 (AP).—War veterans—along with their old gray mare ain't what they used to be," mourned Walter M. Justi, commander of a Veterans of Foreign Wars post here today as he revealed that the baseball team of Reserve Troop, No. 128, of the Boy Scouts had defeated the veterans' team Sunday.

"The score was 36 to 6," Justi said, "but we managed to stick it out for nine innings.

Sarazen Victor, 8 and 7, Ties Mark for First Nine With a 31.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 9 (AP). Out of another withering bombardment of par, which blew two Ryder Cup stars out of the big fight, Olin Dutra, defending title holder, and Gene Sarazen, outstanding favorite, emerged victorious today in their first-round skirmishes for the National Professional Golf championship at Blue Mound Country Club.

The two marked men of the championship drive came through in easy fashion, Sarazen tying the course record in the front nine in the forenoon with a dazzling 31, 4 under par, that carried him to an ultimate 8-and-7 victory over Vin-

With Shirley L. Povich.

New York. Aug. 9.

J. F. CRONIN, who arrived in San Francisco a few years after the earthquake, all but exploded with joy this evening in the Nats' locker room after his ball club had polished off the Yanks in two straight and recovered the three-game lead they brought up to New York earlier in the week.

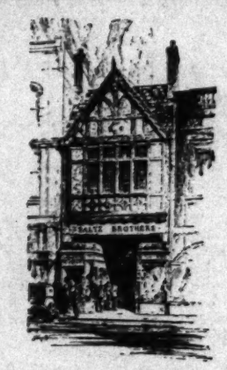

"Now, that's a ball team for you," yelled Cronin at a bunch of war correspondents who hadn't even asked him anything about his ball team. "Ain't they great?" Nobody had said they weren't, but that didn't stop Joe.

"That's the kind of a ball team we are. Come right back and knock those Yanks off twice after that beating we took on Monday.

"It ain't the first time we came back, either. Remember that Sunday game we lost in Washington to Detroit when they scored nine runs in the ninth. And then we go up to Philly and beat Grove and Earnshaw and win three straight. Tell 'em to stick with us."

Cronin's exuberance was not very much misplaced, at that.

Place Award To Dusky Devil

Winner Gallops Home to Score by Length; Red Roamer Is Third.

Cattails Drives Across Finish Line First in Coney Island Race.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP).—Cleverly rated by Wayne Wright, Gay World, from the stables of J. A. Nix, of California, galloped to victory today in the Round Lake, at Hawthorne.

Wright held the 3-year-old son of Torchbearer in restraint through the early stages of the mile and a sixteenth event, but let him out at the stretch turn. Blessed Event, the pacemaker, was quickly overhauled, and Gay World withstood a lively challenge by Dusky Devil to win by a length, in 1:46. Red Roamer finished third.

Cattail Wins at Spa.

Saratoga Race Track, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—After three losing favorites had taken the middle out of many a bank roll, along came Cattail, with Hankus Pankus Mills as his chauffeur, to win a hard-earned decision in the Mohawk, a claiming stake of long standing which topped a good card here today. The William Ziegler, jr. banner bearer drove home by a half length to capture first money of $1,845 from E. R. Bradley's Fingal. M. L. Schwartz's Clarify was four lengths out of the place. The mile was negotiated in the fair time of 1:39 by the winner, which was quoted at 2 to 1.

In marked contrast to the race of the winner was the dull showing made by the recent winner, How High, which beat one horse home after viewing the heels of the field nearly all the way.

Mills, who now weighs all of 108 pounds, rode a heady race. Coming to the head of the stretch, Hank urged Cattail to the fore. Character dropped out of it, but Fingal, never far away, put up a stubborn battle before conceding victory to the choice. Clarify ran evenly throughout.

Reveille Boy Victor.

Coney Island, Aug. 9 (AP).—Reveille Boy, the horse which J. A. Best, Memphis sportsman, bred and nursed into a surprise 50-to-1 victory in the American Derby three years ago, showed a flash of his old form in accounting for the Cheviot Handicap, top attraction on today's excellent card.

Displaying his characteristic fractiousness at the barrier, Starter William Hamilton had to place the inconsistent son of Last Reveille and Little Ann outside of the stall gates before he could effect a start. Reveille Boy began sluggishly and was trailing in the early stages of the mile-and-70-yard test as Sweepbrush and Judge Judy cut out a sizzling early pace.

After three quarters, Judge Judy collared Sweepbrush, but his advantage was shortlived as Reveille Boy, closing with great speed, moved alongside in the straightaway and came on to win by four open lengths. Peggy Lehmann, one of the favored ones, also came from far back to save the place, but could not menace the flying leader. Judge Judy, although tiring, held on determinedly to save the show, as Sweepbrush quit to nothing. Reveille Boy paid $7.80 in the $2 mutuels.

Strange as It Seems —By John Hix

MORE than eight centuries before the World War gave impetus to the use of aircraft as weapons of warfare, ancient man staged important aerial battles over the plains of Antioch and up the rugged slope toward Mount Casius, when the clever Saracens pitted their wits against the resourcefulness of the Christian invaders. It was during the First Crusade.

The Saracens, against whom the Christian hordes lay siege at Antioch in the fall of 1097, used carrier pigeons to carry messages to and from the endangered city—the use of carrier pigeons was even then an ancient custom of the Orient. The answer of the Christian commanders to this new and strange, to them, use of birds in warfare was more birds—falcons.

The combat flight of the Christians' falcons was directed against the communication flight of the Saracens' pigeons. Carrier pigeons with messages to the Saracen allies were killed by the Christian falcons—or, better yet, when the bird was taken alive misleading messages were substituted.

Since the use of carriers was brought to the attention of Europeans during the Crusades, these birds have played an important part in almost every war that followed. Even in the World War, with all its modern means of communication, the carrier pigeon is credited with taking messages through when every other means had failed. It was a carrier pigeon that bore the message which resulted in the dramatic rescue of the famous "Lost Battalion."

Dear Al: Hawthorne, Aug. 9.

Mrs. Benning's lovely son stepped right out of the woods and promptly chased his best bet home. I mean Unencumbered. A few selectors had the courage to name the one in the money, but the Bennings' book said (pardon me for bringing it up), "Yes sir, this one is well oiled and greased." And did he step down? I'll have to stop this back-slapping, but only because I'm sunburned.

Through Ormond, the biggest piece of chalk of the day, was my only other winner. But I was well represented in the pay-offs throughout the card. If you must get in action tomorrow, these may be worth more than passing notice. BILL.

First Race—Playful Martha seems most likely of this group of maidens to move out of the bracketless class. Her races were impressive but we can't look for much in the way of price. Benevolence for the place and In Par for the show. The last named is a clocker's tip.

Second Race—LaSalle has been raced well of late and is the logical choice in this sprint. Looks like another chalk victory. I'm afraid they may let. Portmanteau run. Would be dangerous in a trying mood. Lawyer for the show end.

Third Race—I'm giving Doctor Klein another chance. There's no doubt about this one's speed, but he has been stopping. Might stick to his guns and surprise these maidens. Her Elegance and Jack Knife for the rest.

Fourth Race—Lady Higloss has been beating everything in this section. Should coast home in this. Pennecote might be a troublemaker. Full Tilt for the show and a possible upset.

Fifth Race—I'm taking Yonkel for my two berries. Not the classiest thing on the track but certainly honest. All Rowes for the place and Karl Eitel to take care of the others.

Sixth Race—Mintogee gets the Bennings call here but will have to be in good form to take care of the suddenly improved Below Cost. Boy Crazy for the minor award.

Seventh Race—It's just possible that we will put over another Unencumbered in this. I mean Anita Ormont. I understand everything is ready for a fast race. Barney Sexton and Peace Lady to battle it out if the mare fails.

Eighth Race—Rowdy Boy seems to have the edge on anything this field offers. The contention, if any, will come from Replevin and Prose and Poetry.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COOLEY, $18.96, $7.64, $5.36; HER GOLD, $5.02, $3.96; PHALAROPE, $18.84.

COOLEY broke into stride and drawing into a long lead while shaking off BOSOM PAL was under mild drive near the end. HER GOLD, much the best, gained rapidly from a slow beginning and closing strongly was getting to the winner near the finish. PHALAROPE, never far back, but losing ground on the turns, easily disposed of BOSOM PAL in the final drive. The latter displayed good early foot, but stopped badly after reaching the main stretch. GAY FOLLIES was forced back approaching the stretch turn. FIRE STAR also suffered from lack of racing room. TRAPLOU saved ground, but tired in the stretch. NEPESTA stopped badly after straightened into the stretch.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, easily. Went to post at 2:41. Off at 2:43½. Winner, L. Narbut's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NIGHT JASMINE, $7.74, $4.14, $3.26; STROLL ALONG, $5.46, $4.12; HOUR ZEV, $3.12.

NIGHT JASMINE, away fast from the outside, gradually disposed of STROLL ALONG and had speed in reserve at the windup. STROLL ALONG saved ground on the turns, held on gamely when put to a drive, but was a trifle short. HOUR ZEV went evenly under light urging, responded gamely when put to punishment at the final turn, then faltered slightly in the final drive. LE BRUYERE bettered his position steadily after going a half mile, but could not menace the leaders. NORTHGALIS loomed up dangerously at the stretch turn only to weaken badly in the drive. TEMPLE DANCER closed strongly. SIR ANTHONY was repeatedly blocked. FANNIE BRICE stopped badly after three furlongs and was eased up.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:07. Off at 3:10½. Winner, Shandon Farms' b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DUST GIRL, $10.46, $6.04, $4.38; BITTYBIT, $9.78, $8.28; PARA FOUR, $4.96.

DUST GIRL hustled to the front soon after the start, gained a comfortable lead at the final turn and, continuing gamely, held the bid of BITTYBIT safe. The latter forced slightly wide all through the stretch, responded well to hard urging, but was not quite good enough. PARA FOUR, far back early, was also forced to the outside while racing strongly and closed gamely. MUMSIE tired in the final furlong. FLAGHORN saved much ground at the stretch turn, but could not improve position. LIBERTY OAK quit badly.

FOURTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:33½. Off at 3:36. Winner, E. R. Bradley's br. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BROAD MEADOWS, $6.40, $3.88, $2.84; TERALICE, $5.78, $3.92; NORTH MILL, $5.10.

BROAD MEADOWS, under a stout restraint early and clear when ready on the outside, wore down NORTH MILL when shaken up and drew out easily. TERALICE was forced wide while racing strongly approaching the home stretch, continued gamely in stretch to outfinish NORTH MILL. TERALICE saved all possible ground and holding on with rare courage just failed to hold second position safe. FANFERN, prominent throughout, only began tiring in final sixteenth. MARTIE FLYNN was in trouble at the start and was never a serious contender. JOURNEY'S END raced poorly. FRENCH KNIGHT had no mishaps.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Round Lake. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won cleverly; second, easily. Went to post at 3:58. Off at once. Winner, J. A. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GAY WORLD, $5.78, $3.38, $2.40; DUSKY DEVIL, $3.34, $2.44; RED ROAMER, $2.70.

GAY WORLD, racing to best form and cleverly handled, was held off the early lead to the final quarter, and gaining gradually when shaken up, wore down DUSKY DEVIL under hand riding. DUSKY DEVIL also made his move at the final turn, raced BLESSED EVENT into submission, continuing gamely, but was overmatched. RED ROAMER was knocked back repeatedly when attempting to go through on the inside and finished strongly when clear in the stretch. BIG RED was always outrun. BLESSED EVENT stopped badly after being headed.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:26. Off at once. Winner, P. A. Markey's b. g. UNENCUMBERED, under light restraint for 7 furlongs, gained steadily when ready and wore down AL NEIMAN in the final sixteenth. AL NEIMAN saved ground while holding the lead, held on gamely when put to punishment, only to weaken in the final furlong. COG-AIR lost ground on the final two turns and weakened slightly in the drive. TELA raced closer up than usual, but failed to close with usual rush. DEPRESSION trailed her field. ISLAM stopped badly when called upon at the stretch head.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, easily. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:51½. THROUGH OMOND, much the best and saving ground under hustling tactics, drew clear at the final turn and was going handily near the end. UPON gained rapidly after five furlongs, and racing clear, held on gamely in the stretch. DARK SISTER swung a bit wide at the final turn, came again when straight, and was best of the others. KNOWLEDGE was in tight quarters all through the back stretch. WAYWARD LAD retired after seven furlongs. BARBARA O had some early foot.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:17½. Off at 5:19. Winner, F. M. Grabner's b. g. OUR JUSTICE, steadied along while in a contending position, came to outside when ready and wore down BARRY in final furlong. BARRY assumed command when ROYAL PURCHASE bore out going to far turn, saved ground thereafter, but could not withstand winner's challenge. INDIAN BOY, well up entire trip, lasted to hold TRANSBIRD safe. The latter suffered at the start when ROYAL PURCHASE broke sidewise, gained steadily in the final quarter, and finished gamely. ROYAL PURCHASE was holding a good lead when she bore out leaving back stretch.

New Orleans, Aug. 9 (AP).—Don Zimmerman, 1932 Tulane All-American half back, will play one more game of foot ball.

Rough Matmen In Top Bout Tonight

Garibaldi-Zaharias to Mix; Russell in First Build-up Test Here.

By Frank H. Young.

THIS rassling game is just one build-up after another. The promoters build 'em up and, when they think a newcomer has worn out his welcome in one particular sector, they tear him down and start building up some one else. Methinks another idol is in the course of being made at Griffith Stadium tonight in the person of Jack Russell, who takes on former champ Joe Stecher in the 45-minute semifinal on the card.

If he can rassle—and he has given that impression in and around New York—Russell has all of the other requisites needed to catch the fancy of the addicts who support the game by laying their money on the line at the box office. He is a former cowboy, with a "broncho bustin'" quirk, which is his forte on the mat. His is 6 feet 4 inches tall and, although weighing 235 pounds, is well proportioned. And, for the benefit of the fair fans, it is said that he is easy to look at.

Craves Bigger Bouts.

A newcomer into the Londos circuit, Russell craves a shot at Ray Steele and at Champion Jim Londos after that, but he has been told that he must show something here first, and so he hopes to do the showing at the expense of the old leg-scissors king, who is essaying a comeback. The bout promises much in the way of action and color.

It will hardly rival the feature, though, for this brings together just the type of brawl which the fans seem to absorb like a sponge does water. George (Hot Cha) Zaharias is rough and Gino Garibaldi is rougher, and the boys are all het up from a series of verbal exchanges which started when Garibaldi won from Zaharias here some months ago on what the loser claimed was a foul. Tonight's go should be fast and furious from start to finish.

Women will be admitted upon presentation of a paying escort, while kiddies under 16 get in free as part of Promoter Turner's education campaign. The first leer is due at 8:30 sharp.

Barney Welsh District's Lone Survivor in National Public Parks Tennis Play

Latona Bows In Heated Battle

He and Shore Lose After Four-Hour Fight in Doubles Match.

Welsh Enters Quarter-Finals; Defeats Arizona Entrant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (Spl.).—Barnard Welsh, of Washington, D. C., reached the quarter-final round in the National Public Parks Tennis Championship here today, defeating Joe Hammond, of Phoenix, Ariz., 3—6, 6—2, 6—4, 9—7. Seeded No. 5, the Washington ace dropped the first set, but came back strong to take the next three. Playing a driving game all the time and applying pressure only when necessary, Barney will cross racquets with Maurice Bayon, New Orleans titleholder, ranking No. 4, tomorrow.

Washington's other singles representative was put out of the tourney when Anthony Latona fell a victim to the superior skill of Leonard Hartman, Manhattan entrant, seeded No. 8. Latona gave Hartman a grim battle over the entire route, but erred when he attempted to volley. When the Washington netman favored a net game, Hartman, former Columbia captain, passed him repeatedly. The scores were 6—3, 7—5, 7—5.

Latona Appears Cured.

It appeared as if Latona had not fully recovered from the effects of his three-hour duel with Daniel Freedman yesterday.

Latona and Frank Shore, the District entries in the doubles competition met defeat at the hand of Walter Levitan and Maynard Weisburg, of Boston. The finish of a 6—4-game match saw both teams so tired that hardly a player could lift his racquet.

After dropping the first two sets, 9—7, 6—4, the Washington duo staged a sharp rally and garnered the next, 6—0.

After being at match point in the next chapter, the Washington pair prevailed 11—9 but dropped the deciding set 7—5. The scores at the conclusion of the four-hour match were 9—7, 6—4, 0—6, 9—11, 7—5.

This Morning

Whitehill and Weaver did masterful jobs in holding the Yanks to two runs in those last two games. The team had pitching, fielding that bordered on the sensational, and hitting that beat the best the Yanks had to offer.

But the hero of this piece must be Buddy Myer. No Washington club ever received as brilliant and sustained efforts from a second baseman as Myer provided during the recently close series with the Yanks. He roamed between first and second base in every game as if he had springs in his spikes and glue in his glove. He went up in the air and he dug down in the dirt to come up with balls that did more to discourage the Yanks than all the Washington pitching.

At bat, Myer was a demon. He drove in the tying run in the ill-fated second game, and he won the third with his homer, besides making two other hits. Today, again, he led off the Nats' big fifth inning with a clean single off the left-handed Gomez, whom he isn't supposed to hit. He was the most talked-of ball player of the entire four-game series, and with reason.

Nats Head For Boston.

Cronin herded his gang into the 125th Street Station late this evening for the five-hour ride to Boston, where the Nats engage the revivified Red Sox on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, while the Yanks are meeting the A's in the same number of games.

All of which makes the rest of the week's schedule in favor of the Nats when it is recollected that when the same clubs were battling each other last week, Washington won three straight from Boston, while New York was dropping three straight to Philadelphia.

Al Crowder, who got out from under in time to lose credit for a defeat in the game he started in Yankee Stadium, will be seeking his seventeenth win of the season tomorrow in the first game against the Sox. Remembering the success Lefty Weiland had against the Nats in Washington, Manager McManus is likely to start him on the firing line for the Sox tomorrow.

Runs, Hits and Errors.

Run 'm out, fellows . . . Lefty Gomez refused to run out a soft grounder to Myer with two out and Lazzeri on third this afternoon, so the run that Lazzeri scored did not count . . . Because Myer threw Gomez out by 20 feet after fumbling the ball . . . The day's laugh was had before the ball game when Heinie Manush displayed a New York afternoon edition which said that Ossie Bluege was a pretty good third baseman but didn't have any throwing arm . . . If Ossie hasn't got a throwing arm, Lindy made his flight to Paris in a deep-sea diving suit . . . Weaver has a nice side-arm ball, but Cronin says he has to be reminded of it . . . And Monte set some kind of a world record for himself when he didn't walk a man yesterday . . . Ossie Bluege is a great away-from-home hitter. . . . His average drops 50 points in Griffith Stadium . . . Walker pinch hit for Gomez today in the eighth and took the opportunity to wave three times to a friend in the bleachers . . . It was the fourth strike-out for Weaver . . .

Splashes Way to New Tank Title

CLARA WRENN would rather swim than wash dishes. Who wouldn't? And when Clara decides to swim she invariably brings home a souvenir in the form of a championship. Yesterday, while competing for Georgetown, she added the 25-yard breast stroke crown to her list in the annual city-wide meet of the Playground Department. Clara is 17 years old and has been winning races for the West-end Pool for several years. She also finished third in the 25-yard free style.

Runyan Is Winner Over Al Houghton

cent Eldred, veteran campaigner from Pittsburgh. Dutra, deadlocked with Reggie Myles, tiny "giant killer" from Ashland, Ohio, for 26 holes, sailed into the second round with a 4-and-3 triumph as his putter began clicking.

Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., Ryder Cup player and a star of the winter tournaments, furnished the scoring fireworks in the morning with a 32, 34—66, 1 short of the course record, and was 3 under perfect figures for 31 holes, as he crushed Al Houghton, of Washington, D. C., 6 and 5.

Although hopelessly outclassed by one of the finest shotmakers in the country, Houghton played the 31 holes in 3 over par and 1 under 4s. Runyan laid Houghton four stymies, while the District pro had four 3-putt greens.

Going to the tenth, Houghton was 5 down. He was still 5 down at the end of the 18, and put up a bold fight to prolong the battle.

Henry Picard, of Charleston, S. C., scoring a 67 on his first round, also was 3 shots under par for 35 holes, defeating Willie Klein, of New York, an even par shooter, 2 and 1. Sarazen also was 3 under par for 29 holes.

Sarron Fights Burl Again At Laurel

Flashy Featherweights Rematched in Feature Bout Tuesday.

ANOTHER return match, one that promises to be the best of the season's second crack boxing jousts, brings together Petey Sarron, of Birmingham, and Eddie Burl, of Jacksonville, over the 10-round route at Twin City Tuesday. Burl upset prefight predictions by winning a close decision the last time, but much second guessing has been done by both the fighters concerned and good old George Q. Phight Phan since then.

Hindsight has enabled Sarron to determine that he had a tummy-ache or something, which kept him from giving his all to the cause of knocking the Florida fist-flinger lopsided in their previous bout.

Burl Figures to Be at Best.

Burl, admittedly in the best condition of his career when they fought a few weeks ago, apparently will be just as much "in the pink" when he climbs through the ropes Tuesday.

The usual supporting features will be added to the card later. Promoter Cornell's efforts to bring Joe Knight and Bob Godwin together a week from the Sarron-Burl affair apparently finally have been crowned with success. Godwin is understood to already have accepted the terms offered and definite announcement of the bout waits only the formality of securing the signatures of Knight's managers in Florida.

The Washingtonian, entered in the doubles with F. Barclay, his neighbor, from Baltimore, Md., also went into the second round of the doubles play, defeating Olson and Mason in the first round of the junior division, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1.

Vines Too Good a Box Office Lure to Rule Out, Says Pegler

By Westbrook Pegler.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 9 (Spl.).—It is unlikely that the tennis people will rule out Ellsworth Vines on the ground that he might have considered some inducement to turn professional. Mr. Vines is a drawing-card with a large cash value and the tennis people never have been known to take measures which would react against the box-office.

Moreover, such a ruling would oppose the fine old hypocrisy of the tennis business and hypocrisy is the guiding spirit of the sport as it is conducted in the large tournaments both at home and abroad.

Perhaps, under a new deal, tennis could be conducted in another spirit, but you would not recognize it as the same old racket. Tennis would be a new sport in that case and I am not sure it would be as popular as it has been in its old character which has been as smelly, in its own peculiar way, as that of the prize fight industry. It takes more gall than most people are given for a lot of tennis governors to challenge the amateurism of a young man who has been playing tennis as a trade to the great financial benefit of the tennis clubs and associations.

Likened to Mr. Ruth.

The tennis associations thrive on the professionalism of the professional amateurs and could not exist if young men and young women did not devote themselves almost entirely to tennis most of the year for several years of their youth. If it is professionalism to live at a trade then many of the great tennis drawing cards of both genders for many years have been as professional as Babe Ruth, lacking, however, some of the Babe's respectability. For when Mr. Ruth makes a deal for his services the pay is honestly stipulated and he does not put himself on the footing of a moocher singing for his supper.

After Vincent Richards had been induced to turn square, as he put it, by Mr. C. C. Pyle, he said he was much relieved to have taken this step as he could now look the hotel clerks in the face in the course of his travels without any feeling that he was living on the cuff. The tennis people had collected many a thousand dollars at the gates on the strength of Vincent's customer-appeal, but he had never received any of this money and it had been put up to him to do the best he could for himself by selling insurance to the wealthy members of the clubs or the promoters of the real estate subdivisions for which he played tennis.

He did very well for himself, at that, but being an independent young man with a troublesome streak of honesty and independence in his character, he was always somewhat rebellious against the doubtful social and industrial status which he was required to accept while he was holding his amateur ticket.

Million-Dollar Policy.

Mr. Richards' great strike in the insurance business occurred when he sold a million-dollar policy to a June bug millionaire of the Florida real estate boom, for whom he had played some tennis in a tournament which was promoted as a lure to attract victims to the sales offices. He was counting upon the royalties from this premium when word came from a steamship at sea that his customer had won a bet, but in so doing had been so inconsiderate as to lose his life. In the course of an evening's frivolity in a stateroom a member of the promoter's party had wagered that he, the promoter, could not climb out a porthole and climb back in again. The insured had the bet half won, which is to say that he had climbed out through the porthole, when he found that he could not win the other half. He hung there a while, but gave up and dropped into the Atlantic Ocean.

Mr. Richards described the existence of a high ranking tennis amateur as a life of moochery, cadgery and genteel bummery, and he said it had given him much satisfaction to acept Mr. Pyle's sordid shilling, which amounted, as I recall, to a cash guarantee of $25,000, to become a pro.

Could Offer Only $15,000.

Mr. Pyle said, incidentally, that he had failed in his effort to enlist one of the inveterate professional amateurs of the distaff side of the game for Suzanne Lenglen's supporting cast because he was able to offer the lady only $15,000 as a cash guarantee. The lady explained to Mr. Pyle that she had been able to live at a rate commensurate with an income of $15,000 a year for several years, and could continue to live at the same rate, if not a little bit more comfortably, for several years to come, as an amateur. Mr. Pyle, who is very glib at figures, thus figured that the lady's registration card as an amateur in tennis was equivalent to the income from a trust fund of $250,000 at 6 per cent. He readily recognized that she was an amateur who would lose money if she were to turn pro.

I have followed the bickering in many a dispute between the tennis promoters and various troublesome professionals of the amateur club, but I have never known of a case in which any association professionalized and barred any player who was still able to draw appreciable numbers of customers at the gates. Therefore, if Vines should be ruled out, I will take that to mean that, in the expert opinion of the tennis association, he has passed his prime and is about to lose his customer-appeal.

A Pensions Nuisance.

The professional amateur of tennis for years has been a pernicious nuisance to two reasonably respectable but curiously defenseless established lines of work, the insurance trade and the writing profession. People regularly engaged in the insurance business have been forced to endure the competition of amateur athletic celebrity of various kinds, particularly tennis players, who were hit-and-run operators preying on a crowded line of business for a living which their own line of work did not have the honesty to provide them in return for their services. The writing profession was similarly afflicted.

It was always argued, of course, that the writing player was really a splendid writer and would have been quite as successful in print if he, or she, had never been mentioned in connection with the tennis business. William T. Tilden was one of the most prolific of these essayists when he was an amateur. He had a natural talent for writing. I have seen very little of Mr. Tilden's literature since he turned professional and dropped out of the news.

Miss Round defeated Freda James. 6—4, 4—6, 6—4. Miss Heely easily disposed of Elizabeth Deike, of Los Angeles, 6—1, 6—3.

District to Furlough More Unless Gas Tax Is Released for Roads.

Indefinite furlough of 110 employes in the District Highway Department, effective next Tuesday, and the probability that an equal number will be furloughed later because of the failure of Budget Director Lewis to release the $1,500,000 gasoline tax fund appropriation was announced yesterday.

Simultaneously, it was revealed that the Bureau of Public Roads and the Public Works Administration had approved the second group of highway projects to be financed by the District's allocation of $1,918,400 from the highway section of the public works fund.

The projects are:

New asphalt surface on Wisconsin avenue from Massachusetts avenue to River road, $40,000.

Most of the employes involved in the furlough already are laborers, mechanics and truck drivers. Between 50 and 60 engineers will be involved in the second furlough, however.

These men will be reemployed, however, if the budget director releases the $1,500,000 appropriation, of which a substantial share would be devoted to highway maintenance. The District's regular appropriation for this work was cut considerably this year with the understanding that part of the gas tax fund would be used.

Men in Navy Yard Cheered on Wages

President's View That Cut Is Temporary Makes 3,300 Hopeful.

Some 3,300 employes of the Navy Yard here were cheered yesterday by word from Hyde Park that the President regards the Navy Department's 5-day week order as temporary and subject to adjustment following study.

The order cost Navy Yard employes not only in Washington but throughout the country eight hours pay in return for a 4-hour reduction in the working week.

A petition to the President was drafted early this week at a mass meeting of Federal workers, pointing out the inconsistency of the Government's stand for higher wages in private industry, while the salaries of its own workers are being curtailed.

Labor officials hope for an adjustment from the White House at least by next month.

Needy to Be Fed Test Farm Fruit

All Charity Institutions Will Share in Crop at Arlington.

Crabapples from the Government's experimental trees will be eaten by the needy of Washington this winter in the form of jelly.

Thirty-two bushels from the Arlington Experimetnal Farm were presented yesterday by Superintendent E. C. Butterfield to the canning centers maintained by the Council of Social Agencies, the Playground Department and the Community Center Department. It will be preserved by the Deanwood, Eliot, Gordon and Bell Junior High School Canning Centers.

Man Loses 3 Fingers In Auto-Truck Crash

An automobile collision at Fourteenth and E streets northwest yesterday resulted in the loss of three fingers by James McCuen, 42, 3700 Massachusetts avenue.

McCuen's fingers were mashed under the door of his truck when it turned over after colliding with another car. McCuen was taken to Emergency Hospital where the fingers were amputated.

Raiders Seize 7, Pursue 14 In Dry Bureau Swan Song

Trachtenberg, Accused as Alcohol Ring "Brains," Is First in Net.

A city-wide drive against illicit alcohol traffic in the Capital was the Prohibition Bureau's swansong here yesterday.

Seven men were arrested and 14 more sought as dry agents capped an eight months' investigation here on the eve of the Prohibtion Bureau's being taken under the wing of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation by Presidential edict. They were charged with conspiracy to violate the National prohibition law.

Aaron Trachtenberg, 30, alleged to be the "brains" of a ring furnishing the Capital's major alcohol contraband, was the first man arrested. Arraigned before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, he was released in $5,000 bond, pending grand jury action.

Six others were arraigned before Commissioner Turnage in rapid succession and released in bonds ranging from $2,000 to $5,000. Dry forces expected to round up the remainder of those sought some time today.

Others arrested, arraigned and released in bond were Meyer Belasco, 250 Eleventh street northeast; Romulo Gentilucci, 25, of 73 K street northwest; George Jones, 27, of 700 Third street northwest; Charles Jones, 30, of 700 Third street northwest; Joe Munitz, 24, of 306 Four and One-Half street southwest, and William J. Quirk, 25, of 431 Eleventh street northeast.

Walter H. Schultz, a Federal dry agent, superintended the inquiry. Stationed at Philadelphia, he had been assigned to the case because his identity was not known at first to bootleggers here.

Information against purported members of the ring was filed by Schultz and his aids early yesterday afternoon with Commissioner Turnage. The warrants were immediately issued.

Besides those arrested, others named in warrants are:

Trachtenberg has served a term in Lorton Reformatory in connection with the theft of an automobile and has been arrested in several criminal investigations. He was one of the prisoners for whose special privileges at Lorton, A. C. Tawse, erstwhile superintendent at the institution, came under considerable censure several months ago.

All those arrested and sought are alleged to have engaged either in the sale, hauling or handling of illicit alcohol in quantities ranging from 5 to 100 gallons.

Milk Marketing Pact Approval To Be Opposed

Independents Say Agreement Would Force Them From Competition.

A fight against approval of a milk-marketing agreement for the District is being planned by independent distributors, who claim the proposed agreement, if approved, will force them from competition with National Dairy Products Corporation affiliates.

The agreement, drafted by a committee of distributors, would fix the retail price of milk at its present figure of 13 cents a quart and would increase the retail price of pints from 7 cents to 8 cents.

Under the proposed agreement the wholesale price of bottled milk to stores would be increased from 11 cents to 12 cents, an increase of 1 cent in favor of the distributor. The phase of the agreement dealing with cream prices has not been completed. It is reliably reported that cream prices will be reduced, if the agreement is approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The contract has not been submitted to the Adjustment Administration.

The Senate subcommittee which will conduct hearings on District milk prices will meet today with Elwood H. Seal, special counsel to the committee.

Zimmerman, Losing Habeas Plea, to Appeal

Technicality May Delay Extradition of Alleged Gangster.

Although Frank Zimmerman, wanted in a gangster foray, was denied a writ of habeas corpus in District Supreme Court yesterday, Illinois authorities who want him to stand trial for a $52,000 bank robbery left Washington without him.

Justice Joseph W. Cox denied the writ, but Zimmerman succeeded in thwarting his extradition when his attorney indicated that they would appeal from the ruling.

Appellate Court in Recess.

Apparently Zimmerman will fight his removal to Illinois to the last ditch. His appeal on the writ ruling of yesterday will probably not be heard until October as the District Court of Appeals is recessed.

Following the hearing Zimmerman was returned to the jail, where he will await the appeal. At his hearing at Police Court last week the alleged gangster, who has been heavily guarded since his arrest by Washington detectives, had his bond set at $50,000. He has made no attempt to make bond.

Technicality Is Enlisted.

The man's attorneys, E. Russell Kelly and Charles Ford, resorted to a technicality in the extradition papers to defeat his return. They contended the copy of his indictment failed to show that it was returned in open court.

Justice Cox ruled otherwise, siding with Assistant United States Attorney Charles Murray. However, the appeal holds up a final disposition until it is heard.

Gold Star Awarded Admiral Woodward

Honor Is Given in Lieu of Second Medal for His Nicaraguan Work.

On behalf of the President, Secretary of the Navy Swanson yesterday presented a gold star, in lieu of a second Distinguished Service Medal, to Rear Admiral Clark Howell Woodward, U. S. N. "for exceptionally distinguished and meritorious service rendered the Government in supervising the National Nicaraguan elections in 1932." Admiral Woodward served as chairman of the United States Electoral Mission to Nicaragua, with the diplomatic rank of Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary. At the present time he is a member of the General Board of the Navy.

Rear Admiral Woodward received his first Distinguished Service Medal in November, 1927, "for meritorious service as Commander of the Naval Forces on shore in Western Nicaragua at the time of insurrection." Woodward succeeded in having the rebels disarmed.

The President of Nicaragua also awarded to the Admiral the Nicaraguan Medal of Merit for his service in "reestablishing order and conducting an election."

In April, 1928, Admiral Woodward was attached to the office of the Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, and was on duty there until June, 1931, when he was sent to command Cruiser Division Three of the Scouting Force. He later assumed command of the Special Service Squadron, reporting for duty here with the general board last June.

To his daughter, Margaret Raub Fox, he willed bank stock, furniture, life insurance and four pieces of real estate. His son, Edward K. Fox, is to have the remainder of the estate, in trust.

Trying to look pleasant for a photographer outside the Folger Shakespearian Library cost Mary Jane Lowenstein, of Houston, Tex., a $500 wrist watch, she complained to police last night.

Miss Lowenstein said she posed at the library for her picture. She put her wrist watch, mounted with 32 diamonds and wrapped in her handkerchief, on a bench. When she looked for her watch it was gone. Police questioned Alex S. Greenberg, a photographer, and released him.

French War Veterans Repay American Visit

The French repay a six-year debt, sending a group of war veterans, all with decorations and wound stripes, to Washington to reciprocate the American Legion's visit to Paris in 1927. In front, left to right, the Very Rev. Canon A. Louviere, from Brittany; Mlle. LeLaidier, war nurse; Darrell Preston Aub, who assisted in arranging the trip; Gen. French Group Of Veterans In Washington

The Mlles. Mourgues, three sisters who nursed French soldiers during the World War, who are visiting Washington for the first time, think they're going to like it.

They arrived last night, accompanied by 90 French war veterans and a few wives and fewer children. The delegation, members of the Association des Mutiles et Anciens Combattants, will see the sights and be entertained here today and tomorrow morning.

The group is led by R. E. Rufenacht, president of A. M. A. C., and Gen. Jean Berard.

Reciprocity Trip.

The trip was undertaken to reciprocate the American Legion's jamboree in Paris in 1927.

One of two priests in the group, the Very Rev. Canon A. Louviere, came on to Washington. He served as an interpreter in Belgium and did liaison work in the front lines. He was wounded in action and holds a decoration from Britain.

Another member of the party is Mlle. Le Laidier, who was many times decorated for heroism during four years of nursing at the front.

"New York is very beeg," she said. "I shall like Washington very much."

Reception Today.

This morning the veterans will place a wreath on the Unknown Soldier's Tomb in Arlington Cemetery. The French Embassy will give a reception in the afternoon.

They will visit Mount Vernon tomorrow morning. Then the delegation will split up, some returning to New York to sail this week-end and others going to Chicago and other Midwest cities.

Shooting Report Bares Large Whisky Cache

The police found no one at the scene but they did find 15 gallons of alcohol and synthetic whisky and eight quarts of Bacardi rum, which they confiscated.

Boy, 11, Asserts Three in Auto Kidnaped Him

Escaped in Alexandria, Capital Lad Says; Story Unshaken.

Police yesterday were investigating the story of Douglas Hill, 11, 1401 East Capitol street, that two men and a woman attempted to kidnap him in front of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Forced into a car with Wisconsin license plates, he was taken to Alexandria by the group and escaped when the two men went into a drug store to telephone, the boy told Inspector Frank S. W. Burke.

Not crediting Douglas' story at first, Inspector Burke later attached more significance to it after the boy had told substantially the same story to the family priest, the Rev. James E. Connell, pastor of Holy Comforter Church.

A lookout was sent to all neighboring States for the car, described by the boy as an old sedan.

Three Groups Act in Favor Of Home Bonds

Prudential, Realty Finance, Mortgage Companies Announce Policies.

Action in favor of the bonds of the Home Owners Loan Corporation was announced yesterday by three organizations, the Prudential Insurance Co., and the Real Estate Finance Corporation and the National Mortgage & Investment Corporation, of this city.

Edward D. Duffield, president of Prudential, announced "the Prudential will sympathetically consider each case presented to it."

"It is our intention," said Mr. Duffield, "to analyze each case carefully with a view to exercising such discretion as will do justice to either borrower or policyholder."

The Real Estate Finance Corporation notified the District Home Owners Loan Corporation office it would accept the bonds in exchange for both first and second trusts when dire distress was evident.

The National Mortgage & Investment Corporation asked that each case of distress be submitted. Indications were given that the bonds will be accepted in such cases.

It was made clear by all three companies that no blanket agreement is being laid down and that each case will be judged on its merits.

75,000 Watch Legion Parade To Convention

Senator McCarran Says He Will Lead Battle for Veterans Again.

District posts of the American Legion opened their fifteenth annual convention last night with a parade that attracted 75,000 spectators.

The crowd extended from Tenth and K to Fourteenth to Clifton streets northwest. Brass helmets gleamed. Bugles pealed. Drums gave a stirring cadence to the march. Flags and banners flew above the marching units.

The parade disbanded at Central High School, scene of the convention, which will continue tonight and tomorrow.

Senator Announces Fight.

Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, principal speaker, served notice he would again lead the fight on behalf of veterans at the next Congress.

"Men are being turned out of hospitals when they shouldn't be," he said. "Those who deserve hospitalization should have it. When you boys came back from the war you were heroes. You had brought peace back to the world. If, at that time, a United States senator had stood on the floor of the Senate and declared sick and afflicted veterans should be turned from their beds in hospitals, he would have been hung in effigy."

Establishment of national headquarters of the American Legion in Washington was urged by Col. T. Miller Kenyon, commander of the District chapter of the Military Order of the World War. This proposal is expected to become a live issue in the convention.

Winners of Contests.

A bugle contest for the Holton-Arms trophy, held in the school stadium, was won by R. [illegible] Viancone, of the Costello Post, with a score of 89 points.
